Australian Troops Now Face Japs Seeking To Move On Singapore

JAPS PAY DEARLY IN NEW ATTACKS

Tide Of Battle Is Turned At Least Temporarily In Malaya Campaign

By S. A. WYKES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SINGAPORE, Jan. 16.—Hard-bitten Australian fighters, held in reserve until the crucial moment, turned the tide at least temporarily in the battle for Singapore today.

Under personal command of General Henry Gordon Bennett, whom the Japanese claimed to have killed a few days ago, Australian land troops in collaboration with units of the Royal Air forces scored a number of tactical victories which brought a surge of cheer to Singapore.

Jap barges were bombed and sunk off the Malayan coast, and on land the Australians treated the enemy to a string of setbacks.

One thing the government asks us to do in this emergency is to make sparing use of the telephone. Apparently, however some people do not want to cooperate along this line. They get on the telephone and gossip by the hour, and at the end of that time have said nothing. If some emergency should arise, no one would know about it, because of these gossips.

While it may still be mid-winter, many persons are already giving attention to plans for gardening in the spring and summer. More gardens than ever will be urged in every part of the nation, as a war defense effort, and this locality, blessed with fertile soil and fine growing conditions will join the effort 100 per cent if it can be said.

Charges Japanese Looting And Pillaging Territory Occupied

By JOHN HENRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Charging the enemy with "systematically looting and devastating the entire country side," Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported to the war department today that the Japanese are now employing crack shock troops and dive bombers in an effort to wipe out the American-Philippine forces which he commands.

In a communique describing Nippon's offensive in the Bataan region, the department said that ground fighting continues all along the front line, but in addition attack planes and dive bombers are being used to blast American-Filipino artillery positions and troops.

The Japs, meanwhile, continued efforts to infiltrate General MacArthur's lines.

Shock Troops Used

Shock troops especially trained for these operations are being used, the war department disclosed.

Text of the communique follows: "Philippine theater: Ground fighting of varying intensity continues all along the front line.

Australian Forces Hold Most Advanced Positions In Johore

By HENRY W. KEYS
(International News Service Special Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE ON THE NORTHERN FRONT IN MALAYA, Jan. 16—Australian forces now are holding the most forward positions in the State of Johore, where they are awaiting the arrival of the Japs.

This correspondent has just completed a survey trip along these new Australian battle lines.

For a long time these Australian fighting men have been preparing to meet the Japs.

And, as Major General Gordon Bennett, the Australian Commander, declared, high hopes are held that they will meet with success.

As a result of the delaying operations of the British and Indian

SELISHAROVO IS RETAKEN BY REDS

Soviet Troops Pursuing Germans On Kalinin Front Says Red Report

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—Death of another 14,00 Nazis on the central (Moscow) front was claimed in Moscow today as the Soviet high command announced recapture fo Selisharovo, 55 miles northwest of Rzhev and 90 miles west of Kalinin.

In addition, a supplementary bulletin stated, Soviet troops recaptured nine other inhabited localities on the western front last night.

The Russian radio said the 14,000 Germans, including an unidentified general, were killed on the central front between January 6 and 15.

Pursuing Germans

Latest front line advices said Soviet forces on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow were pursuing the Germans, who were trying desperately to stem the Red Army advance. The Nazis were declared to have mined defensive positions from which they withdrew.

The 37th and 58th German infantry regiments were reported to have sustained heavy casualties, losing two battalions each.

Russian troops on the northern Leningrad front pierced German defenses on the western bank of the Volkhov river, recaptured a village,

Restrictions Are Placed On Radio

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—The office of censorship today issued a code of wartime practices for radio broadcasters which was drafted by Director Byron Price and Assistant Director J. H. Ryan after conferences with the radio industry.

The government asked that some classes of information which might aid the enemy be withheld and that broadcasters exercise careful control over certain types of programs which are "potential espionage tools for the enemy."

American Military Strength Is Steadily Increasing Washington Reveals

By JOHN HENRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Smashed back in every attack against North Bataan, Japan is undertaking a campaign to "soften up" Philippine defense forces, Washington military observers believe today, before turning on the full might of a frontal offensive designed to crush Gen. MacArthur's troops.

While America's military arm gained ever-increasing strength at home and the navy chalked up new successes in the Pacific theater, MacArthur's army continued to hold the Stars and Stripes aloft over the Philippines.

Resume Air Attacks

The war department disclosed that Nipponese invaders have resumed air attacks upon Manila bay fortifications, maintained aggressive ground operations, and, more significantly to military experts, have launched a move to infiltrate the lines of defenders.

Observers asserted that, while an "all-out" Japanese attack can be expected at any time along the

Jap Military Base Menaced

Chinese Army Within Ten Miles Of Yochow Is Report

By C. E. GRAHAM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHUNGKING, Jan. 16—The Japanese military base at Yochow was menaced by Chinese forces today as Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's armies approached within 10 miles of the city.

Pursuing the remnant of the Japanese force which was nearly wiped out at the battle of Changsha, the Chinese troops were said to have taken 1,300 more prisoners, and destroyed 90 trucks.

A Chinese military spokesman had earlier estimated that of 70,000 Japanese who fought their way to Changsha's outskirts before being routed, 58,000 were killed and wounded and 2,000 taken prisoner.

NAVY GETS REPORT OF SECOND ATTACK

Details Of Second Encounter With Submarine Are Not Yet Disclosed

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—The Navy today officially announced that a second allied merchant vessel has been attacked off Southampton, L. I., and that survivors are being brought into port.

A Navy spokesman said that they did not yet have details of the attack and were not sure that the ship had actually been sunk, but did have information that it was the victom of submarine action.

The name of the ship was not disclosed.

By HERBERT CARYL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 16.—The full ruthlessness of the enemy submarine attack on the Tanker Norness stood revealed in detail today as U. S. navy surface vessels and aircraft sought to hunt out and destroy the "U-boat" acknowledged to be prowling the New England-New York coastal waters.

Navy ears were glued to sound detectors and navy aviators strained their vision for some indication on the surface of the sea that would disclose the presence of the enemy submersible.

Survivors Machine-Gunned

As the navy went into action, members of the crew of the Norness were in full agreement that the submarine had attacked without warning. In addition, one member of the crew, Harry Torkvssen, ship's cook, said flatly that the sub's crew had machine-gunned them as they struggled on a life raft.

New Bomb Raids On German Ports

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Air Ministry announced today that a strong force of R. A. F. bombers attacked the German ports of Hamburg and Emden last night, starting large fires at both ports.

It was the second successive night assault on Hamburg and Emden, which have been targets of repeated R. A. F. assaults in the past.

The communique said other objectives in northwestern Germany also were bombed and that airdromes in the low countries likewise were attacked.

Six British planes were listed as missing.

District Colleges To Have Summer Sessions

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—Liberal arts colleges of Western Pennsylvania, meeting at Westminster college Thursday, pledged full cooperation among themselves as they launched on an education program calling for summer-sessions ranging from nine to twelve weeks and a stepping up of the educational tempo to enable graduation in three years instead of the customary four.

Represented at the special-called session of college presidents and deans were Allegheny, Thiel, Grove City, Geneva and Westminster, with a total enrollment of between 3,500 and 4,000 students. The administrative heads agreed in general that the new measures were "wartime emergency" in character and did not indicate a permanent departure from past educational setups.

Shorten Regular Term

Westminster is the only college that will be a newcomer in the summer-school field. Allegheny will continue its 12-week summer session; Thiel will probably expand from the present six-week session to a new 12-week period; Grove City will jump from a six-week school to a nine-week session; and Geneva will probably adopt the 12-week summer idea.

All of the colleges will shorten the present semester approximately two weeks in order to begin sum-

NAVY IS ACTIVE IN FAR EAST ZONE

Brings Total Of Ships Sunk By Navy Since Pearl Harbor Attack To 24

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The navy announced today that the Asiatic fleet has sunk two large Japanese cargo ships and three transports in Far Eastern waters.

It makes the largest single victory by American naval forces in the present Pacific conflict.

Reported sunk were two large cargo ships, two large transports and one medium size transport.

Brings Total To 24

The latest sinkings brought to 24, the total number of Japanese warships and auxiliary vessels sunk by naval units and Marine forces since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Earlier sinkings were credited mostly to submarines attached to the Asiatic fleet. The navy's announcement today, however, stated that the latest action was carried out by "units of the U. S. Asiatic fleet."

The sinkings announced by the navy today indicated that the United States Asiatic fleet is definitely active in the Pacific conflict.

ART CLUB PLANS FOR JOINT DINNER PARTY

Members of the Art club were pleasingly received in the home of Miss Adaline Marshall on Hazelcroft avenue Thursday evening and on this occasion it was planned to hold a joint dinner party at The Castleton on February 19, with members of the Lawrence County Art Association.

Their program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Harold McCulloch, who gave an interesting informal talk on "Mexico". Mrs. McCulloch told of the art and handicraft work carried on by the Mexicans, their people in general and the country, as she saw it on her trip. In addition, she illustrated with colored movies, and showed articles of pottery, hand-woven baskets and many other items.

A discussion ensued, and a social time brought the afternoon to a close.

HILLBORNS' ENTERTAIN FOR THE W. H. STEWARTS'

Mr. and Mrs. James Hillborn of 828 Morton street, entertained as their dinner guests, Private and Mrs. William Henry Stewart, he being home on a furlough from Camp Lee, Virginia.

Later in the evening, members of the Northwestern Bridge club accompanied by their husbands, joined the group at the Hillborn residence, where they were graciously received.

The time was spent most informally, and when the evening was at its height, a handsome personal gift was presented to Private Stewart, who will report back to active service at Camp Lee within a few days.

TRINITY CHURCH TEAS SERIES HELD THURSDAY

Having inaugurated the idea of holding a series of parties once a month, the evening groups being termed as "Fellowship Evenings" and the afternoon affairs as "Fellowship Teas" the Trinity Episcopal church ladies yesterday, have placed another feather in their caps.

Thursday afternoon, 12 homes were opened for members and guests of the church from 2 until 4 o'clock, who assembled for an informal social time with various avenues of diversion being provided. These 'get-acquainted' affairs have proven most enjoyable as well as successful. At the close of the entertainments carried out in the various homes Thursday, tea and refreshments were served by the hostesses in charge.

Those who entertained yesterday are: Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Jr., Mrs. Leslie Brindle, Miss Jennie Byers, Mrs. James Carson, Mrs. Thomas Clark, Mrs. Harry Culliford, Mrs. Graham Fowle, Mrs. Emrys Lewis, Mrs. Charles Lyle, Mrs. Keith McAfee, Mrs. John Norris and Mrs. S. D. Pearson.

In February a "Fellowship Evening" will be featured, the hostesses to be announced.

Eight O'Clock Club

Mrs. Blanche Lewis, Miss Erna Suhre and Mrs. Regina Suhre won top prizes for contests featured Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Helen McKinley of the Wampum road, who entertained the Eight O'clock club members. The traveling award went to Mrs. Aletha Baxter.

In serving a tasty collation at the close of play, the hostess aided by her small son Paul and Mrs. Inez Custer.

NURSES GIVE TEA FOR MISS JESSIE KILDOO

As a medium of honoring one of their supervisors and bidding her farewell, Miss Jessie Kildoo, a bride-elect who has been in charge of the second floor of the Jameson Memorial Hospital, was tendered a tea and shower, on a recent afternoon in the Nurses Home of the hospital.

Members of the graduates staff and students combined, numbering upwards of a hundred, assembled for the occasion, which was delightfully informal. The time was spent leisurely, and president of the student body, Miss Eleanor Book, presented Miss Kildoo with a beautiful shower gift in behalf of those surrounding her.

Tea and refreshments were served afterwards, from a table attractively arranged with spring flowers. Miss Book, Miss Helen Allen and Miss Marian Pattison, all students, poured.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Irene Casillo, Miss Jean DeGaormo, and supervisors of the hospital.

Miss Kildoo will be married on February 5 to Charles Knorr of Washington, D. C. Since the news of her engagement, a series of parties and shower have been given in her honor. Miss Kildoo has been affiliated with the Jameson Memorial Hospital for approximately six years as supervisor.

INDIANA ALUMNAE MEET ON THURSDAY EVENING

Members of the Indiana alumnae association were entertained on Thursday evening by Miss Jane Young, of East Washington street.

The program for the evening was musical. Mrs. Robert Fleming played several selections on the solovox.

Soloists Mrs. William Caldwell was accompanied for her numbers by Katherine Nessle Allen.

An informal discussion of plans for the year followed.

Later tea was served with Mrs. Elmer Menger pouring for the guests.

Miss Young was aided by a committee of the alumnae for the evening.

Next meeting is to be March 12.

St. Andrew's Knitting Unit of the American Red Cross was formed Thursday evening when members of St. Andrew's church Women's Guild met in the home of Mrs. Virginia Morrissey, Miller avenue Mrs. C. J. Burton, who led a discussion concerning the Red Cross, will be in charge of the unit which is to meet at homes of members.

The next meeting of the knitting unit will be held next Thursday at St. Andrew's rectory on Hamilton street.

Mrs. George Cartwright was presented with a nice gift from the group in honor of her birthday anniversary. Following, lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Ada Cole.

Next regular meeting will be held January 29 in the home of Mrs. J. C. Metrick, 722 Arlington avenue.

Willing Workers Class

Members of the Willing Workers Bible class, Central Presbyterian church, assembled in the home of Miss Lillian Donaldson, Wilmington road, Thursday evening, with the president, Mrs. S. A. White, in charge.

Miss Virginia Donaldson was a special guest.

Games and contests were enjoyed during a social period, after which lunch was served by the hostesses, Miss Donaldson, Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins and Mrs. Hazel Smith.

Next meeting will be Thursday, February 19.

BUCHANAN-HARRIS WEDDING IN CHURCH

Most impressive and marked by simplicity, was the wedding ceremony which took place in the parlors of Epworth Methodist church, Thursday evening, January 15, when Miss Katherine L. Buchanan, daughter of Mrs. Kate Buchanan of 802 Lathrop street, became the bride of Rupert W. Harris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert W. Harris, Sr., of Temple avenue.

The vows were exchanged in the presence of a throng of friends and relatives of the young couple, the bridal party standing before the beautifully embanked altar, a solid green background being formed with an artistic arrangement of ferns and palms. Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor, officiated with the single ring service.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Lawrence W. Buchanan, was attired in the traditional white satin, her gown being made entrain, with long sleeves and points overwrists, she wore a finger-tip veil caught in cap effect with seeds pearls, and carried an arm bouquet of white gardenias.

As her only attendant, Miss Vivian Woodworth made her appearance in an ice blue taffet toe length creation, with short sleeves. Her arm cluster was of coral picardy.

Floyd Campbell served as best man, and ushering were, Raymond Buchanan, brother of the bride and Robert Sweet.

For the occasion, Miss Lavina McConahy, organist, played a half hour program preceding the approach of the bride, and she resounded echoes of appropriate selections throughout and after the ceremony.

A congratulatory period was held in the church afterwards, and a reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, for fifty or more guests. Later in the evening, the couple departed on a few days wedding trip. They plan on taking up residence on Franklin Boulevard, Cleveland, O., where the bridegroom is employed in the shipyards. The bride has been affiliated in the tabulating offices of the Shenango Pottery of this city.

1926 Ki-Nu Club

Mrs. John M. Daly, Jr., of North Liberty street, entertained in her home Thursday evening, for members of the J. J. J. club membership.

Attention was given to card contests, awards going to Mrs. Joseph Todd and Mrs. Bradley McGonigle for honors. The galloper was carried off by Mrs. William J. Davis.

Lunch was served at the individual tables afterwards, and plans were made to meet Thursday, January 2 with Mrs. William J. Davis, Adams street.

Tommelleo-Tuscano

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tommelleo, of 406 West Cherry street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tuscano, of 9½ East Home street.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Amerita Club

Amerita club members gathered in the home of Mrs. Andrew George, of Sampson street, on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Anthony Villani and Mrs. Andrew Nocera were high score winners in cards. The club token was awarded to Mrs. Nicholas George.

The guests were invited in the dining room, where a tasty lunch was served later, Mrs. N. Altobelli and Mrs. Joseph Panella assisting the hostesses.

Members will observe their 12th anniversary party on January 29, with a dinner-theater party.

Y. O. B. Club.

Members of the Y. O. B. club meet Wednesday evening, for their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. William Merriman of Butler avenue.

Five hundred provided the main pastmie, high prizes going to Mrs Edward Pritchard and Mrs. John Coughlin. At a later hour, the group enjoyed a delicious repast served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Sarah.

In two weeks, Mrs. William Lawton will be hostess to the group in her home on Neshannock avenue.

Tru Blue Class.

Members of the True Blue class of the Third U. P. church will meet Monday evening in the home of Betty Sherwood, of Maryland avenue. Ida Alexander and Jean Allen are co-hostesses.

Eight Bells Club

Members of the Eight Belles club were entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Arthur Graham on Fairmont avenue, the time being devoted to card contests.

Mrs. William Ellis won the top prize and the "galloper" fell to Mrs. Harry Armstrong.

The serving of a tasty collation was a later pleasure, the hostess being aided by her sister, Mrs. Charles Starn of Orville, O., who with Mrs. Carl Williams shared as special guests. The latter won the visitors gift.

On January 2, the club will meet with Mrs. Edwin Cox on Albert street.

N. H. G. Club.

Mrs. Velma McMillen of Huron avenue was hostess to the N. H. G. club Thursday evening at her residence.

Contests of 500 were in progress, high score trophies going to Mrs. Marian Haley and Evelyn Cunningham, the latter also receiving the galloper.

Lunch was served later in the evening by the hostess.

Saturday

Daughters of 1812, Mrs. John B. Waddington, Albert street.

Castlette, Mrs. Effie Peluso, Elizabeth street.

S. E. Club

Bride held sway at the home of Mrs. Ruth Howard on Edgewood avenue, Thursday evening, who entertained as guests, the S. E. club membership, Mrs. Louise Hunter, Mrs. Mary Hanna and Mrs. Ruth Howard were winners of the top honor awards, while the traveling trophy fell to Mrs. A. Cannon.

Mrs. Mary Hanna was a special guest of the event.

After being served a delicious repast by the hostess, the group planned to meet Monday evening, January 26, with Mrs. Irene Fehrenbach, hostess.

M. and N. C. Club

The M. and N. C. club membership met with Mrs. Mary Matthews on West Clayton street Thursday afternoon, with cards as the diversion. Those winning prizes included Mrs. Hattie Nowling, Mrs. Carrie Calvert and Mrs. E. M. O'Donnell.

A social period ensued, and plans were made to meet again on January 29 with Mrs. Nowling of 415 Epworth street.

PAN-AMERICAN UNITY CONFERENCE

IT STANDS to reason that action by all the Latin-American states to break off relations with the Axis powers would be welcomed by the United States. By the same token Germany and its partners would be gratified if hemispheric "solidarity" fell short of such a measure.

We may look, consequently, for a major tug-of-war over this issue at the conference of foreign ministers—no matter how the polite usages of protocol may try to disguise it. The Nazis and their associates will do their utmost to create disunity at the parley, to throw the hearings into confusion and to keep their fingers in the South American pie through declarations by the larger states at least, of non-belligerency.

Fortunately, the United States has obtained a good head-start. It has plenty of real friends at the conference. Nine of the republics represented have already joined us in declaring war on the Axis. Three others have broken off relations and one of them, Mexico, is taking an active lead in inducing the remaining states to adopt the same course.

The problem child at Rio, as usual, is Argentina, and it is through this nation that the Axis will attempt to stir up disharmony, working upon the well-known unwillingness of the Argentinians to give even the appearance of being led. Because of its large colonies of Germans and Italians, because of its close cultural and economic ties with Europe and its traditional distrust of the United States, Argentina may be expected to balk at all-out collaboration with us.

But it must be remembered that Argentina went through similar motions of recalcitrance at previous Pan-American conferences and ended up at the showdown by signing on the dotted line. For that great country, with its exposed shore lines, to wrap itself up in a mantle of aloofness and isolation, instead of joining the rest of the Americas in common defense plans, is neither realistic nor sensible.

Axis agents will do their utmost by threats and promises to influence Argentinian neutrality, but it is still likely that a solid Pan-American front will emerge from the Rio meetings. The United States representative, Mr. Welles, knows his Latin-American onions. He may be relied upon to show the Buenos Aires delegation where Argentina's best interests lie.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER COMING

Approval having finally been given by Jesse Jones, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will finance a $400,000,000 program for construction of plants and organization of processes to produce approximately 400,000 tons annually of synthetic rubber, largely from oil.

This should have got under way before, but better now than never. Probably 18 months will be needed to get the factories built and the job moving. The per pound cost will be somewhat higher than for natural rubber, but if the butadiene product is turned out on the scale predicted it will, in time, go a long way toward solving a serious problem.

It is hardly possible to say that some particular individuals are responsible for our rubber problem as it stands. We could and should have had larger stock piles of such vital essentials, though some valuable advances were made in the last year in this direction. And it would have been infinitely better if a large-scale beginning on synthetic rubber production had been made months ago.

But it has been our way to discount many of the difficulties and dangers ahead of us; to put off all out disposition of them. Certainly from this time on every problem of this character must be met promptly and completely.

BEFORE AID COMES

Object of the Japanese invasion of the Dutch East Indies is, of course, to obtain the rich oil, rubber and tin resources of the Dutch possessions. If successful, Japan will have isolated Australia, isolated her both from Singapore and the main part of the Dutch East Indies. Occupation of New Guinea would complete Australia's encirclement.

While Japan's attack on the Dutch Indies is developing, a naval spokesman at Tokyo asserts that action against India would be needed to fulfill the principal aim of the Japanese high command. This is the first mention of India at Japanese imperial headquarters.

Japan has not been accustomed to announcing her plans in advance, and mention of India must therefore be regarded with some degree of skepticism. For what it is worth, it is said that armed action against India can be accomplished if sufficient protection is established against the India Ocean and India itself from the direction of Burma, thus making impossible an attempt of the Allies to mobilize new forces with the aid of Chungking.

Whether this represents an actual Japanese intention or not, operations in the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and Malaya show that Japan is attempting to achieve a maximum advance before General Wavell's supreme command can get going. Australia's extreme nervousness can now be seen to have been justified.

Australian Naval Minister Makin has announced that British and American reenforcements are en route to the Far East. To anticipate the arrival of such reenforcements Japan is now attempting to exploit Allied weakness.

That weakness will pass. If Singapore, Sumatra and Java can hold out until help comes, the Allied task in the Far East will be far less difficult than if Japan conquers that entire region and the Allies have to start from scratch to reconquer it.

Since the corporal fired the generals and took over, Hitler's retreat from Moscow parallels Napoleon's even more closely.

Both airplane and submarine were invented in the United States, and for all around diabolical deviltry they equal each other.

Now that winter has come and gone—at least temporarily—this would seem to be the traditional time for beginning perusal of the seed catalogs.

With the Russians piling up the Germans like so much cordwood, a similar performance by Wavell's forces against the Japs should make it possible to foresee the end of the war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EDUCATION FOR PARENTS

From the angle of parent education, adult classes are indispensable to a good Sunday school. It seems to me that children are really not the most important members of a Sunday school anyway. The parents are, particularly the parents of young children.

Even in the best Sunday school, young children cannot get much real religious training. Whether parents know it or not, the child's religious attitudes, whatever they may be, are for the most part acquired at home.

Parents concerned about religious nurture of their children can, of course, go to church on Sunday to get their own spiritual batteries charged for the week. Assuming that these batteries don't run down, by having lights on too much or by too frequent starting trouble on cold mornings, there remains the problem for the parents to get their children to ride with them.

Although up to date not much has been given in church sermons to help parents in the happy guidance of their children, and very little even in adult classes of the Sunday school, there are scattered signs of a beginning in that direction.

Parent Education

Sunday school offers a rare opportunity for parent education of a most practical sort. Certainly the motive should be there, in both the parent and the pastor; in the parent to become a better parent, and in the pastor to help parishioners prepare themselves to win their children to church membership. Curiously enough, the average preacher seems to have overlooked the promise in parent education for building of a stronger church.

The Parent-Teacher association, whose membership is pretty generally composed of church members, has been leading off in parent education. Here and there one finds live mothers' clubs in churches, also classes for young fathers and mothers in Sunday schools.

Influence on Children

No matter how regularly parents go to church or how demonstrative their religion is at home, their children will want to emulate them in religion only in pro-portion as they esteem their parents. In addition to being good and religious, as traditionally understood, parents need to be able to live daily with their children, and to guide them with the last possible annoyance to either parents or children, and with the greatest possible family enjoyment by all.

In the future, parents concerned about the religious education of their children will not send their children to Sunday school, but go to Sunday school with them. They will learn there how to be better parents; how to make good religion work at home.

A list of books on understanding and guiding children may be had by writing me at 235 E. 45th St., N. Y. City, enclosing self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think we parents can help a very timid or lonely child or youth to gain more social courage by talking about his timidity or loneliness?

A. Rarely: a better way is to work on the child to help him without his knowing it.

What Noted People Say

NEW YORK — Walter Fuller, past president of the National Association of Manufacturers praises appointment of Donald M. Nelson as war production chief: "By this wise courageous delegation of power, the president assured the entire nation of fulfillment of our common aim—to massacre the Axis by mass production."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Navy Knox is suspicious of stories from Germany telling of serious unrest: "A crimp has been put in the machine but it is not ready to fall apart."

CAMBRIDGE — President Conant of Harvard University: "It is unfortunately true that the college community is largely drawn from the more prosperous upper third of the nation."

WASHINGTON — Donald M. Nelson, war production chief: "We have just one job to do—to make enough material to lick Hitler and the Japs and to do it in the shortest time possible."

Just Folks

FATHER'S DREAM

What does the father ask?
What is his chief desire?
What for his hevay task?
Shelter and food and fire.
That and that something more:
Little ones warmly clad,
Books and the college door
Swung for each growing lad.

What is each father's dream?
Clothes for his son to wear,
Stout both of cloth and seam.
Ribbons for daughter's hair.
Pride as to school they go,
Laughter and dance and song,
And, what is best to know,
Proof they are well and strong.

Here are a father's hopes,
As with his task he gropes:
Shelter and food and fire
And for his children small
Better than he has known,
Church, school and college hall
Earned by himself alone.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:59. Sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

Mrs. Roosevelt is sorry she can't be in two places at once. But she's gaining, and may make it some day.

Anyhow, it will take a law to make men wear less clothing.

Minneapolis man swallows a button by mistake and is glad it wasn't a zipper.

A small girl asked her mother: "If I grow up and get married, will I have a husband like papa?"

"Yes, my dear," replied the mother.

"And if I do not get married, will I be an old maid like Aunt Susan?"

"Yes," was the reply.

The little girl thought for a minute. "Well, I am in a fix!"

Every pedestrian, like every motorist, has a traffic problem.

The seed catalogues are coming in and you are looking them over. Before you buy from out-of-town nurserymen, consult local nursery men and you are sure to get what you want. You will find their ads in The News.

A man would rather his wife would make over him than to make him over.

Pedestrians are divided into two classes—the quick and the dead.

Words are nothing. It's only deeds that count.

When you say all people are fools you are correct, if you include yourself.

A local man is in bad again. When his wife thinks he has been drinking, she makes him say: "Flesh of freshly fried flying fish." If he gets those words tangled up, to the doghouse he goes.

People have quit saying "gesundheit" when they hear people sneeze now.

Prisoner in cell (throwing down magazine)—Darn it, nothing but continued stories and I'm to be hung next week.

We joke about the henpecked, yet nearly all men are contented or even happy after they quit struggling.

We notice some people calling others sort of a high-toned liar. The old-fashioned way to call a man a liar is still the best. You know.

There is a scarcity of gin now. It takes too much alcohol. So that's what's in it.

Employee (to Boss)—"Sir, I'd like to have a raise in salary."

Employer (angrily)—"Give me two good reasons for a raise in your salary."

Employee (meekly)—"Twins, sir."

It looks as if the rubber situation cannot be stretched very much.

"Three dudes were walking along the street one morning," the story goes, "and met an aged minister, with long white hair and beard. The first called out, 'Hello, Father Abraham.' The second said, 'Hello, Father Isaac.' And the third chimed in, 'Hello Father Jacob.' The minister, seeing the situation, and likewise using scripture, quietly replied, 'I am neither Abraham, nor Isaac, nor Jacob, but Saul the son of Kish, who went forth to hunt his father's asses. And behold I have found them'."

The Red Cross is a great humane organization. No greater has ever existed. Funds are now being raised to carry on the work of probably the greatest war ever known. When you contribute you are not only helping your country but those who are fighting to defend it. Be sure and give all you can.

Chemists now admit they have no idea why rubber bounces. People wouldn't think much of it if it didn't.

IDLENESS

"I have just been graduated from college. Everyone is asking me what I am going to do, my reply being that I am going to stay home, since my father is 'well off' and can give me an allowance more than I can earn in a week. Don't you think I would be foolish to work when I don't have to do so?"—Lorraine.

Answer: Today, more than ever before, there is a desperate need for workers of all classes and qualifications. So, I do think you would be both foolish and lazy to remain idle at this time. If you are not interested in making money, join the Civilian Defense organization or the Red Cross, to either of such worthy causes you should be more than glad to devote your time and energy without financial recompense. I know girls who work in offices all day and devote four or five hours of their leisure time learning first aid treatment, fire fighting, how to be air wardens and the multiple other duties in the home defense network.

Even millionaire society girls long ago learned the detrimental effect of idleness. Many of them have opened hat and gown shops, become reporters, editors, social workers because neurologists everywhere are preaching against the morbid results of idleness and life that finds no activity beyond pleasure-seeking. Why should you, a healthy, educated young women, remain idle in these perilous days when your country needs your services so much?

Question: When the church has two main aisles, which should be used by the wedding party?—Amy.

Answer: You may disregard one of the aisles and use the other for both processional and the recessional, seating the guests as usual (the bride's friends and relatives on the left side; the bridegroom's on the right). You may instead, if you prefer, use the right aisle for the processional and the left one for the recessional. Only one aisle is customarily used, if the wedding is a small one. But if the wedding is large, both aisles are then usually in use. But if the latter case, the bride's parents should occupy the right side of the first middle pew and the groom's parents the left side of the same pew.

Tomorrow—Busybodies.

HANDSOME IS AS HANDSOME DOES

"Whenever my wife needs money she calls me handsome."

"Handsome?"

"Yeah! Hand some over."

What kind of a store is that fellow at Tick Ridge runing?" asked a motorist.

"Well, he has Ford parts for sale," replied the attendant in the filling station at Ten Degrees, "buys butter, eggs and poultry, deals in real estate, paints houses, marries folks as justice of the peace, runs the post office, sells stamps, hams, molasses, and so forth, and takes boarders upstairs. I reckon you'd call it a drug store."

Many people will find out for the first time this year what income taxes are. Many have known it for years and they even will get a shock this year.

If you give a 10-year-old child a thousand dollar defense bond now, in ten years from now that child will appreciate it when it will probably will need it very much.

Man (to barber)—"Don't cut my hair too short—people will take me for my wife."

The boss recently received a letter from one of his clerks who was on a wedding trip: "I am sitting by the Niagara Falls drinking it all in."

A tramp accosted a gentleman in the street and asked him for the price of a night's lodging. The gentleman had no small change, but told the tramp he would be along there again in a few minutes after he had made a few purchases and would have some change.

"Very good of you, indeed," remarked the tramp; "but, sir, you have no idea how much money I lose by giving credit."

We have never yet found the head of a family of five telling how little a family of five can live on.

A wealthy client insured her valuable wararobe while traveling in Europe. Upon reaching London she found an article missing and immediately cabled her broker in New York. "Gown lifted in London." Her broker replied, after due deliberation, "What do you think our policy covers?"

It's beginning to look as if Hitler is going to have trouble with his own people. Well, they know him best and know why they should bump him.

After you have all the pins out of the new shirt, the best thought is that there is another in it somewhere.

If he holds forth in a know-it-all tone, and resents interruptions, his family consists of adoring females.

Dora—She says here face is her fortune.

A HOTEL STORY

Hotel Manager: "Shall I tell the porter to call you at seven every morning, sir?"

Guest: "No, I always wake at seven."

Hotel Manager: "Then would you mind calling the porter?"

During the first world war committees were organized to sell Liberty Bonds and they were sold. Just talking about selling them will not bring the results like going after people and making them buy them.

"You might stay at home a little bit more," complained a wife to her husband. "You are everlastingly playing golf."

"I know, my dear," replied hubby, "but you know the doctor told me to live on greens as much as possible.

What's What At A Glance

Washington Studying World Chessboard
Takes Time Out From Many Other Duties
Italians And Japanese Held Mere Pawns

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt's reference, in his recent speech to congress concerning the state of the nation, to Herr Hitler's Italian and Japanese "chessmen" is the subject of considerable controversy among the lawmakers who heard it. It's a purely academic argument, with nothing acrimonious about it, but there certainly are two differing schools of thought as to the accuracy of the presidential description of the Japs; all agree that the White House tenant classified Benito Mussolini correctly.

There are critics, to be sure, who maintain that F. D. might profitably have been more specific, by calling Bennie a mere pawn rather than, in a general way, a chessman, for kings, queens, bishops and knights also figure in chess games, and it's the concensus that the duce belong in none of these categories. However, the term chessman isn't regarded as having been inexact, but a trifle too loose, only.

A good many commentators don't believe, though, that Adolf moves the Japs around the board entirely at his own discretion. They think the islands are playing their own game in their own fashion and that they jumped into it of their own volition. It's recognized that, of course, the Fuehrer wanted them to do so, but the theory is that he provided them with what they regarded as their opportunity to utilize him as their chessman as much as he may count on them as his. Furthermore, if he is, in a sense, their chessman, he's enough sight a more formidable piece than Benito is for Adolf's benefit.

No Defense For Japan

Reasoners to this effect are far from intending to express themselves in defense of the Japs.

They hate 'em worse than they hate Benito.

In fact, Benito isn't particularly hated any longer. He's despised. He's even mentioned as rather pitiable. Yeah, he's a chessman, but, as such, he's hardly an asset to the Fuehrer who manipulates him. Indeed, he probably is a liability.

The Japs are dangerous, or, at least, they're a serious nuisance.

They're more like knights than anything else, in chess-playing language. Not that there's anything knightly about them, on the medieval supposition that a knight was a fine, honorable, trustworthy critter. A chess board knight, though, hops around, from square to square, in an accentric series of moves that make him exceedingly difficult to reckon with.

It's interesting to note that some few members of the British house of commons are worried lest the war end up with a democratic victory, it's true, but a victory that'll prove to have transformed John Bull into a chessman for Uncle Samuel.

London parliamentarians like Richard R. Stokes, Edgar L. Granville and Sir Archibald Southby, a laborite, a liberal and a conservative, discussing the matter the other day in speeches before the lower branch of England's legislature, did not employ the expression chessman, but they did suggest the possibility, suspected by them, that their island will find itself, at the conflict's end, just an eastern outpost of the United States—nominally still an independent sovereignty, but really run from this side of the Atlantic.

It Could Be Funny

Various congressmen, in Washington, altogether unofficially remark that it would be funny if the United States, after having had to fight a Revolutionary war for its own independence from England, should emerge from today's struggle with the British clamoring for independence from US.

Congressional conversationalists who doubt that Japan's properly any sort of a chess piece for Herr Hitler, do add that we'll have to make Nippon a pawn in the American game, to prevent it from ever bouncing all over the board again in future—an involuntary pawn, of cousre, but one that'll move wherever we move it. Some say it ought to be China's pawn, though. Others predict that it'll be a pawn for Russia.

Whose pawn Italy's to be, upon the game's conclusion, after it's been taken away from Adolf, is a matter of speculation.

And whose pawn will Germany be?

There's a lot of sentiment to the purport that it'll behoove the democracies (and Russia) to split it up into a bunch of pewee little pawns—not even qualified, each, to merit consideration for a regulation pawnship apiece.

Anyway, President Roosevelt, with his message to congress, started plenty of Washington legislators upon an intensive study of chess-playing.

Bible Thought For Today

Do not mourn your past sins and errors, if you have truly turned from them and if God has forgiven them, then forget them yourself: I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions, for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins.—Isaiah 43:25.

Words Of Wisdom

Nothing, indeed, but the possession of some power can with any certainty discover what at the bottom is the true character of any man.—Burke.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE ARMY MULE.

The War Department has asked that every mule in America be registered for possible war service.

From the Missouri citadel of muledom to the stable outpuosts of Maine and California, many a hee-haw of mulish satisfaction must bray forth at that announcement. No matter how mechanized the Army becomes, no matter how preponderantly modern war becomes a sleek thing of movement on wheels, wars just can't be won without assistance from the cantankerous, rebellious, surly, stubborn, sour, unbeautiful mule.

Perhaps he knows it—the tough, tireless, defiant, rude, morose and unconquerable beast? The horse is a softly and sentimentalist; so is the dog. They have their places in war, too; but they fight as gentlemen.

When war waxes blistering and bloody and brutal for Uncle Sam, he reviews the past—and calls all mules!

All this makes me think of the story of an army mule. It seems that in the by-gones there was a Colonel of the U. S. A. who was in a great hurry to get from his hotel to the railroad station that he might catch a certain train. It all happened in a southern city.

On the pavement in front of his hotel he found an old Jehu,—a mule hitched to his cab, the mule bearing an army brand, showing that he had been in the United States service. The Colonel jumped into the cab and told the Negro to drive as fast as he could, but the mule just at that time developed a very mulish trick of refusing to move. The army man jumped out and into the seat alongside of the driver and said: "Give me the reins."

"Attention!" ordered the Colonel, "Forward—march! Charge!" At these orders, the mule went down the street to the railroad station like nobody's business.

Arriving at the station, the Colonel ordered: "Halt!", at which order the Negro was nearly thrown from his seat.

The Colonel paid his fare and made his train, saying to the Negro as he alighted from the cab:

"Now, Sambo, don't forget that this mule has seen service in the army and he will always respond to orders as you saw him respond today."

"Thank you, boss, "Ah'l remember."

The next time that Sambo had a passenger and the mule developed his balking propensities, he gave the proper orders and the mule responded, but when he arrived at the station, Sambo forgot the order to stop the mule and turning to his passenger, said:

"Boss, you done have to jump. Ah's forgot the word Ah's suppose to use to stop dis here 'ornery mule."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Writer

President Roosevelt got his war production chief from Sears Roebuck and Company in 1940 with a money-back guarantee.

Donald Nelson came out of the spring-summer catalogue with a 90 day warranty and proved to be more durable.

He is one of the three most noted Nelsons in history, the other two being Lord Nelson and Half Nelson.

Barney Baruch trained for war production in the first war with a career in financing. His successor has counted pins, wrapped tombstones and delivered violins, complete with instruction book.

He is one of the few men in America who could mail a tractor or a tea kettle out of stock on the requisition.

Mr. Nelson worked under the Blue Eagle before it laid an egg and he was filed away with a not reading "bring out this man again when we get through talking and start working."

If he can't deliver what we want he'll deliver something better for the same price.

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

A New York department store has just finished a survey of the things that are exchanged after Christmas.

Men, it appears, return loud-patterned neckties, handkerchiefs, brocaded bathrobes and pajamas. They exchange them for conservative stand-bys, such as white shirts, plain ties and slippers.

Women — particularly married women — bring back glamorous lingerie, gossamer stockings and costly perfume. Housecoats, night-gowns, plain slips and inexpensive hosiery are taken in exchange.

The reason? At Christmas time, says the store management, knighthood and romance have their fling.

But with the last carol sung and the last candle extinguished, life goes back into its rut.

Defense Works Speedup Plans Being Unfolded

State Secretary Of Commerce Mark James Will Talk With National Head

IDLE PLANTS WILL BE PUT TO WORK

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—Secretary of Commerce Mark S. James Thursday asked Donald M. Nelson, America's new "czar" of war production, for "eighteen minutes of your time" to explain a proposal to speed armament production.

James, head of the department seeking to organize Pennsylvania industry for defense production, telegraphed the new war production chief:

"We in Pennsylvania believe we have suggestions for defense and war production which will greatly accelerate output and at the same time eliminate vast amount of waste motion and social dislocation. May I have eighteen minutes of your time to lay this before you?"

Many Idle Plants

James pointed out that the state supplied defense authorities 15 months ago with detailed information on 370 Pennsylvania factory sites which could be utilized almost at once for defense production and Governor James more recently informed President Roosevelt that similar information regarding idle manufacturing facilities suitable for defense production could be supplied by the commerce department for any area in Pennsylvania "on ten minutes notice."

Earlier, the commerce secretary had suggested that the equipment and personnel of automobile agencies and garages throughout Pennsylvania be used for defense production through sub-contracts.

Let us be grateful for righteousness. It's the only thing a poor man can get that makes him feel superior.

Napoleon Is 'Out' In Nazi Classes

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The latest in Nazi educational methods is an order just issued in Holland, forbidding any reference to Napoleon, in the schoolroom, the British radio said today in a broadcast heard by NBC.

"German uneasiness over the situation in Russia is the cause of the order," said BBC. Apparently Hitler's similarity to the great French leader, once fascinating to the Reichsfuehrer, now has become too exact for his liking.

According to Freie Nederland, the Dutch newspaper published in London, "no reference must be made to the Napoleonic era, and in particular to the Russian campaign or his occupation of Holland," in Dutch history classes.

E. Lackawannock

BIRTHDAYS of FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

JANUARY 16

1815—Henry Wager Halleck, general-in-chief of the Union Armies, at Westernville, N. Y. On graduation from West Point he was assigned to the engineers. In the early part of the Civil War he was the commander in the West, and then Lincoln appointed him general-in-chief of the Armies in July, 1862. He was not successful as supreme commander, and Grant succeeded him.

1845—Charles Dwight Sigsbee, rear-admiral, U. S. Navy, at Albany, N. Y. He was a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, and served in both the Civil and Spanish-American Wars, receiving his commission as rear-admiral in 1903. He made a deep sea exploration of the Gulf of Mexico. He wrote "Deep Sea Sounding and Dredging" and "Personal Narrative of the Battleship Maine." He was in command of the "Maine" when she was destroyed by an explosion in Havana harbor.

1859—William Roscoe Thayer, writer, at Boston. He is best known for his works on Italian history, especially "The Dawn of Italian Independence," "A Short History of Venice" and "The Life and Times of Cavour."

Schools Give $2,000 To Fund

School System, Including Teachers And Pupils Makes Big Contribution

One of the largest contributions yet reported to the Red Cross War Relief was that turned in yesterday afternoon by the New Castle school system. Teachers and pupils in the New Castle schools gave $2,000 to the fund.

This fine gesture on the part of the teachers and pupils demonstrates the fact that no more patriotic group exists than those who have charge of the education of our future citizens.

GOWANDA CLUB HAS GATHERING THURSDAY

Gowanda Club members, were pleasingly entertained Thursday in the home of Mrs. Maude Montgomery on Garfield avenue, the occasion marking their regular bi-weekly social event.

The usual routine was observed, and knitting provided the main pastime. At a beautifully appointed table, the group was served a delicious repast by the hostess, the concluding feature. She was aided by her daughter, Mrs. Leon Drum.

Moonlight 500 Club

Members of the Moonlight 500 club met with Mrs. H. J. Reynolds on East Washington street Thursday evening for a social time, attention being given to card contests. Those winning prizes were Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. George Schlumberger and Mrs. Anna Marchette.

A special guest was Mrs. William Klingensmith.

After partaking of a tasty repast served by the hostess, they planned to meet again on January 29 with Mrs. George Schlumberger of Beckford street.

O. F. T. Club Meets

Mrs. George Tencer was hostess to members of the O. F. T. club Thursday evening in her home.

Two tables of 500 were in play, high score prizes going to Mrs. Thomas Palmer, Mrs. George Tencer and Mrs. I. L. Eardley.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, with the assistance of Mrs. Ray Potuznik. It was decided to give defense stamps as priezs at the next meeting.

Mrs. Kenneth Calderwood of Winslow avenue will be hostess on January 29.

E. O. W. Club

On Thursday evening Mrs. Carl Gaston of Raymond street was hostess to the E. O. W. club.

Mrs. G. B. Hoagland was welcomed into the club as a new member.

In the play of 500, Mrs. Walter Kilner was awarded high prize, with Mrs. L. T. Moore receiving a guest prize.

Light refreshments were served later.

Mrs. Oliver Hoch of Wilmington avenue will entertain the club on January 29.

LONDON BRIDGE CLUB INFORMAL ASSEMBLY

Most enjoyable was the meeting of the London Bridge club members Thursday evening, in the home of Mrs. Chester Sankey, West Washington street, who entertained at their regular session. Those winning prizes for honors included Mrs. Ralph Preston, Mrs. William Rech and Miss Kathryn Carr, the latter being the "galloper." Two special guests, Mrs. Jack Carr and Miss Charlotte Savage were each remembered with a hostess gift. They also aided in serving lunch at a later hour.

Their annual party of the season however, proved a delightful event, it being held on a previous date in the home of Mrs. William Rech in her newly completed home on Chapin road. Cards too, filled in the time with Mrs. Thomas Grittie, Mrs. George Duncan and Eleanor Melnyk capturing the honor prizes. Special guests were Mrs. George Crawford and Elsie Grieder, each being remembered with a hostess gift.

After revealing "secret sisters" for the year, they were served a delicious lunch at a table beautifully appointed.

The next regular meeting for the London Bridge group will be held February 5, with Miss Melnyk on Smithfield street.

MRS. HANNAH GLENN BIRTHDAY SATURDAY

Mrs. Hannah Glenn who resides at McCaslin, R. D. 4, will observe her 84th birthday anniversary, and it is expected her many friends and relatives here, will wish to remember her with cards and greetings.

Mrs. Glenn has been a life long resident of this vicinity, and in spite of her advanced years, she keeps fairly active. She was born and raised on the farm at McCaslin which she still maintains.

What's Bid Club.

Mrs. George Forrester, of Walnut street, entertained members of the What's Bid club, Thursday evening.

Tables of 500 were in play, high score prizes going to Mrs. Walter Logan, Mrs. Robert Jenkins and Mrs. Harry Earl.

A delicious lunch was served, the hostess, being aided by her mother, Mrs. Louis Hemphill.

On January 29, Mrs. Walter Dogan, of Ray street, will be hostess.

T. H. W. Club

In the home of Mrs. Carrie Calvert on Madison avenue Thursday evening, the T. H. W. club met in formally for a session of cards. Mrs. Clarence Shoup, Mrs. L. O. Rowland and Mrs. Carrie Calvert were the prize winners.

As guests they had Mrs. Edna Calvert and Mrs. Marie Knorow.

A dainty repast was served at the close and they departed, agreeing to meet Thursday, January 22, with Mrs. Clarence Shoup, hostess.

W. I. T. Y. Club

Members of the W. I. T. Y. club, enjoyed the hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. Frank Dute on East street, Thursday evening, who entertained most informally.

Mrs. Glen Pearsall and Mrs. David Fenton won the honor prizes and in serving lunch, the hostess was aided by Mrs. Robert Rodenbaugh.

Their next meeting will be with Mrs. Fenton on Kathryn street, January 29.

Choir Group Meets.

Members of the Central Christian choir gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Phelps, South New Castle Boro, Thursday evening, for their regular meeting.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by the hostess, with the assistance of Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan.

An niformal time was enjoyed later in the evening. January 19 is the date chosen for the next meeting.

Open Door Class

Members of the Open Door class Third U. P. church, met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. L. McKissick, 2009 Delaware avenue, Thursday evening.

A social time was enjoyed with lunch being served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Howard Duncao. Special guests were the teacher and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Minnich.

Section G, Y. L. B.

Section G of the Y. L. B. class, Third U. P. church, met in the home of Mrs. Nellie Davison, Butler road, Thursday afternoon. Sewing was the chief pastime, after which the hostess served refreshments, aided by Mrs. Martha Frazier and Barbara Jane Frazier.

Mrs Mabel Nichols and Mrs. Frazier were special guests.

Next meeting will be in two weeks.

D. O. F. Club

Members of the D. O. F. club enjoyed a dinner party, Thursday evening, in a downtown tearoom at 6:30 o'clock.

Following the group gathered in a local theatre. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Hilda Camuso, of South Jefferson street, on January 29.

Better not do business with a friend. His greedy look as he schemes to get your money is hard on affection.

'AUSSIES' ENTER MALAYA FIGHT; JAPS ARE HELD

Japanese Are Held

There the Australians held Japanese attacks througtout the night. There was bitter fighting all along the coastal strips north of Malacca.

Carefully laid battle plans cost the Japanese dearly.

One fully motorized enemy column was allowed to approach a mined bridge and was part way across it when the explosives were let loose. The bridge itself was completely destroyed and along with it into unreconizable junk went 14 tanks and armored cars.

Their entire personnel was obliterated.

Front-line dispatches spoke without hesitation of "heavy casualties" among the Japanese, who were described as "running to cover" when faced by the indomitable Australians.

Jap Contingent Wiped Out

An official communique, dealing with operations during the last 24 hours, described how a Jap contingent was wiped out in the western part of Negri Sembilan.

The Negri Sembilan engagement was one in which Australian forces, now participating in the Malayan campaign, took part.

According to the communique, six Japanese tanks were destroyed and the Nipponese forces suffered "heavy casualties".

In general, the new communique said, the situation on the Malayan front remains unchanged.

"During the latter stages of the local engagement reported yesterday in the western part of Negri Sembilan," the communique said, "our troops destroyed six enemy tanks and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy.

"The enemy troops were supported by fighters and bombers which attacked our forward troops.

"Our own casualties were comparatively light.

Situation Unchanged

"Some contact with the enemy has been reported in the western part of the front. The general situation remains unchanged.

"Bomber aircraft of the far eastern command attacked and sank a number of barges off Sungei Linggi and damaged others.

"Bomber aircraft attacked targets at Sungei Patani but results were not observed owing to bad weather.

"This morning a large force of our aircraft attacked concentrations of enemy transport and rolling stock on the roads and railroad in the Tampin area. Several vehicles were set on fire and seemed to be burning fiercely.

"A number of railroad trucks were damaged and casualties were inflicted on personnel.

"During a raid on Singapore yesterday the enemy lost one fighter. Others probably were destroyed and three were damaged.

"This morning British fighters shot down one army type "97" over Singapore."

Singapore Heartened

Revelation that hard-fighting Australian forces have gone into action on the Malayan front heartened Singapore today as this great British far eastern bastion rushed military and civilian preparations for a major defense battle.

The people of Singapore and of Malayan areas still in British possession were stirred by the sight of the Australians moving toward the front, singing and giving "thumbs up" greetings to Chinese and Malayan children in villages en route.

In addition, the fact that the Australians are going into action at a critical stage in the Malayan campaign acted as a tonic to the tired British and Indian troops who have fought constant rearguard actions against the numerically superior Japs.

The first official revelation that the famed Aussies already have seen action in Malaya was an announcement that Australian units defeated a small Japanese infantry and tank column in eastern Negri Sembilan state.

Heavy rains washed out many sections of the main roads in southern Malaya and scores of smaller roads and paths through the jungles have been reduced to virtual quagmires.

Singapore observers expressed fervent hopes the Australians will not be bound to a policy of fighting defensive rearguard battles but will be prepared to take the offensive wherever practicable.

Meanwhile, it was reported unofficially that the British forces are consolidating themselves along the Pownall line of defenses.

This new British defense line is somewhere in southern Malaya—exactly where has not been officially revealed. But there were unconfirmed reports that the three Jap columns advancing down the peninsula have reached points only some 80 or 90 miles north of Singapore.

Outlines Sign Language Of Truck Drivers

National Safe Driving Champ Describes Signals Truckers Use

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The sign language of the truck drivers has been outlined by Charles Goins of Indianapolis, who recently was designated as the national champion safe truck driver.

If the motorist wishes to pass a freight truck, he should honk once, according to Goins. If the truck driver flashes on and off the little red lights along the top of the truck, the road is clear; if not, it is unsafe to pass.

If a truck driver behind you sprays his spotlight across the rear window of your car, he's trying to pass. If he flickers his lights after passing, he is saying "thanks pal".

If, on a truck ahead, all of the rear lights flash on and off rapidly, or if the driver extends his left hand from his cab and waves it up and down, it's a signal for a sudden stop.

Goins, who has traveled hundreds of thousands of miles without an accident, says the drunken driver is the worst highway menace.

"Most truck drivers learn to avoid accidents by guessing what the other driver is going to do," he said. "But you can't try that formula on a drunken driver, because he doesn't know what he's going to do himself."

ITALIAN MOTHERS CLUB

Members of the Italian Mothers club met at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening.

Plans were made to sew and knit for the Red Cross organization. February 19 is the date chosen for a party event.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Stefanie Scarnati, Mrs. Daya Russo and Mrs. Christina Russo.

On February 5 the following will be hostesses: Mrs. Jean Del Castello, Mrs. Margaret Toscano and Mrs. Lena Julian.

JUNIOR BUSINESS GIRLS.

Members of the Junior business girls met in the rose room of the Y, Thursday evening, for their regular meeting.

The highlight of the evening was a most interesting speech by Rev. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second U. P. church, on "Marriage". Plans were made for the group to attend the open board meeting to be held Tuesday evening in the Y. Also, those planning to attend the Red Cross aid class, will meet on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock until 9 o'clock.

On Thursday, the clubs of the Y will join for a recreational period after which a social time will follow. This meeting will convene at 9, instead of 8:30 as previously done.

Forecast Exodus Of $1-A-Year Men

Senate Defense Committee Believes Many Will Leave Washington

MANY ASSAILED IN PROBE REPORT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Senate defense committee members today forecast a "general exodus" of "$1-a-year" men from Washington on the heels of the committee's report assailing such government servants as the "lobbyists" of big business.

While declining to permit use of their names, many members felt that this would be the result of the lengthy committee document roundly criticizing the Office of Production Management for alleged failures and delays in the defense program.

The report pointed out that 255 $1-a-year men and 631 men without compensation were employed by OPM. Many of them did not sever their business connections, but continued to accept private salaries, and some received increased compensation while in government service.

Reorganization Threatened

Committee members also pointed out that Donald M. Nelson, newly-appointed war production czar, has threatened a thorough reorganization of existing defense agencies, if it is necessary to obtain maximum production.

The committee report expressed belief that "most $1-a-year men are honest and conscientious and would not intentionally favor big business.

"However, it is not their intentional acts that the committee fears, but their subconscious tendency, without which they would hardly be human to judge all matters before them in the light of their past experiences and convictions," the report said.

Meantime, Sen. Truman (D) Mo., chairman of the defense committee, laid plans for further activities of the group.

"We'll redouble our efforts to see that expenditures are in the public interest and try to get a fair return for the money that is being spent," he said. "You have to keep watch on the people that spend it all the time in order to accomplish that."

Continue Probe

Truman said one of the first endeavors of the committee would be to continue the investigation into defense contract lobbying.

Although demands for criminal prosecutions arose in the senate following the committee's report on waste, inefficiency and extravagance in the defense program, Truman took the stand that "it is not our function to send people to jail."

"That's the function of the department of justice," he said. "If the department of justice can use the evidence we have presented, then that is to the public benefit. I think also that the general accounting office ought to make a careful audit of the terrible conditions we found in camp construction, and bring proceedings to get the money back."

Truman expressed belief that the senate would grant his request for additional funds. He has requested $100,000.

"An investigation after the war doesn't do any good," he said. "It just blackens someone's reputation. The best thing is to catch the wrongdoers in the act and stop them. Public opinion is the most powerful weapon there is. Our function is to let the public know what is happening to their dollars."

Everything is paid for in some way. If one rogue burns his car 100 honest people pay more for insurance.

Garment Workers To Buy Millions Of Defense Bonds

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16.—Purchase of $25,000,000 worth of defense savings bonds during the next six months has been voted by the general executive board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, David Dubinsky, president, has informed Secretary Morgenthau.

Arrangements have been with the Treasury department for the issuance of defense stamp savings books to ILGWU's 300,000 members. According to the union's plan, each member will pledge at least two weeks' earnings. Members who are unable to purchase defense savings bonds outright will buy their bonds on a weekly installment plan, spending five per cent of their weekly wages for this purpose.

"This shows one practical way in which a great organization of workers can help to win the war," Secretary Morgenthau said in commenting on the union's action. "This should be an example and inspiration to other similar bodies."

We all "get something for nothing," for millions wouldn't buy the benefits of civilization we share without cost.

Mother Of Three Army Officers Seeks War Work

(International News Service)

UNION, S. C.—Not content to rest on the military laurels of her children, 78-year-old Mrs. Joseph Dogan Arthur — mother of three colonels now in the service of Uncle Sam—has registered for whatever patriotic work may be assigned to her.

Mrs. Arthur's sons who wear the insignia of colonel are Col. J. D. Arthur Jr. of the U. S. Army Engineers, now in charge of all British leased air and naval bases; Col. John Miller Arthur, in command of the Second Regiment, Second Division, U. S. Marines, and Lieut. Col. Harry M. Arthur, 118th Infantry 30th Division.

Mrs. Arthur also has two other sons—Edward J. Arthur, now mayor of Union, and A. A. Arthur, prominent Union merchant. Both were lieutenants in the National Guard but were deferred from active service. Edward was deferred because of his official position with the city and A. A. was deferred because of a physical disability.

Even the third generation is active in the armed forces. A grandson of Mrs. Arthur is a lieutenant in the army while a granddaughter is the wife of a medical officer.

A day's record fall of snow, 60 inches, occurred at Giant Forest, California, January 19, 1933, department of commerce records show.

Two Die From Severe Burns

(International News Service)

CONFLUENCE, Pa., Jan. 16.—Two members of a family of four—a mother and daughter—died today from burns suffered when a kerosene stove exploded and fired their small home near Confluence early yesterday.

Mrs. Stella Uphold, 25, and three-year-old Betty Jane Uphold succumbed in Franz hospital, Confluence. The mother died at 1:10 a. m., the child at 7:30, the hospital reported.

George Uphold, 32, the father, and Andrew, 9, the fourth member of the family, were reported in critical condition. It was feared that one or both might die.

A new job in Washington means one temporary building, one executive and 45 girls to keep records of the red tape.

Fine Response Being Shown To War Fund Appeal

Local Organizations Are Reported One Hundred Per Cent In Campaign

ELLWOOD CITY ATTAINS GOAL

With Ellwood City over the top in its campaign for the Red Cross War Relief Fund, and local organizations beginning to turn in completed reports, all indications point to the fact that the quota here will be reached, Chairman Walter W. Duff stated today.

Ellwood City's goal was $7,000 and was the first to be attained. Other districts have also done nobly according to the reports which have have some money standing out before their reports will be complete.

Report 100 Per Cent

Two local business organizations have reported a 100 per cent contribution from the companies and their employes. These are the New Castle News, and New Castle Store.

It is expected that many others will report a 100 per cent contribution from all their employes in the near future, as the response to the appeal has been most wholehearted, Chairman Duff states.

Need Around $15,000

Around $15,000 is still needed to complete the quota, but it is expected that when all the local industries complete their canvass and the county reports are in, that this amount will be attained.

Anyone who feels he has been missed by the solicitor in his district, and who wishes to contribute is asked to send his contribution to the Chapter House, 39 North Beaver street.

This money is to be used to carry on the great work of the Red Cross among the men in service, and for service to their families on the home front, fifteen per cent of the total remaining here for that purpose.

Four In Family Suffer Burns As Home Is Damaged

(International News Service)

CONFLUENCE, Pa., Jan. 16.—All four members of a Somerset county family were burned, two critically, when an exploding kerosene stove fired and destroyed their three-room house near Confluence Thursday.

George Uphold, 32; his wife, Stella, 25, and their children, Andrew, 9, and Betty Jane, 3, were rushed to Franz hospital in Confluence three miles from their isolated home.

Mrs. Uphold, suffering third degree burns, was given little chance to survive, according to Dr. H. A. Price. Both children were reported in serious condition and the father's condition was said to be critical.

Mrs. Uphold was working over the stove when the explosion sprayed her and the children with flaming kerosene. Uphold, who ran to their rescue, rolled them in clothing and rugs, suffered serious burns of the hands, face and feet, Dr. Price said.

S. A. Johnson of Confluence, who teaches school in Ohiopyle, saw the flames as he was driving past the house and hurried the victims to the hospital. The two-story dwelling was burned to the ground.

Daylight Bill On Way To White House

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — The House Thursday accepted the report of Senate-House conferees in favor of the Senate bill to set the nation's clocks forward one hour to save daylight for national defense.

The bill, which would automatically take effect 20 days after enactment, now goes to the White House for the President's approval.

Aviation Gas Supply To Be Given Boost

Contract Awarded To Three Companies For Increased Production

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Federal Loan Administrator Jones yesterday announced that the defense supplies corporation has let contracts to three large petroleum companies which will increase the daily output of aviation high octane gasoline to approximately 71,300 barrels.

The contracts were let on the recommendation of the secretaries of war and navy and the petroleum coordinator, and others are in the course of negotiation to bring the daily output to 150,000 barrels.

The corporation contracted with the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey for the purchase of all 100-octane aviation gasoline produced by that company. The contract contemplates that the company will increase its production of the axiation fuel from 16,000 barrels daily, the present capacity, to 37,000 barrels. Additional plant facilities for the increased production will cost the company approximately $50,000,000, of which the corporation will advance $14,400,000 to be repaid in gasoline.

An agreement was entered into by the agency with the Magnolia Petroleum Co., to purchase its entire production of 100-octane aviation gasoline which at present is 3,000 barrels per day and which is to be increased to 12,000 barrels. New plant facilities will cost the company $15,000,000, with the corporation advancing $4,500,000 to also be repaid in gas.

A contract has also been made with the Cities Service Co., for the production of 1,300 barrels of 100-octane aviation fuel per day.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 11
RETURNS OF INCOME OF DECEDENTS

A return is required to be filed for a deceased individual if the gross income to the date of death is $750 or over, and the individual was single, or married and not living with husband or wife for any part of the taxable year, or if the gross income to the date of death is equal to, or in excess of the credit for personal exemption (not including credit as head of family or for dependents), and the individual was married and living with husband or wife for all or any part of the taxable year. The return for a decedent must include all items of income and deductions accrued up to the date of death, regardless of the fact that the decedent may have kept his books on a cash receipts and disbursement basis or did not keep books.

The income return of a decendent for the year in which he died is considered a return for 12 months and not for a fractional part of a year, and is due on the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year during which the decendent died. After his appointment and qualification, an executor or administrator may immediately file a return for the decedent without waiting for the close of the taxable year.

Duke Of Connaught Is Taken By Death

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 16—The death of the Duke of Connaught, last surviving son of Queen Victoria and a beloved member of Britain's Royal family, was announced in London today.

The Duke had spent most of his life as a soldier. His full title was Field Marshal his Royal Highness Arthur William Patrick Albert, Duke of Connaught and Strathearn, Earl of Essex.

An official announcement stated: "Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught passed away peacefully this morning at Bagshot Park, Surrey.

He had been in failing health for some months."

Legion Of Honor Reports Big Demand For Tickets To Red Cross Benefit Address

GROUP TO HAVE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Plans for the coming appearance of Congressman Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the congressional committee which has been investigating un-American activities in this country for several years, were furthered at a meeting of the Legion of Honor, which took place in The Cathedral last evening, when tickets were distributed to members and committees reported on the arrangements already made.

The Legion of Honor is hoping to net a 'nice sum of money from this address, which will be turned over to the Red Cross War Relief Fund.

In spite of Congressman Dies heavy labors with the committee investigating un-American activities in the country, he as still found time to ably represent his district in congress, and while in the interests of America and Americanism, he did little campaigning, he was renominated for his seat from Texas by an overwhelming majority.

His work as chairman of the special committee to investigate subversive activities has earned the commendation of every real and loyal American, and a record-breaking crowd is expected on hand when he speaks here January 29, in The Cathedral.

SUNDAY MEALS ON TUESDAY AT SHELBY

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Jan. 16.—When it's Tuesday at Camp Shelby the soldiers get Sunday dinner.

Col. Joseph P. Sullivan, camp quartermaster, concocted the plan because so many of the soldiers were away from camp on Sunday. He's right proud of the victuals he lays out on Sunday and hated to see so many miss them, especially those golden pieces of fried chicken.

On Sunday the soldiers get their Tuesday fare—usually roast beef.

Auto Stamps On Sale In Seventh

New Federal Tax Stamps Being Purchased By Auto Owners

This morning, the new Federal Motor Vehicle Use Tax stamps were put on sale at the Mahoningtown post office, and the clerical force have been quite busy handing them out to the buyers.

In connection with the purchase of a tax stamp, a card is to be sent to the Internal Revenue collector at Pittsburgh, for record.

Postmaster William R. Hanna has arranged for the convenience of the patrons of the office, that when purchasing a tax stamp, a stamped post card will be furnished for another penny, to mail to the revenue collector. There are penalties for not mailing in the card.

Superintendent McBride asks the public when seeking to purchase the stamp and card, to have the right amount ready ($2.10) which will greatly expedite the sale.

L. A. To O. R. C. Meets With Mrs. Olmstead

At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon the L. A. to O. R. C. members met for a social gathering at the home of Mrs. M. R. Olmstead of Fifth street.

Sewing and knitting were the chief diversions of the evening.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be on the first Thursday in February in the form of a tureen dinner at the American Legion home, North Jefferson street.

GOLDEN RULE CLASS MEMBERS ARE GUESTS

On Wednesday evening at her home, Philomena Sparano entertained the members of the Golden Rule class of the Mahoning Methodist church.

During the business meeting Maxine Smoot was elected vice-president and Ruth Jean Jolley acted as secretary.

Games were played, prizes being awarded to Maxine Smoot, Dorothy Cumro and Ruth Jean Jolley. Maxine also won the door prize.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

W. A. G. CLUB MET THURSDAY EVENING

Mrs. R. A. Cather, of East Grant street, entertained the W. A. G. club at her home on Thursday evening, when there was a good attendance.

Knitting by the members for the Red Cross Society, and social chat, were the main diversions of the evening.

A splenedid lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. William Weitz, and Mrs. William R. Bollinger.

The club will next meet in February, with Mrs. W. R. Bollinger, West Madison avenue.

Col. Lindbergh Seeking To Aid

Devoting Time To "Technical Project In War Department," Is Announcement

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson on Thursday revealed that Charles A. Lindbergh now is devoting his time to "a technical project in which the war department is interested."

Asked at his press conference whether Lindbergh had been reinstated in the army, the secretary of war disclosed that the former lone eagle had offered his services to the war department for "technical experimentation."

Details of Lindbergh's endeavors for the war department were not made public. However, Secretary Stimson unfolded the full story of how the famed flyer submitted his services to the war department.

"Mr. Lindbergh," the secretary related, "telephoned last Monday asking an appointment, and I met him in my office that afternoon."

Stimson apparently referred to Monday of last week when Lindbergh appeared in Washington. Lindbergh at that time refused, however, to tell newsmen the nature of his visit to the capital.

"He told me he was forming plans for future activities and before committing himself he wanted to know if he could be of use to the government through the war department secretary," Stimson asserted.

"I told him we always wanted help and advice and I asked him what he thought he could do most usefully.

"He told me," the secretary continued, "that his most useful contribution would be in the line of technical experimentation.

"We went into details and accordingly I referred him to Gen. Arnold (chief of the army air corps) and Mr. Lovett (Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war in charge of air) Tuesday morning. He had a long conference with them over details.

"All I care to say now," Stimson asserted, "is that he has decided to devote time to a technical project in which the war department is interested."

The secretary of war did not indicate that Lindbergh has been restored to the rank of colonel. Lindbergh, who opposed the nation's involvement in the European war, relinquished his colonelcy some months before America entered the conflict.

Defense Training Students Get Jobs

Report Is Made On Penn State Defense Course Here— Plan New Course Next Month

More than 20 Lawrence county high school graduates who completed introductory engineering studies under the Pennsylvania State College program last summer have found employment, according to Dr. Joseph W. Bird, in charge of placement in extension.

The figures are based on a recent survey of the 31 students who completed the courses given in New Castle and Ellwood City. The 7 unemployed, as listed in the survey, are enrolled in schools and colleges at present, in military service or have not yet reached 18 years of age.

The Lawrence County figures compare favorably with the statewide results which showed that more than 60 percent of the 1941 high school graduates have found employment since completing instruction which was offered by Penn State under the defense training program of the U. S. Office of Education. Only 11 percent of the statewide group were listed as unemployed.

Showing the course influence on their jobs, nearly 15 percent are working for aircraft manufacturers, many as inspectors. All completing the classes were eligible for certification under U. S. Civil Service and 76 are now so employed. Other types of jobs, the majority in war industries, include electricians, analysts, moulders, clerks, draftsmen, laboratory assistants, calibrators, apprentices and foremen.

Given in 94 centers throughtout the state, the defense training courses were open to high school graduates only. Current engineering science, and management defense training classes, open to the public, are being held by Penn State in 109 centers with an enrollment of nearly 18,000 students. Another program will start in February.

COLORADO JUGGLES FIGURES

(International News Service)

DENVER—Colorado may not be as large a state as Texas but there is more of it, the State Chamber of Commerce contends. And the C. of C. brings forward figures to back up that claim. The chamber argues that if you take Colorado's 103,948 square miles and multiply it by the state's mean altitude of 6,800 feet you get a bulk of 133,872 cubic miles. This is almost twice as great as Texas' bulk of 72,837 cubic miles, arrived at by multiplying the Lone Star State's 226,229 square miles by its mean altitude of 1,700 feet.

Pearl Harbor Horror Is Told By Naval Men

Officers And Sailors Alike Would Like To Get Back Into Fighting

WOUNDED MEN ARE BEING SENT HOME

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Horrors of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7 were revealed Thursday by wounded navy heroes now recuperating in a San Francisco Bay area hospital.

The navy lifted a part of censorship long enough to let some of the men—officers and enlisted men alike—tell what took place following the sneak attack of the Japanese.

They joked about their wounds, their hideous burns, and they all seemed to have but one chief thought—they are anxious to get back into the fighting.

"Wait till we really get a crack at 'em," snapped Lieut. John J. McCormack Jr., 39, naval flier and son of the supervisor of recreation in the Bronx, New York.

Officer Disgruntled

Lieutenant McCormack was disgruntled because he didn't see as much action as he wanted.

"I'd hate to tell you where I was when it all started," he laughed, "but five minutes later I was on duty, a most ungentlemanly hour for an attack.

"Bomb fragments got me just outside a hangar."

Eugene Knight, a Stillson, Ga., farmer's son, had his leg shattered by a fragment from an exploding ship, but he told reporters he wasn't thinking much about his wounds at present.

"I just want to know how my girl back in Glenville, Georgia, is getting along," he grinned ruefully, "and believe me, I want to get back into the fight again."

Peter Linnartz, 29, chief gunner's mate, has four wounds in his fractured right leg. His brother was wounded on the same ship, and his father is a shipfitter in the navy at San Pedro.

Pittsburgh Flier Killed In England

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Pilot Officer J. D. Gilliand of Pittsburgh (805 W. Eighth street) has been killed in action as a member of the Second American Eagle Squadron of the Royal Air Force, the air ministry announced late Thursday.

The Second Eagle Squadron was said to have carried out at least six offensive sweeps over enemy territory and to have engaged large formations of enemy planes.

Bananas have been produced under glass in England. One Kentish grower has obtained 200 bananas from each of his plants for years.

Vital Statistics Bureau Is Need

Would Establish Bureaus In Third Class Cities To Escape Capital Bottleneck

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15—Establishment of a branch of the state Bureau of vital statistics in all third class cities was advocated by the second Pennsylvania Health Institute Thursday by Dr. J. R. Smith, Erie Health Director.

"The confusion caused by the rush for birth certificates is a valid argument in favor of taking public health activities out of politics and placing public health personnel under a merit system," said Dr. Smith.

"A large number of our native born Americans have become bitter as a result of their experience in trying to obtain birth certificates. Many of them have lost positions.

Escape Bottleneck

"Third class cities, especially the larger ones, should have a branch of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, instead of having applications go into the bottleneck at Harrisburg."

Pennsylvania's industrial hygiene program was criticized by Dr. James G. Townsend, Medical Director of the U. S. Public Health Service, as inadequate.

The Commonwealth has only three cents a day to spend on hygiene for each of its 4,000,000 industrial workers, according to Dr. Townsend, who urged that the appropriation of $147,300 be doubled.

"Pennsylvania defense employment is rising to meet the demand for all-out production," Dr. Townsend told the second Pennsylvania Health Institute. "But we face threats to peak production.

"The constant speedup may easily turn into a blitzkreig on the well-being of thousands of these workers. In such a situation we can predict appalling increases in industrial disability."

Delay Showdown On Price Control

Congress Conference Committee Delays Action On Amendments Opposed By President

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — The Senate-House conference committee on the price control bill decided at its first meeting Thursday to postpone a showdown on the Senate's controversial farm price amendments which President Roosevelt says will lead to increased cost of living and inflation.

Members expressed belief that a final agreement will not be reached before Saturday or Monday at the earliest.

Senator Brown (D), Mich., chairman of the conference, said:

"We decided to try to settle minor differences first and leave the major questions until later."

As the conference broke up, Senator Glass (D), Va., was asked whether the members were near an agreement.

"Not within a thousand miles," he said.

Before the conferees met, President Edward O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation, sent a letter to each member outlining 4 possible compromise on the farm amendment. He insisted upon acceptance of the Bankhead amendment, giving secretary of agriculture veto power over farm price fixing.

He indicated, however, that the federation would accept a provision that farm prices could not be set below 110 per cent of parity. Administration leaders previously had agreed to this provision.

Acceptance of this "floor" by farm leaders would pave the way for elimination of the O'Mahoney-Russell amendment prohibiting fixing of prices below about 120 per cent of parity. It is this amendment, administration leaders contend, that would permit a rise of more than 20 per cent in food prices.

Observe Anniversary Of Franklin's Birth

Pennsylvania's Most Famous Early Patriot Given Honor Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16 — The Poor Richard Club and other organizations identified with Benjamin Franklin, printer, patriot, sage and scientist, are celebrating the 236th anniversary of his birth today.

The day was marked with exercises at Franklin's grave this morning; exercises at noon in the Franklin Memorial, and in the evening at a banquet at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, during which International News Service will present a continuous news program.

Flowers from President Roosevelt, Governor Arthur H. James, Philadelphia's Mayor Bernard Samuel, and from the Poor Richard Club, the Junto, the Tylothetae, the Philadelphia Chapter of Printing House Craftsmen and various advertising schools and organizations were placed on Franklin's grave in the Old Christ church burial ground. Brief memorial ceremonies were conducted by Rev. W. R. McKean, of St. Matthews Episcopal church.

GLACIERS BUSY RUNNING ERRANDS.

State Policeman Herman Meierjurgan of Tillamook, Ore., explained a glacial rock formation to a tourist party. "Where," asked a woman, "are he glaciers now?" Trooper Meierjurgan scratched his head. "I guess, ma'am, they've gone back for more rock."

Should Be Wary Of Growing Herbs

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Jan. 16—Farmers and gardners should be wary of proucing herbs on a commercial scale despite the apparent curtailment of imports.

This was the advice of Dr. G. J. Stout, professor of vegetable garening at the Pennsylvania State College, who warned of the extreme difficulties involved in herb growing for condiment or medicinal purposes.

Dr. Stout pointed out that while price increases brought about by the difficulty in securing herbs from foreign countries make the growing of these plants attractive there are many barriers in the way of successful marketing.

The Penn State specialist used sage to illustrate the difficulties involved. First, good seed is almost impossible to obtain. Then it takes three or four years to mature into harvesting condition. By that time, Dr. Stout said, the war should be over.

Busy Week-End For Penn State Athletic Teams

Five Of Lion's Winter Sports Teams Will See Plenty Of Action

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 18—Five of Penn State's winter sports teams—boxing, wrestling, basketball, skiing, and hockey—are scheduled for plenty of fast competition this week-end.

Three of the five will be opening their 1942 campaign. The Nittany Lion boxers will be clashing with Western Maryland here tomorrow night, and the skiers will be competing on the Mt. Nittany slopes tomorrow in a quadrangular meet with Cornell, Colgate and Syracuse. Penn State's hockey team will face Carnegie Tech tomorrow night at Johnstown.

The other two teams have already opened their seasons. Coach John Lawther's rangy cagers battle West Virginia tonight at Morgantown, and tomorrow night the hoopsters invade Pittsburgh for the traditional court engagement with Dr. Carlson's Panthers.

Coach Charlie Speidel's grapplers will take on the Navy wrestlers here tomorrow night on the same program which finds the Lion boxers opening their season.

How to make Pillsbury's Trio Layer Cake

Three big, delicious cakes in one!

Complete recipe:

1. Sift and measure 3 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour. (Two B-vitamins and iron now increase the health value of Pillsbury's Best—with no change in its inviting appearance, wheaty flavor, and excellent baking quality.) Add 3¼ tsps. baking powder (or 2½ tsps. double-acting) and ¾ tsp. salt. Sift three times. (Don't rely on a dash of hope and a pinch of trust when it comes to baking—use flour that's proved itself before it enters your kitchen. Before any wheat is bought for Pillsbury's Best, scours go right out in the harvest fields and send in samples. These are milled into flour, and actually baked into foods. And—even then—the flour must pass rigid baking tests 4 to 6 times a day during milling. Pillsbury's Best is BAKE-PROVED to protect your baking success.) 2. Cream 1 c. shortening till light; gradually beat in 1¼ c. sugar till fluffy. 3. Add 4 eggs, one at a time; beat about 1 min. after each. 4. Add dry ingredients alternately with 1 c. milk and 1 tsp. vanilla. Mix well after each addition, beat well at end. (Note the smooth, fluffy texture . . . the delicate, creamy color of your Pillsbury's Best batter . . . assured by hourly color tests during milling!) 5. Divide batter in thirds. To ⅓ add ¾ tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. allspice, ¼ tsp. cloves, and ¼ tsp. nutmeg; blend well. To second portion add (combined) 2 tsps. sugar, 2 tsps. butter, ¼ tsp. soda, 1½ Tbsps. hot water, and 1 sq. (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate (melted and cooled); blend well. Leave rest of batter plain. Turn each batter separately into greased, lined 9-in. layer pans . . . and see how fluffy-light it is! Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 25 to 30 min. When done, allow the fragrant, delicate layers to cool, then spread vanilla cream filling between layers and cover top and sides with chocolate frosting. Get Pillsbury's Best from your grocer today—and turn "just another meal" into a special occasion with Pillsbury's TRIO LAYER CAKE. Charges Waste In War Program

Senator Truman's Report Also Assails Inefficiency And Extravagance

CLAIM SOME HUGE PROFITS ARE MADE

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Demands for criminal prosecutions and ousting of a number of unspecified defense officials were made in the senate Thursday as Sen. Truman (D) Mo., submitted a report of the special defense committee assailing waste, inefficiency and extravagance in the war program.

The committee declared that the aviation program lags in both quantity and quality of planes, assailed the office of production management for alleged failures and pointed to purported exorbitant costs and profits.

Truman told the senate that some companies made such huge profits on ship repair contracts, that, after the committee publicized the fact, some firms voluntarily returned $4,000,000 to the navy.

Demand Action

"What happens to the man in procurement who allows this condition?" asked Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich.

"He usually is promoted," replied Truman.

"The thing I missed in this," said Vandenberg, "is that somebody ought to be put in jail or demoted. When a military debacle occurs the commander in chief usually does something. I am equally anxious that something be done to debacles in supply."

Truman said a copy of the committee report is being sent to President Roosevelt.

"Are these men criminally liable?" asked Sen. Norris (I) Neb.

"We have not completed our inquiries on this phase," replied Truman.

Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, a committee member, promised, however, that the committee will bring evidence of criminal liability to proper authorities.

SALARY INCREASES

Approximately $11,366 per year in increased salaries for the year 1942 were announced today following the meeting of the salary board. The board is composed of County Commissioner William R. Walton, George H. Bolinger, Joseph F. Travers, County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer and the head of each department, the latter sitting only while his department is under consideration.

The increases amount to roughly 10 per cent over all, although this figure was not kept as standard. Some increases were for $5 per month and some ran higher.

Broken down into departments the increases are divided as follows:

County commissioners' office $2,050 per year of which $1,800 is for monthly salaried employes and $250 for yearly salaried employes. Controller's office, $540 per year.

County treasurer's office, $1860 per year. Superintendent of schools' office, $120 per year. Court crier and librarian, $240 per year. Court interpreter and tipstaves, $120 per year. Court stenographers, $240 per year.

District attorney's office, $240 per year. Janitors, $816 per year. Judges' stenographers, $120 per year. Prothonotary's office, $600 per year. Probation office, $960 per year. Register and Recorder's office $132 per year. Registration bureau $460 per year of which $360 is for monthly employes and $100 for yearly salaried employes. Sheriff's office $660 per year. Sealer of weights and measures, $60 per year. Welfare office, $240 per year.

In the county home Jeanette Snyder is made a clerk at $60 per month and $6 per month increase is allowed for each of the domestic help. The gross each month will fluctuate.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Three divorces were granted by Judge W. Walter Braham on Thursday. They are, Gus Marioros from May Marioros, Ondino Manzani from Gertrude Manzani, and Berenice Thomas Bell from Burton J. Bell.

COURT FINISHED

With the finish of the resent cases against John Saesan and J. A. McCormick, the civil term will finish and no jurors will be needed next week. Next to the last case to come up for trial in court room number one was that of John Wilkevich, administrator in the estate of Anna Wilkevich versus Charles H. Irwin. The case arose out of the death of Anna Wilkevich at the corner of Hamilton and Lyndal Streets, February 22, 1941, wher the car of the defendant is alleged to have struck her.

In the case of Nathan Rosenblum against Victoria Baking Company, the jury permitted the set off of $180 which represented process tax upon flour, which the defendant refused to pay. The suit was for $753.83 with the defendant claiming the set-off. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the amount of $594.78.

In the case of the Union Iron Works against the William M. Clark Company the jury returned a verdict for $1200 for the plaintiff. The company had sued for $3187 alleged due on a bill of goods. The defendant company pleaded that it had been put to expense because the plaintiff company had not filled its contractual obligations.

OPINION ANNOUNCED

In the case of Sophia Milton, administratrix in the estate of Paul Milton versus the Penn Power Company, an opinion was handed down Thursday by Judge W. Walter Braham on the motion of the defendant for a more specific statement of claim. The case is one in which the plaintiff brings suit for damages because of the death of her husband who was killed while working on a pole located on Route 19. The deceased was an employe of William Milsom Company, but the wires that caused his death were those of the defendant. The defendant asked for a specific statements of claim to show whether or not he came within the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act. The opinion grants the petition and requires the plaintiff to make a specific statement of claim. Failing to do this in fifteen days, the claim is stricken off.

ENCLOSE POSTAGE

If you mail your application for a dog tag to County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer, don't forget to enclose a stamp for return postage. The treasurer is getting a lot of applications without return postage and Uncle Sam has to have the letter stamped before he will deliver it.

Former Deputy State Treasurer Facing Charges

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—Clifford G. Baugher, Erie, former deputy state treasurer, today was awaiting trial during the March session of the Dauphin county court on charges of allegedly embezzling $13,000 in state funds.

Five true bills returned by a grand jury at Harrisburg charged embezzlement, attempted embezzlement and forgery. Baugher posted $2,500 bail pending his appearance in court.

Attorney General Claude T. Reno filed the charges while Baugher, who resigned Oct. 17, 1941, was recovering from an operation in an Erie hospital. The case was continued to the March court session at the request of the district attorney's office because Baugher remained ill at his home.

"My present information," said Reno, "is that Baugher will plead guilty as soon as his physician allows him to come to Harrisburg."

The former state official declined comment but his attorney indicated a statement may be issued later.

WORLD'S WICKEDEST.

One of the wickedest cities in the world is Irkutsk, Siberia, where as many as 500 murders have been committed annually, although its population does not exceed 120,000. Arrests average one in every 50 murders and only half the arrests are followed by convictions.

United States Extending Aid To Australia

(International News Service)

Canberra, Jan. 16.—A declaration that Australia has not looked in vain to the United States for aid in the Pacific conflict was voiced by an Australian government spokesman today.

"Prime Minister John Curtin recently said Australia would look to America in the Pacific war," the spokesman said.

"If the full story could be told, it would show that Australia hasn't looked in vain.

"What has happened in the past three weeks has produced results and had an effect far from adverse on closer Australian-American understanding.

"Events have moved upon a course very satisfactory to the Australian government.

"Correspondents who have stated otherwise are not fully informed regarding the extent of Australian-American cooperation within Australia."

Bruno Aloe, who suffered a stroke, was taken to the New Castle hospital, Tuesday.

Dick Newswander, who has been ill for the past few weeks, was admitted to the New Castle hospital.

Miss Stella Elsesser has returned home after a fwe weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. Ida Winds, in Tarentum.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ritchie and children of New Castle were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stickle.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pollyblank spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Pollybank in Erie.

The eighth grade pupils and their principal, Mr. Taggart, and teachers, Mrs. Huet, and Miss McGeorge, enjoyed a party in the home of Miss Antonetta Danito. Music, games and chat were enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Errett, of Beaver Falls, were recent visitors with Mrs. Errett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Snodgrass.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hainsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hainsworth and daughter, Roberta Anne, were Sunday dinner guests with Mrs. Harry Briggs in New Brighton.

If the varnish on furniture checks, it is usually due to the fact that the pieces have been exposed to extreme heat or cold, or that an inferior grade of varnish has been used.

For insect bites, wash the parts affected with a solution of soda and water, 1 teaspoon soda to 1 cup water. Household ammonia, diluted with water, is also a good remedy.

Difficult To Guage Full Extent Of Nazi Retreat Says Huss

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A mantle of secrecy, thickened by deep winter and rigid military censorship, hangs over Russia, making it difficult to gauge the full extent of the Nazi retreat and its real meaning.

Hitler's army, or particularly its spearheads, have without doubt taken terrific punishment and seem to face a good deal more of it.

But it would be a mistake to think that the gigantic military machine for whose creation Hitler bled his country white is yet shattered and broken.

Certainly the legend of its invincibility has been smashed, however, and that is highly important in itself.

The weather doubtless has played a part in this.

Hitler Said Reds Licked

I saw Stalin's vast and now obviously magnificent Red army stagger back to the Don last October after a series of battles which it seems would have ended the war in almost any other land. I heard Hitler announce to his troops and people in Berlin that the campaign had virtually ended and that Moscow was licked.

That was on October 2. At that time huge panzer spearheads and motorized German divisions had been thrust forward toward the Don and Volga rivers like multiple horns. Two days later the bad weather came and these horns became mired deep in the mud, marvelous targets for enemy units to strike at and threaten with isolation on all flanks.

The Soviet high command was equal to the task. The Russian lines in the Moscow and Donetz regions were rallied and mobile units carried the battle to the Germans lashing out at the spearheads.

Hitler himself led the army into this dangerous situation by taking a chance on the weather. Far from an infallible guesser himself, he figured on two weeks more of favorable weather.

Reconnaissance had established that the Soviet armies in some sections, such as east of Kurks, Kaluga, Orel and elsewhere had withdrawn. Pockets of land as much as 200 miles deep had been abandoned, partly because of heavy losses suffered and partly, perhaps, because of a Russian plan to draw the Germans in.

Thought Road Clear

In any case, Hitler thought he saw the road to Gorki and clear down to the Caspian sea wide open to him. If his troops had been able to take over these vital outposts before the onset of winter, Germany would have been in a perfect position for the later final offensive and the subsequent moving up of the main body of the Germany army.

We in Berlin knew before the end of October that the movement had misfired because of the premature arrival of sleet, slush and mud. Tanks and cannon, to say nothing of motorized columns, were reported mired a yard deep and German officers flying back from the front shook their heads and said it was useless.

They were right, and the Germans from that time on could not advance further. The Russians, heartened by intervention of their old weather alley, rushed 43 crack divisions from their Far Eastern army to the west and threw them into the breach.

When the snows got deeper, special cavalry and ski units went to work and by brilliant guerilla tactics overpowered the Germans, grinding up the protruding horns and moving ever closer to the main Hitler winter line anchored just east of Smolensk and Kiev.

It must be noted that many of these points recently recaptured by the Russians in their drive were taken originally only by small spearheads of Nazi forces that expected little resistance.

Heavy Flanking Movement

According to latest dispatches from London, based on Soviet military claims, there is now said to be a heavy Soviet flanking movement in the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors, on which battlefield the armies of Marshal Timoshenko were encircled last fall and cut to pieces.

These dispatches say that the road to Smolensk is being opened, but several hundred miles still lie between and nothing from Moscow yet indicates that a decisive stage of conflict has been reached between the Soviets and the main German armies.

There can be no belittling of the Russians' achievement to date. They have inflicted heavy casualties, recaptured great chunks of territory. They have won their spurs in the grand manner, and against odds. They blasted Hitler's hopes of a six-week victory and have at least made it clear that Hitler must fight another major offensive and keep millions of his best troops in action against a foe they hoped to dispose of before the end of 1941.

Complicates Hitler's Plans

This has seriously complicated Hitler's calculations and put the first grave dent in his plans.

As early as last September, when the Russians "stupidly" insisted on fighting, as the Wilhelmstrasse said, Hitler's prepared to house his main army in Russia and shield it against winter dangers. All available carpenters in the Reich were sent to Russia to build winter barracks and a million Russian prisoners were put to work. By October the German army is supposed to have been all set for the winter.

Furthermore, in advancing during the summer into Russia, the German military prided itself on telling and showing everybody that they had no desire to rush headlong deep into Russia. They focused their tactical efforts on drawing the Russians into huge traps and hammering them to pieces. Stage by stage they would advance inland, but not until roads, railways, bridges and all communication and supply lines in the rear had been moved in and were functioning almost up to the firing front.

This was true clear to the regions west of Moscow, so that a solid line of communication exists behind a concrete winter line where the bulk of the German army sits.

The important test will come when and if the Russians, in rolling up those "horns" which Hitler unwisely pushed out into Russia, comes into contact with that line.

Propaganda Tactics

I have seen a number of dispatches suggesting that Propaganda Minister Goebbels is painting a dark picture of the situation in Russia for the German people. It has all the earmarks of propaganda. The Nazis use such tactics to scare their people into contributing their last mark or piece of clothing for victory, and brings home to them that the war may yet last a long, long time.

Then, with Hitler having designated himself in melodramatic style as active commander-in-chief of the armies, and if he were able in the spring of the year to open a new, big and successful counter-offensive against the Russians, it would be sure-fire stuff for morale and the fuehrer again would be a demi-god and a hero.

The Nazis could shout loudly from the roof-top that their enemies had been fooled again. The stunt worked before. It probably would work another time.

But obviously it won't work and won't have a chance to work if Stalin can keep his armies thrusting constantly westward and reaches a point of might and power enabling him to thrust through the Smolensk line.

Once that is done, we can talk about the rout of the German army. But for the meantime, it is better just to credit the Russians for a wonderful comeback and trust in their leadership and our supplies to transmute it into a victory.

FIREMEN TO RESCUE

Bonnie had a nickel, however, and so she called the fire department. The chief himself picked the lock for her.

Dutch East Indies Urge U. S. To Aid

To Seek American Aerial Reinforcements In Far East Battle

REPRESENTATIVE IS AT WASHINGTON

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Responsible quarters in Washington today disclosed that Hubertus Van Mook, lieutenant governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, will deliver to President Roosevelt within the next few days an urgent appeal for strong American aerial reinforcements to prevent Japan from gaining control of the Southern Pacific.

Van Mook came to Washington on a special mission to give the president a first-hand picture of the situation in the Southern Pacific and to emphasize the importance of holding control of that area at all costs.

Van Mook's mission is understood to have been prompted by fears that Great Britain has persuaded the United States to devote more attention to the European theater of operations than to the Pacific.

Deeply Concerned

The Netherlands East Indies, Australia, and China are known to be deeply concerned over reports that Prime Minister Winston Churchill talked the president into agreeing that the major war effort should be concentrated on defeating Hitler in Europe rather than attempting to knock Japan out of the war in the Pacific.

Advices received in Washington indicate the impression prevails widely in those countries that the main purpose of Churchill's visit to this country was to prevent the United States from forgetting that Hitler remains the chief menace.

The recent public statements of Secretary of the Navy Knox that the American fleet must remain on the defensive in the Pacific for some time to come, and that defeat of Hitler remains the first objective, has led authorities in the Netherlands East Indies, Australia, and China to believe that Churchill completely won his point.

Should Check Japan

While appreciating the fact that Hitler is the chief menace, nevertheless the Dutch, Australians and Chinese are understood to feel that checking Japan in the Southern Pacific should be the immediate objective of the United Nations' war effort.

Japanese control of the Southern Pacific would, in the opinion of the authorities in those three countries, involve the following grave consequences for the United Nations:

1—Enable the Japanese fleet to move into the Indian Ocean, thus menacing the main route for American war supplies to China and the British forces in the Mediterranean.

2—Pave the way for a juncture between the Japanese and Nazi forces;

3—Directly menace Australia;

4—Give Japan access to the raw materials needed for a long war.

The Dutch believe that the strategy of Japan's present operations against the Netherlands East Indies is directed at forcing a backdoor entry into the Indian Ocean.

PLUGGING IN ELECTRIC RADIATOR.

Those who feel warmer when they hear the faint hissing of a steam radiator can now purchase a portable electric steam rediator that can be carried "by a woman" from room to room and plugged into any wall socket. Another new heating device is asserted to convert "cheap kerosene" into the newly announced dortane gas. It is said to be adapted especially for installation in coal and wood stoves and furnaces in remote areas that are not yet served by gas mains.

There are over 10,000,000 people in Canada.

"Taking the right of way" caused more injuries than any other factor involved in American traffic accidents in 1940. Approximately 235,700 persons were hurt in accidents under that cause.

Individuals Should Get Out Of Debt Now Is Babson's Advice

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 16.—The recent report of the Committee on Non-essential Expenditures headed by Senator Byrd is a step in the right direction. This committee has recommended slashes in non-defense governmental expenditures which could result in savings totaling $1,716,965,061 during the coming fiscal year beginning July 1, 1942. In all probability the committee's suggestions not will be adopted in toto. There is, however, considerable sympathy in official Washington toward many of the suggestions. Unquestionably, substantial savings will be made in farm aid, public works, W. P. A., C. C. C. and N. Y. A. expenditures as was indicated in the president's budget message.

BABSON

The Federal Debt

Even if a great part of the abovementioned sum is withdrawn from non-defense measures it will not have much effect upon the national debt. Savings will undoubtedly be transferred to the armament program. Here at least continued expenditures are absolutely necessary and will be of more immediate practical value. In a fighting war, it is essential that national expenditures rise to a maximum for offensive action and that other expenditures be kept to a minimum.

Those who have reduced their debt need not now be concerned over the national debt though I expect it to be over $75 billion by the end of the year. Expenditures for direct and indirect individual Federal aid for the past six months of the current fiscal years alone have reached a total of $1,080,000,000 compared with $1,560,000,000 for the six months of the previous year. While there have been a great many complaints yet, in time of dire distress, this money serves a most useful purpose. It took men off the streets who might have become a great social menace and helped many needy farmers.

Expenditures Justified

I do not regret the increase in taxes that my share of our social program has cost. Many persons are too quick to forget the angry cry against unemployment, poor housing, low standards of living and other defects in our social structure. Mr. Roosevelt did not make these bad conditions, although they were the rising tide which lifted him to the presidency. Unfortunately, in spite of his magnificent handling of our foreign policy, his very success with our domestic economy may in the end react to his disadvantage and wash him out of office.

I do not regret the national cost of agricultural aid, of National Youth Administration, or of the building of public works and federal highways. Certainly, however, the condition of the farmers is now temporarily improved. We can well do without public works although I favor highways. Furthermore, the majority of the young men now in C. C. camps and helped by the N. Y. A. as well as the older group working for the W. P. A. will, in the next draft call, be allocated to some form of active army service or to armament production.

Private Debt

I have said before in this column that while national debt has risen, yet the private and public debt of many individuals, corporations, municipalities and states has declined. This is another reason why I have not become greatly concerned by the increase in the national debt especially in the case of those who have reduced their corporate or personal debt proportionately. Profits have helped many companies to cut their loans. The rise in engineering construction and residential building has increased local tax receipts. Municipalities, as a whole, are in a much sounder financial position than they were a few years ago. The rise in both commercial and savings bank deposits, in the purchase of life insurance and defense bonds shows that many individuals are getting out of debt. Are you—my reader—one of these lucky ones?

In this category, the government itself is setting a good example in not making these bonds negotiable. Defense bonds are being paid for in cash, which, in effect, is transferring one form of savings account to antoher form. Their purchase by invidiuals, trustees, associations and corporations is certainly not increasing our personal debt. In its tax-anticipatory notes, the government is also encouraging individual and corporate savings against future expenditures. This is helping you to establish a "pay-as-you-go" program which I beg of you to do.

Suggestions For the Individual

Debt has probably caused more misery than any other single factor in our daily individual lives. The high wages and profits of World War I brought about the instalment buying system. This undoubtedly proved a great convenience to countless individuals; but in the main it greatly aggravated the post-war depression. There is a vast difference between a government getaing into debt and an individual getting into debt.

In the first instance, if pressed too far, the government has means of devaluing its money or printing new money. This, of course, works hardship upon many; but at the same time is quite different from personal bankruptcy or "going on the town" which the individual faces when he spends beyond his means.

Conclusions

Instalment buying not only mortgages the individual for months ahead; but at the same time tempts him to buy things for which he has no real need. Certainly one is wise to buy nothing more on instalments until he has fully paid all present obligations. In times like these when wages in some lines are high and payrolls are large, "easy money" goes to the head of many individuals. To such I say with Shakespeare, "Never a borrower not a lender be", and clinch the argument from the Apostle Paul who advised, "Owe no man anything".

Neshannock Firemen Have Dinner Thursday

Spaghetti Dinner Draws Record Crowd At Clenmore School House Thursday Night

Neshannock township firemen aided by the auxiliary served a spakhetti dinner Thursday evening, to a record crowd of upwards of 300 Thursday evening.

Dinner was served from 5:30 until 8 o'clock, and it was with regret the crowd exceeded the expectations of those in charge. The organization will in the near future give a repeat dinner, when all will be served on schedule, as additional facilities and room will be provided.

Fred Moser was chairman, and was assisted by co-firemen and the ladies. The spaghetti was prepared by Mrs. Andy Masters of Mahoningtown. All proceeds will be used toward new fire equipment. Last night's affair was an overwhelming success.

CUTTING PROLONGS BLOOMING

Annual plants have a life cycle of from seed to seed in one year. You can utilize this fact to prolong the normal blooming season. Just continually remove spent blooms so the plant cannot go to seed. Often recurrent blooms can thus be induced over at least two seasons. You also get more cut flowers for the home this way, a double advantage particularly enjoyed with long-stemmed flowers. If you prefer the blooms for garden effect just remove the spent flowers.

Tiny French-Owned Fishing Colonies Off Newfoundland Have Had Unique History

By ROBERT W. KIRBY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The two small islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon—tiny little fishing colonies which are only remembered for their prohibition bootlegging—are suddenly becoming significant outposts due to their occupation by the Free French forces on last Christmas eve.

Lying only 15 miles from the nearest shores of southern Newfoundland, they are all that remain of the once far-flung French possession in North America, a bulletin from the National Geographic Society points out.

Ricky and fog bound, the little islands are separated by a channel four miles wide.

Of the 4,200 French speaking inhabitants of the colony, 3,400 live in the town of St. Pierre on the east side of that island. St. Pierre reflects its up-and-down fortune since the first World War. Primarily a fishing community, the colony was hard hit by the post-war decline in the codfish market.

Active In Prohibition Era.

Then, with the advent of prohibition in the states, the merchants directed their energies in another direction. They imported choice beverages from France and sold them to customers who sailed right into port. With profits they realized from thi sventure, the inhabitants of the island which comprise about 90 square miles, built long harbor breakwaters, water supply reservoirs, concrete warehouses, and two macadamized roads.

In the years just before France fell under the Nazis boot in June, 1940, the fisheries so declined that subsidies from the homeland were necessary. Now that contact with France is cut off, the islands are almost completely dependent on Canada and the United States.

St. Pierre and Miquelon are no poet's dream of paradise. The only trees on the islands are dwarfed spruce and juniper, generally only waist-high, and although the surrounding hills are green, the soil is so thin that pasturage for cattle is very scant. On southern St. Pierre are found a few small farms and gardens, but produce here is limited. Fishing for cod in the local waters and on the Newfoundland Grand Banks, plus a little trading, are the only industries.

Winter temperatures rarely drop below zero, but the August high is only about 60 degrees. Because of the strong winds, berets are the adopted headgear.

There is a touch of old France in the town of St. Pierre. The shops, although unimpressive with their drab window displays, offer a wide variety of merchandise. Stocks of kid gloves, perfumes, cosmetics, clothing and liquers are ample enough to satisfy the limited demand.

Gendarmes and customs officials parade the streets in the same uniforms as their brothers in France. Dogs are much in evidence about the islands, and children have trained them to pull cars used to haul wood fagots down from the hills. Coal and oil are expensive items on the islands.

Numerous clapboard houses make a fire hazard of St. Pierre. In 1939 a large fire destroyed three of the town's best blocks, including the only motion picture theater.

On his return from his second voyage in 1536, Jacques Cartier found French fishermen on St. Pierre. The first real settlement was established early in the 17th century. During the wars between the British and French, the colony changed hands time and again. St. Pierre and Miquelon have been under French jurisdiction continuously since 1814.

News Briefs From City Hall

Attaches of the mayor's private office are in no way connected with the distribution nor settlement of tags for violation of parking meters, and persons who received the tags should not vent their spleen at the attaches. Their duty is to mail out orders given by His Honor, and traffic court is the place where the justice of whether or not an autoist deserved a tag is determined, it was reported today. During the first 15 days of January more than 200 persons have paid fines for parking violations. Some who had legitimate excuses were exempted.

Twenty-six years ago tonight two young men joined the police force. After having been sworn into office by the late Mayor A. D. Newell, badges were attached to their long blue coats, they were given a nightstick and a book of police regulations. Today they are city detectives, namely John Young and John Moore. During the 25 years they have many times worked on difficult cases and brought them to a successful prosecution.

Detective John Young and Police Cruiser Operator Harry Flinner late Thursday arrested Edward Frizzell, colored, Monessen, on a telegraphic warrant in which he is charged with non-support. He was incarcerated pending the arrival of police to return him to that place.

Someone entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Fleckenstein, 110 West Garfield avenue, while the occupants were absent last night. However, an investigation showed nothing was stolen, according to detectives.

Charles Davidson, 17, of 620 Taylor street, was reported missing last night, according to a report made to police headquarters.

Richard Mauldin, 931½ Moravia street, reported to police headquarters today that his Firestone black and white bicycle, which has a dinged fender, was stolen.

Ralph Staph today was granted by the city bureau of building a permit to construct a dwelling at a cost of $4,800, and a garage at a cost of $1,600, at 1033 Butler avenue.

Tool And Die Worker Held

Detroit Workman Arrested By FBI For Displaying New Secret Fuse

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 16—The FBI arrested a tool and die worker today and accused him of displaying an elaborately guarded secret trench mortar fuse to his friends and in public places.

The worker was Jerry Cormier, 50, and he was held on a formal charge of theft of federal property, in a formal statement, John S. Bugas, FBI Chief in Detroit, said:

"The fuse is a new departure in armament construction and the government went to elaborate extremes in keeping it a secret," Bugas said.

"Yet this man took a fuse from the plant despite the fact he had been officially sworn to secrecy and demonstrated it to his friends and even to strangers in a restaurant and other places.

"In the wrong hands the fuse could have been easily transformed into a bomb.

"This man's sole excuse for his vicious carelessness is that he wanted his friends to know what he was working on."

Bugas said the man admitted displaying the fuse. The offense, upon conviction, carries a penalty of a year in prison.

Ellwood Boro Tax To Remain 7½ Mills

Ellwood Council Meets To Adopt Tentative Budget For Present Year

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—In this day of soaring prices, good news to the Ellwood City Boro tax payers will be the action taken by the Ellwood council in special session last night tentatively adopting the 1942 budget, which is based on a tax rate of 7½ mills, the same as the millage for the past two years.

Total estimated expenditures are listed at $277,934, and total estimated receipts at $279,329. The only new expenditures listed in the budget are $3,000 for a traffic signal system maintainence (possible mandatory erection of four-way traffic lights) and $3,540 for the purchase of a radio call system.

Later in the meeting, council agreed to buy the police equipment, (radio system and new car) from the low bidders, which was the Gray Bar Electric company (Western Electric) with whatever added cost may be asked since the bid was offered last year. Boro manager Monroe said he believed the boro could secure a new car as a governmental unit.

It was also agreed by verbal action to include the purchase of a limestone crusher in the budget. The amount would be something like a thousand dollars. Harry Caplan objected to the tax rate, stating that it was too low to make any boro improvements.

The Matthews Conveyor company was given the power to vacate Tenth street between Factory avenue and the P. & L. E. R. R. The company wishes to erect a seven-foot wire fence about their plant.

A request of Fire Chief C. V. Rodgers that the assistant chief, Arthur Duncan, be placed on a salary basis of $10 per month was approved. Councilman Boyd refused to vote. It was pointed out that Duncan as a volunteer firemen was paid $88 last year, and placing him on a salary basis would enable him to be in charge of the department at any time when the chief is absent.

Carl Davidson was named to serve as a member of the police commission filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Luck. The names of Randall Luke and William McGlincy were submitted by the police committee and Davidson, who received five votes, was nominated by Joe McCandless.

Council voted to accept the formal offer of $29,000 from the federal works agency toward the building of a sewage disposal plant. After much discussion it was agreed to "ear mark" the money, so it would be available if council should decide to make the improvement. It was pointed out that it would be necessary to place the matter before the voters, and that couldn't be done until late this year. To build the plant, it would be necessary to float a $100,000 bond issue, and Meneice maintained that the people would not vote for it. The present bonded indebtedness of the boro is approximately $160,000, about half of which was for the new city building. The assessed valuation of the boro is about six and one-half million dollars.

Mr. Monroe said in answer to what the penalty of refusal would be that the state health department had the authority to come in and build the plant themselves and charge it to the boro, if the council refused to have a new plant built. The state department has been demanding the improvement of the plant for the past three years.

Ambridge To Play At Ellwood Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—A treat is in store for basketball fans tonight when the Ambridge high school basketeers will appear at Lincoln court for a sectional game with the Ellwood high team. Ambridge annually produces one of the best teams in the section.

Coach Croft believes that they are not quite as strong as in past years, judging by the fact that they were defeated by Monaca high, but he expects one of the hardest games of the year. Ellwood is improving, showing better shooting form and a steadier floor game, he believes.

A change will be made in tonight's starting lineup due to the fact that the two centers will not be available. Daubenspeck has a sprained ankle and Clark is ill with the grip. He has revamped the starting lineup as follows: Tammaro and Greco, forwards; Vitkovich, center, and Sekulski and Dan, guards. Tammaro will graduate with the mid-semester class.

The Ellwood reserves will also play tonight with the first game to begin at 7:15.

ALLIANCE CHURCH SPECIAL SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—The Annual Missionary Convention will open Sunday morning at 9:45 at the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian Missionary Alliance, 411 Bell Avenue, with Miss Beth Severn speaking and showing her curios. She is a returned Missionary from Congo, Africa. She will also speak at the Morning Worship at 10.50.

At 7:30 p. m. Rev. A. L. Hammond from French-Indo China will speak and having recently returned from this field, his information will be enlightening and up-to-date. Monday throughout Wednesday night at 7:30 these Missionaries will be heard and the Home Workers will bring a short Gospel Message. Our Home Worker this year is Rev John A. Somerville, an experienced pastor-evangelist

Grange Presented With Altar Rug

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—When members of the Pleasant Hill grange assembled last evening at the hall, on the Portersville road, they were pleased to be presented with an altar rug, bearing the grange emblem, by Francis Boak.

William Walton and Charles Mehard reported the activities of the national grange meeting held at Worcester, Miss. Ray Marshall and Howard Aiken, who attended the state grange meeting at Uniontown, gave a review of the various sessions. Phyliss Boots offered a piano solo.

At the same time, the children of the grange held their initial meeting in charge of the juvenile matrons, Mrs. Ray Marshall and Mrs. Harvey Hazen. Games, contests and a study of birds were featured.

Thursday, January 29, is the time of the next meeting.

Steel Official Is Rotary Speaker

C. R. Cox, Vice President Of National Tube Company, Talks On Emergency

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Vice president of the National Tube company, Charles R. Cox, of Pittsburgh, and former superintendent of the Ellwood plant, was the guest speaker of the Rotary club meeting last night at the Presbyterian church dining room.

Mr. Cox spoke on the present war emergency and said that this war is not a contest between countries but a contest between the production capacities of the countries, and it will be won in the workshop. The key to victory is trained men and production of materials, Cox said. He paid tribute to the defense class that has been conducted in the college for their worth in theory but pointed out that results will be obatined only when the men have had real experience in the mills.

Visitors at the meeting were Harold McCulloch and Forbes Burdette of New Castle, H. C. Lloyd of Emporium, Elmer Sanders of Pittsburgh and George Webster, Willard Fletcher, Robert Balderson, Paul Flautz, Harold Miller, Thomas Graham, E. R. Downing of the Tube mill and R. J. Schill.

Howells Funeral Largely Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—At the residence in Orchard avenue, funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon for Edward H. Howells, who died suddenly on Monday morning following a heart attack.

Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, conducted the sad services, which were largely attended, a number of friends coming from Detroit, Canton, Cumberland and West Newton. Many lovely flowers evidenced the affection of which he was held. During the rites, Mrs. C. S. Watterson and Mrs. Samuel Mullin sang a duet, "In The Garden."

Interment was made in the Locust Grove cemetery with pallbearers being: Clyde Houk, Samuel Stillwagon, Spurgeon E. Elder, Dewey Cunningham, Earl Scheidemantle and William Weiskoph.

Arkwright Baby Buried Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—Funeral services for James Norman Arkwright, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Arkwright, Ellwood-Zelienople road, who died on Thursday afternoon at the Beaver Valley General hospital following an operation, were held on Thursday afternoon from the home of its maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Welling, Crescent avenue.

Rev. Paul Trimpey, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducted the sad rites during which Miss Jean Carson sang "Suffer The Little Children To Come Unto Me."

Five uncles of the child, Robert and Norman Welling, Gaylor Arkwright, Wallace Marburger and Frederick McCullough, served as pallbearers with interment being made in Locust Grove cemetery.

MRS. L. W. MONROE IS CLASS HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Lowell W. Monroe was a pleasing hostess to members of the First Christian church Willing Workers class last evening at her home, in Pershing street, Ewing Park.

During the meeting, a gift of ten dollars was voted to the Red Cross. Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Chapman were special guests. After a period of games, Mrs. Herman Patton aided in serving a tasty lunch.

On Thursday, February 12, Mrs. C. A. McCurdy, Ellwood-New Brighton road, will entertain.

I. O. O. F. Lodge Marks Birthday Of Thos. Wildey

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—Honoring the birthday anniversary of Thomas Wildey, founder of the I. O. O. F. Lodge in America, the local organization gathered last night at Schweiger hall for a special program, which was directed by C. C. Denniston.

Mr. Denniston had various members exemplify the secret works of the order and Lawrence Rabberman, Leo Maskrey and Walton Moon presented a play.

It was decided to have the annual roll call of the lodge and the Rebekah Auxiliary on Thursday evening, February 5, with G. C. Denniston in charge of the program. A card and bingo party for the near future was planned.

The attendance was the largest in a long time and after the meeting appetizing refreshments were served by Ed. Christie and Howard Jones. A regular meeting will be held next Thursday at 7:30 o'clock.

Elks Fete Women At Lovely Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—Wives, mothers, sisters and girl friends of members of the Ellwood Elks Lodge, who have aided with the club's social activities, during the past year were feted at a lovely dinner last evening at the club house, in Crescent avenue.

One hundred and seventy-five guests participated and were served a delicious chicken dinner at long tables decorated with pine and candles.

The dinner menu was prepared by Walter Hofman and Mike Kraynack and they were aided by a large committee in preparing and serving the dinner.

Exalted ruler, Joseph Eckert, offered the welcome greetings and dinner music was played by Robert Garity. Morris Phelps led the invocation and led group singing. Each of the guests was presented with a beautiful handkerchief.

Cards and other entertainment were enjoyed with the attractive awards going to Mrs. Rodamacher, Mrs. Homer Garwig, Mrs. Morris Phelps, Mrs. H. J. Myers and Mrs. Afred McLoaughlin, and others.

Frank Polcaro and members of the entertainment committee were in charge of the successful arrangements.

Milk Dealers Discuss Problems

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16—The Milk Dealers Association met last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. President Ed. Smith presided over the business session. After considerable discussion over persons bringing milk into the city without a state health permit, it was unanimously agreed to report such violators of the state milk control laws to Dr. Shaw of the State Health Department at Harrisburg.

It was also brought out by local dealers that bootleg milk is being brought into Ellwood City at night to certain known homes in Ellwood City where it is bottled and sold. Local citizens are warned that such milk is susceptible to certain cattle diseases and purchase of such milk should be discouraged by persons refusing purchase of such milk. Every store and legitimate milk dealer pays heavy fees to have their establishments thoroughly inspected and examined by the state and local health inspector.

A discussion was also held on the effect of the tire rationing program on the local milk dealers and what could be done to save tires during this emergency.

Honor Students Announced Today

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Aveeal Adams, daughter of Mrs. Charles Adams, Glen avenue, and Beverly Groden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Groden, Pittsburgh Circle, will be the valedictorian and salutatorian of the Lincoln high school senior class to be graduated on Tuesday evening, it was announced today.

Motor Stamps Go On Sale At Post Office

Window To Remain Open Saturday Afternoon To Accommodate Car Owners

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—The new Federal Motor Vehicle Use Tax stamps went on sale this morning at the Ellwood City post office.

Five thousand stamps were sent to the Ellwood post office, according to Post Master, Thomas Wilson.

The stamps will be sold at the regular stamp window for $2.09, and in case of a rush, a special window will be opened. Postmaster Wilson has also arranged to have the stamp window remain open on Saturday afternoon. Ordinarily the windows are closed at 12:30 on Saturday.

All motorists must buy the stamps by February 1. No identification or registration cards are necessary to buy the stamps.

Dinner Meeting Of Senior Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Centered about an attractive patriotic motif, the senior class dinner of the Ellwood high school January graduating class took place last evening at the First Baptist church dining room and was completely enjoyable.

The affair, of which Thresa Mantz was general chairman, was attended by members of the class, the faculty and board of education.

The following program was presented and most enjoyed: toastmaster, Herbert Kraus; toast to the girls, Jack Conway; toast to the boys, Katherine Segedi; solo, Jack Marion; toast to the faculty, John Moyer; response, Gerald Newton; solo, Richard McCarter; magician stunts by "Paddy", Butler high school student; class donors, and the group singing, led by Paul Winters.

Today the class will have their final assembly program, with the class sponsor, H. F. Wilson, in charge.

Class Of '32 Has Enjoyable Reunion

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Ten years from the day they received their diplomas from the Ellwood City high school, the January class of 1932 gathered last evening at Zellenople for a class reunion, which was very well attended and most enjoyable.

After the invocation by Chester Wilson, each person was introduced and the whereabouts of all absent members was announced. Robert Infield read the class prophecy, which provided much amusement, and David Aiken accompanied by Miss Marie Marion sang two lovely solos. Cards and various games provided diversion for the remainder of the pleasant affair.

Credit for the successful affair goes to General Chairman Robert T. Jones, and he was aided by Robert Infield, Cecil Barlow, Hugh Tomb, Chester Wilson, Fred Iseman, James Gaskell, James Van Gorder, Mary Smith, Lillian Wilson, Ruth Mayne and Rose Cearfoss.

Motorists Are Urged To Heed A Few Simple Rules For Winter Care Of Auto

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Ways of assuring dependable service and avoiding needless expense are presented in a series of timely suggestions on winter care of the car, issued recently by the California State Automobile Association.

The motorists organization offers the suggestion as part of a "war on waste" program being carried on by all A. A. A. clubs in the United States. Purpose is to promote economies in car operation which will help motorists to meet the financial demands of the war effort, and to conserve metals and other materials.

Covering points of automobile care and operation under winter driving conditions, the suggestions follow:

Cold weather means harder starting. Earlier darkness means greater use of lights. Both cause increased drain on the battery. Hence the battery should be checked frequently and kept in first class condition.

Check Ignition Sparks

Check ignition sparks for leakage or other defects. Faulty ignition reduces motor efficiency and increases the chance of short circuits in wet weather. Keep parts free of grease, which tends to hold moisture. Do not leave the car standing in rain or heavy fog for long periods; avoid driving fast through puddles or other accumulations of water. Such practices may cause short circuits.

Keep the brakes adjusted, because unequal brakes may cause skidding, especially on wet roadway surfaces.

Headlights should have good bulbs and clean reflectors to give the maximum efficiency so important for winter driving. Tail lights also should be in perfect condition.

Examine tire treads. If worn smooth, replace or have retreaded. Patch or fill cracks and cuts to protect against water. Keep tires properly inflated and check wheel alignment to prevent needless tire wear.

Windshield wiper blades and operating mechanism should be tested. Deteriorated blades should be replaced.

Change to Winter Oil

Change to the grades of lubricants recommended for winter by the car manufacturer.

Take tire chains on trips into higher altitudes where snow or ice may be encountered, and also when unpaved roads are to be used.

Completely drain the cooling system if the car is to be left standing long in freezing weather, to avoid a burst radiator or cracked motor block.

Learn the location of drain cocks; usually there are two of them, and both should be opened for draining.

Warm up the motor at idling speed for a few minutes before starting out in cold weather. Remember that cold retards circulation of oil and speeding up the motor too quickly may cause serious damage.

Delivery Of New 60-Ton Tanks To Army Has Begun

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Coincidentally with the Japanese war declaration against the United States, the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia formally delivered the army's first 60-ton tank to Uncle Sam.

With the newspaper splashing headlines of the Nipponese challenge, the formal presentation of the tank attracted little notice and Secretary of War Stimson and other high-ranking army officials were detained in Washington by the crisis.

But the brief display of the giant's powers and adaptability convinced the spectators that here was a colossus that might well play a vital role in America's battle with the aggressor nations.

The tank glided easily over soft and bumpy terrain, steel treads carrying it wherever the test pilot directed without a pause.

Next the tank crashed a telegraph pole like a match-stick—then, a group of poles spread fan-wise in its path. Likewise a dummy "jeep" car and a fort scattered like tinder before the mechanized giant.

Lieut. Charles D. Madary of the Philadelphia Ordnance district, remarked simply: "This new monster is regarded by military experts as the most deadly of all tanks."

Large Crowd To Attend Banquet

Over 725 Tickets Are Sold For Truckers Banquet Here Saturday Night

With 725 tickets already sold and a number not accounted for, the ticket sale for the fourth annual safety banquet of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association to be held Saturday night, was shut off today at noon. The demand for tickets has exceeded all expectations of the chapter officials and will be one of the largest banquets ever put on by any one chapter of the P.M.T.A. in the state.

Ticket reservations have come in from Pittsburgh, Butler, Sharon, Oil City, Franklin, Erie, Clarion and a number of other points. General Chairman Harry L. Gormley is busy today determining just how many more than 725 tickets have been sold. Checking with him is the chairman of the ticket sales committee, William O. Mooney.

William A. Francis is the toastmaster of the dinner Saturday night in The Cathedral and the principal speaker will be Ted V. Rogers, president of the American Trucking Association and a member of several national transportation committees appointed by President Roosevelt for the war emergency.

A one hour vaudeville show will follow the speaking program. During the afternoon from one thirty until six o'clock a display of trucks and auto accessories and diversified lines will be shown in the ballroom of The Cathedral. This display is open to the public.

RICH HILL

A number of the Frank Edie family have been ill this past week.

W. P. Kirk is recovering from a sudden illness at the home of his son, Scott Kirk.

Rev. Miller is conducting a class in Bible Instruction every Thursday P.M. at the Hickory Heights school.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jamison and family are living at the home of Mrs. Jamison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edie.

Miss Opal Grimm was rushed to the hospital one evening recently, where an emergency appendectomy was performed. Her condition is serious, but it is hoped her recovery will be rapid.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knight entertained at a six o'clock dinner on Thursday evening in honor of their daughter Maxine's first birthday. Covers were laid for nine. The birthday cake was baked by Maxine's aunt, Mrs. Harold Ward.

Betty Edwards, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edwards, was seriously hurt, when she was struck by a car, as she crossed the highway in front of her home, after dismounting from the school bus. No bones were broken, and she is recovering nicely.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet for its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. King McCreary, on Wednesday, January 21. The day will be spent in sewing for the Red Cross, with a tureen dinner at noon. The program will be in charge of Mrs. M. R. Booher. All women of the church are urged to attend.

The Young Married Peoples class held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Womer, at Fayette.. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Willis Shellenberger. The evening was spent in playing games and stunts. At a late hour, lunch was served by the hostess and her aides.

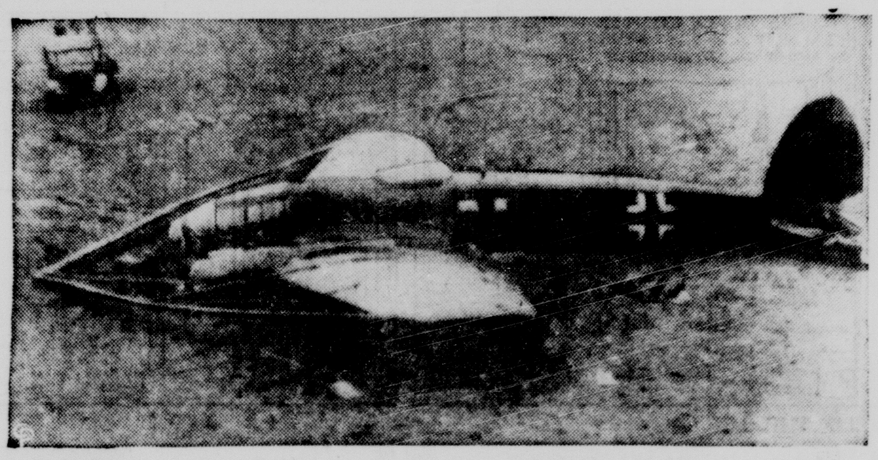
SUNSHINE KENSINGTON

Sunshine Kensington met recently with Mrs. Ethel Brown, Shadyside. Officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. Katherine Engs.

Evening hours were spent socially with embroidery work as the pastime. Special guests were Mrs. Carrie Ferguson, Mrs. Ethel Wall, Mrs. Hazel Brown and Mrs. Marie Crunkleton. The hostess, assisted by Alice Taylor and Herbert Taylor, served refreshments.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Sally Watkins, West North street.

Nazi Bombers Now Equipped With "Bumpers"



Pictured above is a German Heinkel bomber, shot down somewhere in England, that is equipped with a "bumper" stretching from wingtip to wingtip across the front of the plane. The "bumper" is designed to make the bomber bounce off a barrage balloon cable instead of becoming entangled in it. The disadvantages, however, are that the plane is thrown out of control momentarily and the balance of the ship is upset.

Military Expert Asserts Singapore Will Not Fall

(Editor's note: Field Marshal Lord Ironside, former chief of the British imperial general staff, says in the following special article written for International News Service that, although prophecy in wartime is unprofitable, he does not believe Singapore will fall.)

By FIELD MARSHAL LORD IRONSIDE

Written Especially For International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 16.—While it is impossible to lay down with certainty what is underlying the strategy of the two combatants on the Russian front we can judge the situation from the human point of view. We are not represented upon either side by district observers and must judge largely by results.

The Russians are continuing their advance upon most sectors. They are bustling the Germans badly. They are capturing much material and killing many of the enemy, for there is little report of prisoners taken. The fighting undoubtedly is fierce, especially the house to house encounters which are taking place.

Cutting Germans Off

In intense cold the defender in the house gains the advantage of cover and warmth for his automatic weapons, but in such bare country as Russia, and upon such extended fronts, once the defender sits down to fight in some inhabited area he can quickly be enveloped and cut off. And this is what the Russians are doing to the Germans.

The Germans long ago must have settled upon a line of defensive areas behind their present line where they will stop the Russians by the April thaw. But the German difficulty is not in choosing such a line but retiring to it in an orderly withdrawal.

The Russians are superior to the Germans in winter fighting. They are better clothed and better fed. Their morale is high while that of the Germans is low.

The Russians maintain that the Nazi machine is broken and they intend to give them no rest. We may be sure the German retreat was one of necessity, the reason being supply difficulties.

Renewal Doubtful

There is no question of "Reculer pour mieux sauter," or of luring on the Russians to extend their communications. Loss to the Germans of Crimea and Kharkov, perhaps even Kiev and Smolensk, with the liberation of Leningrad and capture of Petsamo in the north seem well within the power of the Russians. Such a victory for the Russians certainly would make any renewal of a German offensive in the spring a doubtful probability.

The position at Singapore is becoming more serious. British troops have been driven back to within 130 miles of their base. So far we have been greatly outnumbered in men—most important in jungle fighting—and in the air. Steadily reinforcements are coming in and there is no need to cry out that the base has gone.

U. S. Resistance Factor

Naval bases in England, at similar distances from German airdromes, stood up under the situation. Every day gained will improve our position. A delay is afforded by the stubborn resistance of United States troops in the Philippines, containing a large number of Japanese forces and preventing them from coming farther west. The new Allied command now is in action in the Dutch East Indies and we may be assured of a unified direction of affairs which has so far been lacking.

Prophecy in war-time is unprofitable, but I do not believe Singapore will fall.

No Letup

There are many reports of unrest throughout Germany. How are we to judge their accuracy? One thing should be certain—accurate or not there must be no let-up in our efforts to cross the Nazis. Whatever the German people may think, they know they will rise or fall with Hitler. They therefore will stick to their leaders till their army is beaten.

The question of the army is a different one. In the end it is the fighting rank and file that keeps it going. If men do not fight no leader can win victory. Now the German army must be disillusioned. By the length of the war, by their losses in Russia without a much promised victory, by their obvious administrative failure in Russia to provde proper clothing and food and by the condition of their homes—to which they never get leave as our men do.

Henderson Opposes Any Tire Exemption For Taxicabs Now

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today warned Congress that if normal rubber consumption is allowed to continue this country will have only enough rubber to last seven months and tires for three months.

The statement was made before the House District of Columbia Committee where Henderson vigorously opposed a suggestion that taxicabs be exempted from the order prohibiting the sale of tires to non-military consumers.

In view of the normal consumption figures, Henderson said it would be "criminal negligence" to permit any except absolutely essential users to have rubber. Taxis, he declared, are not essential users.

Two Farm Leaders Register Protest

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — Two farm leaders telegraphed President Roosevelt today denouncing the Senate version of the price control bill, asserting that it was placing a great majority of farmers "in a false light."

James B. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, and M. W. Thatcher, head of the National Grain Cooperatives, sent a message from St. Paul that the Senate bill—which Mr. Roosevelt assailed in a recent press conference—seeks price increases on farm commodities "which were never asked for by the farmers."

"Patriotic and unselfish farmers do not now seek personal gain through unduly high prices," Patton and Thatcher wired the President.

"In our statement to Congress we ask only for parity prices both as to floors for surplus commodities and ceilings for those commodities of which we may have a shortage."

Got Dog Tag Yet? Well, Better Hurry!

Deadline Last Midnight Finds 1,600 Of 9,000 Have '42 Licenses

When State Dog Law Investigator Howard E. McLlure utters Doggone after January 20, it will be official and something for dog owners to think about.

Last night's midnight deadline for purchase of 1942 dog licenses at the Court House found over 8,000 canines unlicensed, he said. Yesterday at noon 1,600 obedient owners had visited the court house.

The man charged with the enforcement of anti-dog roaming said: "There are more than 9,000 dogs in the county and only 1,600 have permits now. We'll give everybody until January 20 to procure tags before starting prosecution. But then it starts."

McLure warned all to "keep your dog under control these days".

Japanese Imposing Nazi Terrorism Upon Manila Population

By JAMES R. YOUNG
Author, Lecturer and Far East Expert
Written Expressly for International News Service

The foreigners and Filipinos who were promised peace and freedom from oppression have received the first ultimatum of their washbuckling, sabre rattling militarists who have threatened ten hostages for one Japanese soldier

Manila, the open city, becomes the Paris of the Orient.

The Japanese Himmlers have violated their pledge that the "Filipinos should understand our real intention and should work together to maintain public peace and order in the Philippines."

The arrogant Japs today are imposing on an unarmed population the same vicious edicts that have been used in China for five years.

Use Nazi Pattern

Japanese government, under Nazi control for the past two years, is using the pattern of Naziland's gestapo in the south Pacific.

Electric-charged barbed wire surrounds the internment camps of American business men and their families, teachers, missionaries and local residents.

"Circulation of rumors concerning the Japanese forces" means reprisal by death and torture. In China the Japs shot the Chinese. Never mind the prison camps. Torture them. Toss them into rivers.

"Irrespective of nationality or race" is the order.

Thousands of Jewish refugees from Europe, long suffering and in want, are today the victims of German directed Japanese military police, not only in Manila but in Shanghai where a population of 20,000 Jews is trapped.

One of these nights when no tropic moon is shining, or in a Manila blackout, a drunken Japanese soldier will run into a native Filipino. In his stupor he will blame the poor native. Daylight, and the innocent Filipino will not have been found.

The army of occupation will impose a sentence of "ten influential persons as hostages who live in or about the municipality where the event has occurred."

Terror Is Certain

Reprisals, sabotage, the burning of buildings, the disruption of communicaitons will follow and Manila will be a living hell 24 hours around the bock.

Mania people today are experiencing the terrors of living in Japanese occupied zones. Green-backed currency if flooding the city, opium is easy to get, gambling is flourishing among the military supporters and carpet gabbers who have been the curse of the China coast.

When Japanese reprisals occur in Manila and the news reaches Filipino communities like Sacramento, Calif., there arises the possibility of retaliation. Already shootings have occurred in this area and in Utah. Alien or American born, mob violence will not recognize the status of Japanese.

Senator George Proposes Plan To Force Saving

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate Finance committee, today proposed an "induced savings" and bond buying plan as part of the war finance and tax program, in contrast to Great Britain's "compulsory savings" policy which is backed by some American economists.

The George plan, in brief, would allow both individuals and corporations to defer part of their income tax until after the war, providing they purchase non-interest bearing defense bonds.

By the method, he believes, billions of bonds could be sold to corporations and individuals, thus avoiding bang financing, which is regarded by some as an inflationary threat.

"I will urge the treasury to consider this as a part of the next tax program," George said. "My suggestion is that a limited deferred deduction from net income be granted individual or corporation taxpayers for investing in non-interest bonds, repayable in five annual installments after the war.

"Of course you could not grant reduction from all net income. The deduction might amount to 10 to 20 per cent I have suggested that the deferred tax on the net income be at the highest capital gains tax rate, or 15 per cent.

"This would induce invesemtent out of current earnings in bonds. It would reduce current tax payments somewhat. But we know we must finance the war from both bonds and taxes.

"If bonds are sold to the banks inflation is difficult to control, if they are bought out of prior earnings there is an inflation tendency, but if they are bought out of current earnings there is a definite check on inflation. The plan also would enable the taxpayer to lay up a reserve to be used after the war at a time when we will most need to keep employment up and to minimize the inevitable slump."

The George plan would work this way. A man having a $10,000 net income might be allowed to invest $2,000 in non-interest bearing bonds, deduct this, and pay current income tax on $8,000. When the bonds are redeemed after the war he would pay taxes, probably up to the 15 per cent maximum capital gains tax.

He said other new tax proposals now being considered, include:

A sales tax with every purchaser obtaining a stamp redeemable at 50 per cent face value after the war.

A withholding tax, with bonds payable after the war being issued for part of it.

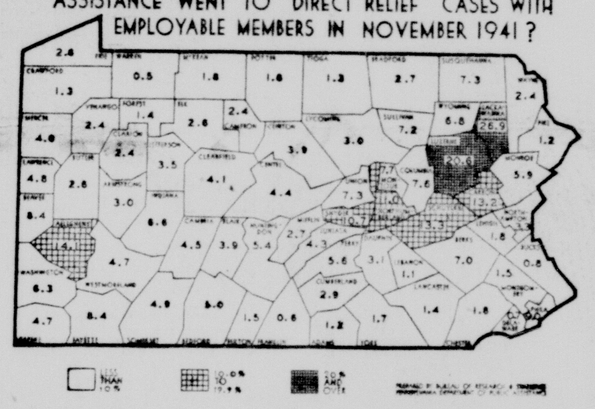
George endorsed Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's statemen' that there is no plan to seize savings of bank depositors.

The treasury, he added, does enforce a provision of law which lays a 50 per cent tax on "hoarding" of corporation profits. The Treasury also has considered taxing earnings of big casualty mutual insurance companies. Ordinary life mutuals already are taxed, he said.

The light reflected by the earth, called earthshine, is equal to more than one dozen full moons.

Relief Here Shows Decrease

WHAT PER CENT OF EXPENDITURES FOR STATE PUBLIC ASSISTANCE WENT TO "DIRECT RELIEF" CASES WITH EMPLOYABLE MEMBERS IN NOVEMBER 1941?



Lawrence county is one of the state's 60 in which less than 10 percent of the county assistance board's November expenditure for grants was needed for general assistance cases including a member classified as employable in some degree.

Executive Director John P. Brinton said the total November grant was $54,36.23, of which $46,407.14 or 86 per cent was for recipients of old age assistance, aid to dependent children blind pensions and the "unemployed" group dependent on general assistance. The balance of $7,963.99 or 14 per cent went to the employable general assistance recipients.

Governor Sets Registration Day

February 16 Is Designated In Line With Proclamation Of President

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—In line with the president's proclamation, Governor Arthur H James today designated February 16 as third registration day during which men between the ages of 20 and 44 must register with their draft boards for military service.

Registrations will take place at the regular offices of the 422 local draft boards in the state between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., the governor stated in an official proclamation. An estimated 750,000 men were expected to register in Pennsylvania.

The 1,245,000 Pennsylvanians between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive who registered on Oct. 16, 1940 and the 63,000 who attained the age of 21 and registered on July 1, 1941 do not have to register again. Those between the ages of 45 and 64 inclusive will register at some later date, as yet undesignated.

The governor declared the day to be "a period of emergency" and ordered all state liquor stores, taprooms and other liquor establishments closed on that day. Employers were urged to give their employes sufficient time in whcih to register.

The registration order applies specifically to male citizens and aliens who reached their 20th birthday on Dec. 31, 1941 and were not 45 years old on Feb. 16, 1942. Aliens may refuse to register, but those who do bar themselves from ever becoming American citizens.

The governor asked that all schools be closed on the day of registration and called on their officials and employes, along with those of the state liquor control board to aid their local draft boards in registering people.

Willkie Presents Plea In Behalf Of Communist

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential candidate, told the Supreme Court in a brief filed today that membership in the Communist party is not a bar to citizenship.

Willkie's statements were made in behalf of William Schneiderman, California Communist, whose naturalization was cancelled on the ground that as a Communist he advocated overthrow of the government by force and violence and thus testified falsely when he said that he would support the Constitution

Schneiderman's case is regarded as a test. Willkie offered to represent him without fee on the ground that a vital question of Civil Liberties is involved.

Schneiderman's naturalization was cancelled by a California Federal Court 13 years after it was granted.

He had admittedly been a member of the Young Communist League, a member of the Communist party and a Secretary of a local party organization.

Two Are Killed In Highway Crash

Four Others Suffer Injuries In New Jersey, Truck Hits Stalled Auto

(International News Service)

ATCO, N. J., Jan. 16.—Two persons were killed and four others were injured today when a large truck crashed into a stalled automobile on the White Horse pike near Atco. Three men who had gotten out of the stalled car and were pushing it along the highway escaped inujry by leaping out of danger

The dead were:

Frank Parks, 71, of Williamstown and Mrs. Edna Tiebold, 35, of Berlin, both of whom were passengers in a car operated by Rocco D'Arcangelo of Cedarbrook who suffered back injuries.

The other injured are Mrs. Helen Pucovic, 43, Berlin; Joseph Dagrossa, 27, of Atlantic City, driver of the truck, and his helper, Russell Baker, also of Atlantic City.

Find Dog Guarding Body Of Master

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Authorities today sought to locate relatives of W. H. Smith of Crowley, La., whose body, guarded by a guant and hungry Spitz dog, was discovered in a room of a hotel where he had registered a week ago.

The dog, snarling and snapping, would not permit police to approach the body until they finally were able to back the dog into a bathroom and close the door. Physicians said the man had been dead for about three days and died probably from natural causes. He was identified by his Social Security card.

Governor James Has Hopes For Session Harmony

Will Ask Legislators To Sidetrack Streamlining Of Parole System

SEE BATTLE ROYAL OVER MOTOR FUNDS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—Gov. Arthur H. James disclosed today that he will ask the special session of the legislature to postpone the effective date of the act which calls for the establishment of a streamlined parole system in Pennsylvania by June 1.

Rep. Samuel M. Rosenfeld (D) Philadelphia, who sponsored the act during the 1941 session, had asked him to request the legislature to extend its provisions, but the governor said he felt that in the present emergency the new system should not be established. The act creates a five-member parole board to supervise it and carries a $400,000 appropriation.

The chief executive disclosed that he had received a request from Sen. John H. Dent (R) Westmoreland to include in the special session call revision of the teachers tenure act to permit increased salaries. He had reached no decision yet, he added.

Hope For Harmony

Governor James said he might ask legislative leaders to agree to a unified program which would permit the General Assembly to transact its work without bickerings. "I'm hopeful that we can pretty well agree on the subjects to be taken up," he said. "If any party uses the session as a springboard for political action, it is going to meet with direct action from the people. The hub of the whole situation is congressional reapportionment."

The governor reiterated that "each community should attempt to carry its own burden—within reasonable limitations"—on expenses that may arise out of the war. "I haven't been able to find out that there has been much of a burden placed upon communities. It's mostly voluntary work." The governor had previously indicated that he would ask the legislature to authorize the diversion of local funds already appropriated for defense purposes.

He also expressed the belief that "there will be a battle royal if anyone attempts to divert motor funds for other than defense purposes".

Tire Rationing In County Saves Rubber For Planes

Quantity Saved In Lawrence County In Month Will Equip 34 Planes

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Enough rubber to equip 34 planes with the precious commodity is being saved this month in Lawrence county through rationing of automobile tires, it is disclosed by figures obtained today at the office for emergency management here. The average plane requires half a ton of rubber.

The local rubber saving, if put to other war-time purposes, would be approximately sufficient for the treads and cushioning of 19 medium (28-ton) tanks, or for self-sealing rubber linings for gas tanks on 27 flying fortresses, or for 18,620 gas masks.

These savings are on tire alone. Lawrence county's quota of 211 tires of all types represents a decrease of 2,321 tires, averaging 14½ pounds of rubber each or a total of 33,700 pounds. In addition, there is a reduction of 1,947 tubes from normal January sales.

As important as steel and as indispensable as aluminum, rubber at present tops the list of strategic materials that are going into the arsenal for America's army and navy, declares the O.E.M. It goes into thousands of items, from rubber bands to pneumatic rafts.

How drastic is the rubber conservation made necessary and set in motion this month is indicated by the fact that in January, 1940, 4,273,638 tires were sold in the United States, while only 356,974 may be sold this month. The February quotas, to be announced about January 20, are expected to be nearly the same.

Grove City Plant To Erect Buildings

Contracts Awarded For Construction Of Additions To Plant

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Jan. 16.—Two new buildings for the Cooper-Bessemer corporation will be erected here at once, it is announced. Contracts have been let to the Austin company of Cleveland, O., totaling $171,000, and permits have been issued by the boro planning commission.

A building costing $150,000 will be erected on company property, east of the Diesel crankshaft shop on Lincoln avenue, now used as a parking lot. The building will occupy almost all of the vacant space between the crankshaft shop and a residence to the east, and will be 140 feet by 280 feet, with five bays. It will be of brick and steel, and will be used for storage of finished materials.

A pattern storage building, 85 by 140 feet, will be erected on East Pine street extension, near the old Bessemer Motor Truck building, now used for pattern storage by the Cooper-Bessemer company.

The Austin company, which erected the welding shop, corner Harvard and Lincoln avenue, two years ago, has 75 days in which to complete the construction of both buildings. Work will be started immediately, and materials are assured through top priorities.

Peak production, 99 per cent on navy orders, has congested the storage facilities of the plant here, and the additional space will be highly important to efficient production.

State Farm Show Will Open Monday

GREATEST SHOW BEING PLANNED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16—The 1942 Pennsylvania Farm Show will open on Monday and continue through Friday, with 500,000 visitors thronging its exhibits, the farm show committee has predicted.

The show was termed the greatest and most extensive agricultural exhibit held in the country. Annual meetings of the principal statewide farm organizations are also held. Every phrase of the represented divisions of agricultural enterprise are discussed at these meetings, it was pointed out, and new developments are analyzed and solutions for many problems offered.

Many Meetings Planned

Among the organizations which will hold their annual meetings are the Future Farmers of America, Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders Association, Federation of Holstein-Friesian Clubs, Holstein-Friesian Registry Association, Inc., Horticultural Association, Livestock Breeders Association, Maple Producers Association, Master Farmers, Milking Shorthorn Society, Nut Growers Association, Cooperative Potato Growers Association, State Poultry Association, Threshermen and Farmers Protective Association, Tobacco Growers Association, Vegetable Growers Association, Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania, Dairymen's Association, Christmas Tree Growers, Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association, State Beekeepers Association, Ayrshire Breeders Association and 4-H Club leaders.

Compilation of the poultry entries show that of the more than 4,000 birds to be displayed for cash prizes, 2,074 are of the large bird class, 1,058 of the bantam class, 103 turkeys, 211 ducks and 94 geese.

Addresses by Gov. Arthur H. James and Secretary of Agricultural John H. Light will mark the formal opening of the show Monday evening.

Lawrence county will be well represented at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show, which opens in the farm show building in Harrisburg on Monday. Local leaders are leaving today and tomorrow to assist in conducting the mammoth exhibit.

In addition to the exhibits and judging contests, there will be a number of meetings of associations representing various branches of farm industry, 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers, the younger farm element.

E. C. Wiggins, county vocational supervisor, who left today, will assist with the Future Farmers program.

The formal opening will take place Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the new arena, with addresses by John H. Light, secretary of agriculture; and Hon. Arthur H. James, Pennsylvania's governor.

The organization has also donated $100 to the American Red Cross.

2,000 ENROLL IN DEFENSE COURSES

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 16.—Over 2,000 Pennsylvania State College students have filed application blanks indicating their desire to enroll in special short courses set up to enable undergraduates to contribute to the nation's war effort.

Prior to the Christmas recess college officials, in response to student requests, listed 50 "civilian defense training" courses which would be offered by the faculty during the remainder of the academic year.

Don'ts Are Issued For Washington

Civilian Defense Office Issues Series Of "Don't" Orders For Citizens

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — In placing the nation's capital on a war time footing, the local civilian defense office issued a series of "don't" orders for citizens to follow in the emergency. The demand for defense protection by worried residents was so great that "don't became more important than "do."

The following advice was given civilians:

DON'T telephone unless absolutely necessary, a deluged telephone company asked. This applies to out-of-town calls as well as local calls.

DON'T telephone the defense council at all, if you can help it. Calls asking questions already answered in local papers kept the office so busy recently identification cards needed for air raid wardens could not be made out and letters could not be answered.

DON'T expect personal aid in finding your air raid warden. Go out and find him, if you missed seeing his name in the paper. There must be someone in your neighborhood who knows.

Avoid War Talk

DON'T talk war before your children, especially at mealtimes.

DON'T believe or spread rumors. Defense officials have promised you will not be subjected to false alarms and that you will be warned effectively and unmistakably when danger approaches.

DON'T destroy your potential efficiency as civilian helper by getting war jitters.

DON'T expect all news to be good. We are at war. Mistakes and accidents are inevitable, some battles may be lost.

DON'T be an enemy agent inadvertently by getting too excited, talking too much and doing little.

DON'T rush into the streets or start telephoning if and when an air raid should come. Unless you are a certified defense helper, your place is under shelter and away from windows.

U. S. Youngsters Develop Right Healthy Appetite

(International News Service)

AMHERST, Mass., Jan. 16—There is nothing wrong with the appetite of the American youngster if figures are right and figures don't lie.

When 115,000 pupils in Massachusetts public and parochial schools can consume about 43 million pounds of food a month, then it seems needless to worry about the nation's program to build healthier people for our defense.

Broken down to the lowest common denominator, the Surplus Marketing Administration, which reaches the more than 115,000 youngsters by the school lunch program, shows that one child eats a little over 373 pounds of food a month, or twelve plus pounds a day.

The food for this school lunch program, says John F. Conaboy, district supervisor for New England, is drawn from huge stock piles now being made available through the food-for-freedom production efforts of Bay Stat farmers and others throughout the nation.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PLAN NOW FOR 1942 HOME GARDEN

Wise gardeners secure their vegetable seeds early. This year it is imperative that seeds be ordered as soon as possible. Due to a partial crop failure and increased export requirements, there is a shortage of some kinds of seeds. Those who wait until planting time often cannot secure their favorite varieties, and may have to take seed of inferior quality and germinating ability.

Carrot and onion seed top the list for scarcity. Most of the other biennial seeds will be scarce late in the season, particularly cauliflower, parsnip, beet lettuce, spinach, pea, broccoli, cabbage, cucumber, rutabaga, celery and kale. There should be no serious shortage of the annuals such as corn, tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and beans.

January is the month when most seedsmen mail their new catalogues. A postcard will bring a copy to those who are not already on the mailing list.

MORE WATER AID TO HIGHER MILK PRODUCTION

If every cow in Lawrence county received all the water she could drink at the time she wanted it, the increase in milk production requested for defense purposes could be easily obtained.

Cows need water in proportion to the amount of milk produced, which amounts to about four pounds of water for each pound of milk. If they do not receive it or if it is cold they cannot drink that amount, then milk production is limited to the amount of water consumed.

There is no question but what drinking cups are the best system of watering where cows are kept in stanchions. Where cows are loose, running water in the shed gives them access to it any time they wish. If cows are turned out to a trough or stream they should be watered twice daily, preferably after feeding in the morning and again after all feed is cleaned up in the evening. Heating water in the trough with a heater or removing the chill by adding hot water will result in the cows drinking more water.

Cows are often limited in the amount of milk they will produce from a given amount of feed because they do not receive enough water. Supplying plenty of water will not only produce extra milk for defense, but will decrease the feed cost of producing each 100 pounds of milk, which in turn is more pdofitable for the dairyman.

REPAIR, ADJUST FARM MACHINERY AT ONCE

Farmers this year face an unprecedented farm machinery situation. New farm machine will be almost impossible to secure because most of the steel will be needed for military requirements. This means that maximum service be obtained from the equipment now in existence.

Results secured by farmers who have applied the information given in the past on machinery repair, adjustment and operation show that farmers have an excellent opportunity in this respect. Farmers have already expressed their desire to learn how their present equipment can be repaired and adjusted in order that its use may be continued. Plans are being made to have farm machinery repair and adjustment meetings in those communities where farmers request assistance.

Materials for the manufacture of repair and replacement parts will be made available in so far as supplies permit. The outlook at present is that there will be sufficient supply of parts to meet the needs if farmers place their orders at once.

The use of farm machines for crop production is seasonal. In the past repairs have been ordered just prior to the time the machine was to be used. This results in a big short-time demand for materials. Indications are that there will not be adequate materials available unless the demand is spread over a long period of time. This spreading can be readily accomplished through ordering now when a delay in securing parts does not interfere with field operations.

WINTER ACTIVITIES VITAL TO 4-H CLUB PROGRAM

Many 4-H Club members in several hundred Pennsylvania communities are asking this question: What can I do here at home to help my country? These boys and girls realize that they cannot go to the front, that they are unable to produce the guns and tanks and planes. Their contribution must be made on their own farms and in their own communities. Now, what can they do?

Right now winter activities in which many Pennsylvania 4-H Clubs have previously engaged have special value in the present emergency. Such activities, are fire prevention, accident prevention, highway safety, discussions and demonstrations on knowing your soil and its needs, health preservation and first aid. These activities can well have renewed and increased emphasis under conditions now prevailing.

Wholesale recreation also has its place in times of stress, as well as normal times. Perhaps in reasonable amount it is even more important now in order that we may relieve the physical and mental tension of the times. It, therefore, seems appropriate that recreational activities and dramatics may also have their place in our winter activities.

These winter functions can be conducted in much the same manner as the summer activities, that is through the regular 4-H Club organization. With the leadership of the local adult leader and the county agent, 4-H Club members can work out an effective winter program.

BUYING BLANKETS

Comes the chill winter, and many a homemaker needs a blanket or two to fill the gaps in her bedding supply.

This year, blankets—like many another household item—are reflecting the international uncertainty. Wool, fiber for making the warmest blankets, is scarce. And there is a trend toward simplification of both sizes and colors to conserve labor and materials for defense purposes. As a result, there may be a more limited variety this year from which to choose.

However, just as in other years, it's the woman who knows a good quality blanket when she sees one who comes home with the best buy. To bring homemakers up-to-date on marks of blanket quality, textile experts in the United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Home Economics give here some blanket-buying tips says Miss Boneita Gordon, Home Economics Extension representative of Lawrence county.

First of all, find the kind of fibers that have gone into a blanket. According to fiber content, there are three main types. A blanket may be all wool—part wool—or all cotton. There is considerable variety in the part-wool groups. For the other part may be cotton, rayon, or a mixture. And the part that's wool may range from 5 to 98 per cent of the whole.

The more wool, the warmer the blanket—if the wool is of good quality. A part-wool blanket must be at least 25 per cent wool to make much difference in its warmth or to give the blanket any of the characteristics of a wool blanket—such as fluffiness, elastacity, ability of the blanket to absorb moisture without the blanket itself feeling damp.

According to the Wool Labeling Act now in effect, any blanket called wool or part wool must have the exact percentage stated on the label. It also must be specified whether the wool is new, reprocessed or reused. There are good, poor and indifferent qualities of all three.

Cotton makes a stronger blanket—wool a warmer one. When the two are combined, cotton is used in the lengthwise or warp yarns that need to be the stronger—and sometimes as a core for the filling yarns when only a small amount of wool is used.

Wool or the mixed fibers are used in the crosswise or fillingwise yarns, either alone or wrapped around the cotton core. Then, in a finishing process calling napping, the loose ends of the fillingwise yarns are pulled out to the surface of the blanket to give it that fluffy appearance.

Wool fluffs up better than cotton, and therefore is warmer. The still air that gets enmeshed in the fluff keeps the person under it warm. A new cotton blanket might fluff up to be almost as warm as a new wool blanket. But wool keeps this fluffiness after countless launderings—if the washings are done carefully. Cotton must be renapped after each washing.

Incidentally, many a good wool blanket has become second rate as warm bed-clothing simply because of rough handling in the laundry. Wool must be washed in warm, soft water with a mild soap. It should be handled as little as possible. And there should be no sudden changes in temperature during the washing. Hot and then cold water, strong soaps, and rubbing cause the wool to shrink and become boardy. Once a wool blanket becomes stiff, flat, and boardy nothing can restore it to its original fluffiness.

Hold the blanket up to the light. See if the napping is even all over. Blankets that are over-napped will have thick and thin spots. The thin spots soon wear out.

While you have the blanket up to the light, look at the underlying weave. This should be regular all over, yarns should be smooth, even, spaced regularly and close together.

Note end finishes of the blanket. Most blankets are now bound with rayon or sateen. If it is, make sure the binding is sewed on securely. Rayon bindings wear out more quickly than sateen, but they hold their color better, and show soil less. Edgers on lightweight cotton blankets are usually lock-stitched. Make sure all thread ends are securely fastened.

To see that the blanket is cut straight, hold it up to the light and note whether the end is cut parallel to the crosswise threads. It should be. If there are stripes or borders, use them as guides and make sure the threads are parallel to them.

Be sure, too, that any contrasting borders, stripes, and plaids are of the same fiber and woven in the same way as the rest of the blanket. Otherwise the blanket will shrink unevenly.

The size of the blanket usually is marked on the label. When you buy "bargain" blankets, though, it's good idea to have the blanket measured for you at the store to make sure of full size. Choose a blanket long enough to tuck in at the foot yet come up well around the neck and ears. Short blankets wear out more quickly than those of ample size, because they get more tugging.

For a double bed, a blanket needs to be at least 72x84 inches. More satisfactory, of course, are the "luxury" 80x90's. For a single bed, 63 by 84 is about the minimum satisfactory size, and for a twin bed, the blanket needs to be at least 66 by 84 inches.

After you decide on quality of the blanket, it matters little what color you select. But be sure to have the blanket unfolded at the store so you can look at the color all over—to make sure there is no unevenness in the shading.

There is a trend these days towards putting more information on labels attached to the blanket, reminds Miss Gordon. The chief value of much information on labels is that it makes it possible for the consumer to compare the various properties of different blankets in the same price range.

Some labels give breaking strength for the blanket for both the fillingwise and lengthwise yarns. For most purposes, the higher the breaking strength for the fillingwise yarns, the stronger the blanket. Blankets that are long enough usually are strong enough in the warp for the wear they get. But napping often weakens the fillingwise yarns.

Some informative labels also tell the weight of the blanket. This may be given for the blanket as a whole or for a square yard of the fabric. The latter is the more usable information, because it makes it possible to compare the weight of blankets of different sizes. Naturally, when you are comparing blanket weights, you can compare only those with the same fiber content. For example, if two all-wool blankets are alike in size and price—but different in weight, the heavier one will give you more wool for the money. But if one of the blankets contains some fiber besides wool and the other doesn't, then you cannot compare them this way.

SAVED MAN, LOST AUTO.

Louis Purdy, of Pana, Ill., smelling smoke in a hotel, rushed into a room and rescued a slepeing man from a burning bed. Firemen tossed the bed clothing out the window, setting Purdy's auto afire and destroying it. Joseph Callahan, falling asleep while reading, slipped from his chair and landed on his own false teeth, which took a bite at him.

Move To Relieve Rubber Shortage

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—In a move to relieve the rubber shortage, the Senate Thursday passed the Downey bill authorizing extensive planting of seed of the rubber producing guayule plant.

The bill was broadened to permit planting in the entire western hemisphere. The plant grows wild in many parts of southwestern United States and Mexico. The department of agriculture would administer the measure.

A guayule plant development in Salinas County, Calif., may be acquired by the government. This acquisition was the original proposal of the bill.

The measure now goes to the House.

WA-KINDIGAS.

The primitive Wa-Kindigas, an elusive and almost extinct group of British East Africa Bushmen, do not even build huts but exist simply under large trees around which they pull a slight brush shelter, according to Natural History. This rude shelter does for the dry weather. In the rainy season they move into mountain caves.

According to latest census records, one in each 16 deaths in the United States is due to accidental injury.

Titans Will Bid For Seventh Win Against Ohioans

Face Youngstown College At New Wilmington, Saturday Night At 8:15

DALE DUNMIRE IS TOP SCORER

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—In the thick of the scramble for another Pennsylvania collegiate basket ball title, Westminster's Titans hope to enhance their position in the torrid race by subduing Youngstown college, Saturday in New Wilmington.

The whippet-like Titans, winners of six victories out of seven clashes, start bidding for their seventh triumph at 8:15 o'clock.

The game marks the second meeting of the rivals within six nights. Last Monday Westminster spilled the Penquins 61-55 after spotting the Ohioans a 10-point lead.

Since the start of the series between the two schools back in 1930, the Ohioans have never whipped Westminster in basketball.

Waging Merry Race

The Titan floormen are waging a merry race for scoring honors among themselves, with only eight points separating the high and low man. Leading the point-getting parade is last year's high-point scorer, Dale Dunmire, Vandergrift junior, who has collected 59 points on 23 goals and 13 free throws. Following in close order come Joe Spak with 58 points, Lee Fox with 55, "Buzz" Ridl with 52, and Stan Wasik with 47.

Joe Spak, Pittsburgh senior, is keeping in the scoring race with an almost perfect record on free-throws and some sensational dropping in of long shots. Fox, who started the season out badly, has recovered and has scored 14 points in each of the Titans' past two games, against W. and J. and Youngstown. Ridl, leading scoring forward during 1939-40, also has boarded the scoring van after a mediocre start by scoring 23 points in the last two contests. Stan Wasik, last year's runner-up for scoring honors, has been consistently good for ten points a game this year.

The Titans have scored 355 points in this year's seven games against 268 for the opposition, for an average per-game score of 50 to 38. The Blue and White's all-time average is 50 to 36.

New Brighton Game Changed

The New Castle-New Brighton Section Three league game originally scheduled for Friday night, January 23, here at Washington High, has been re-scheduled by the locals for Saturday night, January 24 owing to commencement exercises on Friday night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh welterweight who won and lost the 147-pound title in almost as little time as one would require to execute an about face, tackles Ray Robinson, Harlem negro sensation, in a 12-round battle tonight in New York City. Robinson is a two-to-one favorite. However, Fritzie, the youngest of five Zivic fighters, always does best in a return fight and there is a possibility Fritzie may reverse the decision Robinson won last October. Should he lose he will automatically relegate himself to the second division and lose whatever opportunity there may be to secure a return shot at Champion Red Cochrane to whom he dropped the welterweight championship. Regardless of whom wins, fans expect to see one of the hottest fights of the year.

Youngstown Golden Gloves tourney will be resumed January 19, with boys who have fought here struggling for the championship in various classes. Dick Roach, who beat Foo Yee Wednesday night, will box Dan Murphy for the 112-pound crown. Melio Donelli will oppose John Sullivan in the 135-pound division; Pete Misto, Thomas Bell and Dick Delmark are combatants for the 147-pound crown. The winners will enter the Cleveland Plain Dealer G. G. meet.

John Fitzpatrick, Los Angeles, defeated Jake Schaefer of Cleveland, 50-37 in 41 innings, and Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia, out-cued Ralph Greenleaf of Monmouth, Ill., 50-43 in 60 innings, in the three-cushion billiards championship matches in Chicago Thursday.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, turned in a 67 to lead the first round in the $5,000 Oakland, Cal., golf meet yesterday. It was three beneath par. Ben Hogan, Mike Demassey and Lawson Little each submitted a 68.

The Y. has announced in New York the cancellation of its national athletic tournaments except basketball, in order to permit physical directors to devote full efforts to health-building activities in local communities.

The Philadelphia A's have signed an exploitation. He is Al Horwitz, and was formerly connected with the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger, which suspended operations recently. According to Owner Connie Mack, contracts have been sent to players, but most of them want more money than they received in 1941.

CUBS WIN TWO

Forrest Cubs kept their undefeated cage record intact by swamping the New Castle Bruins 34-24 and the A. Z. A. by a 27-14 margin. For games with the Cubs call 995-J and ask for Tempy.

Beaver Falls Here Tonight

New Castle Will Open Section Three Season At Home This Evening

New Castle High basketball team will inaugurate the 1942 Section Three league race here tonight at the George Washington High gym by playing the strong Beaver Falls High Tigers. The preliminary game at 7 o'clock will find the reserves of both schools battling.

Victorious in their first game of the league season with Ellwood City, the Tigers will come here with a fast quintet to try for their second win of the league season. New Castle beaten at Aliquippa will try hard to make up for it tonight.

Tough Workouts

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has given the boys a few tough workouts each day this week in preparation for the battle that he knows awaits them tonight.

It may be that young Joe Ciazza who has shown a marked improvement this year, will get a starting berth along with Red Ross at forward. Bobby Lee has not yet fully recovered from his recent tonsilectomy.

Following are the probable lineups for tonight:

New Castle		Beaver Falls
Ross	f	Ours
Ciazza or Lee	f	Veltri
Cooper	c	Janstro
Zubkowsky	g	Anderson

Grovers Battle Titans On Grid Next Two Years

Grove City Steps Ahead Of Field; Announces Schedule For 1942-43

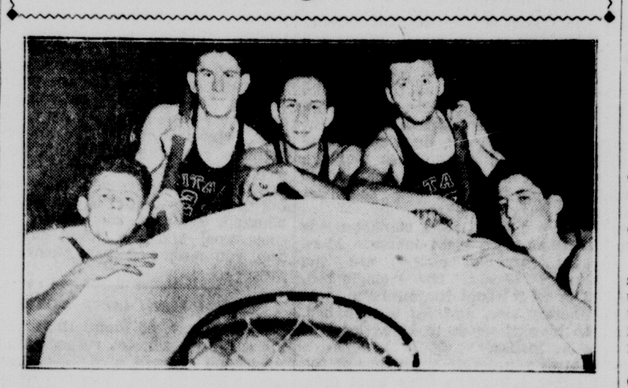
GROVE CITY, Jan. 16.—Stepping out ahead of the field, Grove City college today released its football schedule for 1942 and for 1943.

The Grovers are carded to meet Westminster the next two seasons. The complete schedules:

1942—Sept. 26, Clarion, home; Oct. 3, Hiram, home; Oct. 9, Geneva, away; Oct. 17, Carnegie Tech, home; Oct. 24, Allegheny, away; Oct. 31, Slippery Rock, away; Nov. 7, Westminster, home; Nov. 14, Thiel, away.

1943—Sept. 25, Clarion, away; Oct. 2, Carnegie Tech, away; Oct. 9, Geneva, home; Oct. 16, Hiram, away; Oct. 23, Allegheny, home; Oct. 30, Slippery Rock, home; Nov. 6, Westminster, away; Nov. 13, Thiel, home.

Titans Eye Basket



NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—These five Westminster Titan cagers are taking a good look at the basket through which they expect to pour enough goals this Saturday night to defeat the Youngstown Penguins and stay on even terms with Duquesne university as leaders in Pennsylvania basketball.

Earlier this week, the Titans defeated the Penguins 61-55 on the Ohioans home floor, but Westminster is taking no chances. They expect a tough game this Saturday night, even though they have defeated the Penguin cagers in 15 out of 15 past events.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Ostracized from the amateur ranks because he packs too much T. N. T. in his paws, Frankie Moran, as hard a 135-pound hitter as you'll find in the county—yes, in the nation—is preparing to climb the professional van. He has no choice in the matter. In his past 15 settos the southpaw has given 14 foes anesthetic free of charge.

When the matchmakers start bickering and mention Moran's name, managers get the chills and refuse to even hear the name twice. "Listen, we don't want our boys ruined." This is a stereotype phrase in the simon pure ranks. Consequently, Moran is on the sidelines bubbling over with a flaming and bitter lust for battle.

From an authoritative source, this sportsmith has been informed that the likeable Frankie will turn in his amateur card. Until he does, Moran will be listed as an amateur and slated for action—if anyone wants any part of him or if anyone desires voluntary mayhem.

Ever since that second Louis-Schmeling bout, Max has been harping for a return go. Now that Joe Louis has entered the army, Schmeling may get his desire . . . A dream I'd like to see come true: Joe Louis and Adolf Hitler alone and away from the world with nothing to serve as weapons but their fists. That would be the battle of all centuries.

Since October 1, 1940, the nation's minor baseball leagues have contributed 607 men to Uncle Sam's armde forces—an average of about two players a club . . . The American Bowling Congress, billed for Columbus, O., starts on March 3 . . . New York may have horse racing this spring. Jamaica's requested date, if granted, would start the gee-gees running on April 11.

Greeks To Battle Mahoning Quintet

The feature game in the New Castle church basketball league tonight will be the third game when the St. George Greeks battled the Mahoning Methodist team. Coach "Manny" Othites of the Greek team feels confident that his "Fighting Spartans" can upset the Seventh Warders.

In the first game at 7:45 o'clock the Baptists tangle with the St. Vitus team, and in the second game the First Presbyterians meet the St. Mary quintet.

Even before Billy Conn started training for his bout with Tony Zale, the middleweight king, he scaled only 179 pounds.

Undefeated Grovers Battle St. Vincent

Grove City Faces Stiff Test In Home Tussle With St. Vincent Tonight

GROVE CITY, Jan. 16.—Grove City College's classy quintet, among the few undefeated quintet in the state, goes to bat again tonight, entertaining a smooth St. Vincent team.

Sheer speed has carried the Crimson flippers to four consecutive triumphs. Two midget forwards, Hulton and Moore have been major factors in the team's success thus far.

Following the test tonight, Grove City next faces Thiel at Greenville, Tuesday evening. This pair of games will be followed by a period of inactivity due to mid-semester examinations and the January 30-February 2 period will be occupied by a New York trip where the squad takes on Fredonia Normal, Buffalo State and St. Bonaventure. Before the second half fo the schedule opens, the Crimson season can be marred unless the boys begin to hit the basket.

RIFLE CLUB GOING TO YOUNGSTOWN, O.

Members of the New Castle Rifle club will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the corner of Grant and Jefferson streets to make a trip to Youngstown to shoot with the Mahoning Rifle club in a Penn-Ohio league match.

This will be the first match of the second half which the locals are figuring on winning. Niles won the first half title with New Castle second.

WISCONSIN CHAMP

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Bobby Jake, Notre Dame cager, is Wisconsin state junior and senior singles tennis champion.

Star-Studded Cage Card Here Tonight

Another star-studded basketball night highlights the local sports scene tonight.

New Castle High's initial Section III skirmish at home should attract a capacity gallery at George Washington Junior High. The Bridenbaugh flippers face an exceptionally talented Beaver Falls High quintet.

Four Section 20 engagements round out a busy night for devotees of the cage game.

Princeton At Bessemer

At Bessemer, Princeton High will endeavor to stop the surge of Bessemer High, winner of three consecutive loop frays and currently sitting on top alongside of Union Township. Past performances indicate that the Princeton hoopsters are in for another bad night.

Union Township High's speedy horde faces stiffer opposition than Bessemer, engaging a fighting Mt. Jackson High unit on Union High floor. Mt. Jackson, which torpedoed East Brook in one of the major league reverses thus far, could easily uncork another surprise blow. Union has displayed more eclat and figures to win.

In what shapes up as one of those tight tussles, New Wilmington High, smarting following two one-point losses, strives to regain its winning form at the expense of East Brook on the Brook dribbling boards.

Both aggregations have had bad shakes so far, dropping eye-lash decisions that could have easily decorated the victory line instead of the lost column.

East New Castle fans anticipate sizzling action when Wampum and Shenango lineup for their joust on Shenango High floor. While both teams have tasted defeat, neither is out of the championship picture.

The winning team tonight will remain right in the thick of the scramble for the coveted banner.

Junior Church League Games

Four more games are listed for Saturday in the Junior church basketball league at the "Y" floor. The first game will take place at 4:15 o'clock and will have the St. George Greeks battling the St. Marys team.

At 5:15 o'clock the second game will go on and will find the Central Christians meeting the Baptists. The other two games in this order will be First Methodists vs St. Phillips and James, and First Christians vs First Presbyterians.

Sporting World Loses These Outstanding Athletes To U. S. Forces

A few of the many prominent individuals in the sporting world who either are in the armed forces of the United States or soon may be are pictured above. First among the well-known major league baseball players to be drafted was Hugh Mulcahy of the Phils, who was called last summer. Then came Hank Greenberg, slugging outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, who since has re-enlisted after having been released because of the over-28 age limit. Other baseball players who have either been inducted into the armed forces of the United States or are about to be are Buddy Lewis of the Washington Senators; Cecil Travis of the same club; Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Jimmy Sturm of the Yankees and Bob Feller of the Indians. Feller volunteered for navy service and is at Norfolk, Va. Bernie Bierman, successful head football coach at the University of Minnesota, has been ordered to report to the U. S. marines at Quantico, Va., as has Major Pat Hanley, football coach at Boston university. Dick Hanley, former coach at Northwestern university, also is on active duty with the marines. Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame's star football player, has been sworn in as a recruit in the officers' training school of the U. S. naval reserve. Among the fighters, Freddie Cochrane, the welter champ, already is in the navy, serving as an instructor; Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., heavyweight, has joined the coast guard and Al Hostak, former middle champ, has enlisted in the navy to "get a crack at the Japs"

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—There is something that should be said about our athletes who have gone into the srevice and about those others who will follow them. It should be said in a quiet, unexcited, genteel sort of way without any gnashing of the teeth or waving of the arms, the way I'd like to try to do it herewith.

As a preface, it should be pointed out that in the last war some of our noble athletes ducked about the hazel bush and avoided service entirely, while others put in for jobs as physical instructors and one thing and another to the everlasting chagrin of Joe Blow, the bookkeeper, who left a pretty good job benind and wound up shoeing mules.

Where Best Fitted

It seems to me that there should be no exceptions. The authorities should strive to place a man wherever he is best suited to serve, insofar as this is feasible under the burdensom circumstances, but in no case should they single out a champion boxer or highly publicized baseball player or athlete of some other kind for a soft snap.

The athletes should have to take their chances with the rest of the citizenry once they get into that uniform—getting no more nor no less than an even rattle in their chores and the ultimate site of their service.

I wouldn't care to have to argue with the people who run our wars, but I'm not convinced that a boxer or a pitcher or football player is prepared per se—just because he is an athlete—to conduct mass training intelligently, with or without guidance. And if he can, then there are others who can do the job equally well with intelligent supervision.

As Lieut. Commander Gene Tunney is working out the navy physical training program, he is getting strictly the best qualified men, most of them holders of physical education degrees from college. Their work with him can lead to a commission and service wherever they are called.

The army hasn't attempted anything exactly like that so far, insofar as I know, but may get around to it.

Meantime, many persons are getting the impression that the athlete stands a good chance of having a little the best of it in that so often his induction is accompanied by announcements that he is headed for some light chores designed to build up morale or to teach budding killers how to yawn and stretch.

Have Good Argument

If I seem to be making an issue of something, I can dig up the daily newspapers showing where the outstanding athletes are being aimed for certain work whereas the less publicized stars are just so many more recruits. To my way of thinking, this would do more to tear down morale than anything that might be attempted.

As Mrs. Blow, the mother of Joe Blow, was saying just this morning down at the vegetable man's place, she can't figure out why somebody should be singled out to teach her son how to breathe and touch the floor with his finger tips in preparation for a trip abroad for a shooting scrape, while the teacher remains behind to keep on teaching others and getting big headlines.

And she seemed to be particularly puzzled by the fact that all those mentioned as instructors, or as members of the morale division, were top flight athletes. She wondered if they deserved to be singled out for this particular and harmless job, while her son, Joe Blow, was taking his deep breaths and bending exercises as a springboard to the area of cold steel and hot bullets.

Mrs. Blow concluded by saying that her son's job was just as important to him as anybody's job and that he was as important to her as somebody else's son was to somebody else.

Wes Bennett Now In U. S. Marines

Great Titan Star Of Few Years Ago In Uncle Sam's Fighting Forces

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—Wes Bennett, Westminster's "greatest of basketball greats", has joined the marines. The tall onetime center who starred on one of the Titans' greatest cage teams, is now stationed at Paris Island, S. C.

Bennett hung up more records in basketball at Westminster than the next five best players. He scored 21 points to defeat St. Johns of Brooklyn in 1934 in the first of Ned Irish' famous double-billings at Madison Square Garden in New York City, with Notre Dame and New York university playing the other half of the night's listing.

In 1934-35, Bennett was picked by eastern sports writers as "the most popular player in the Garden during the year". He also was named on the All-East team and qualified as one of 25 All-American cagers named throughout the nation.

The same year he was named "the nation's highest scorer", and in three years at Westminster, scored over 1000 points. He set the tradition for Westminster's style of play, which for several years included a 15-points-a-game scorer.

Until the past year, Bennett has been playing with the Youngstown Sheet & Tube five, but with the passing of the pivot-shot from the circle Bennett faded out of the picture. In the days before the three-second ruling, however, Bennett was the tops. He could score any way he chose—back over his head, from around his ankles or lying flat on the floor.

Polish Falcons Top Ford City

The Polish Falcons opened their 1942 basketball season at the Falcon hall last evening by walloping the strong Ford City Clothiers 50 to 24. At the half the Falcons led 19 to 11.

Eddie "Cash" Koszela, Gabby Kendra and "Flash" Wenda were the Falcon standouts with 36 of the points between them. Best for the losers was Hand.

The Falcons will play the McKeesport Question Marks at the Falcon hall next Monday night.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

On February 14th . . . the Charity Ball will be held at the Field Club . . . this dance you know is being sponsored by the Jameson Hospital Junior Guild . . . money derived from this affair will be used in the hosptial . . . to add needed equipment and the like . . . Now the dance this year will be of Pan-American theme, good neighbor policy in which we are all interested. Decorating the Field Club for this dance is somewhat of a chore . . . and if you so desire you can help make things more pleasant by offering a few items that you might have . . . such as Mexican Hats, the large kind . . . or fancy bright colored hangings or just most any little thing that will help to brighten the rooms for this gala affair . . . All articles will be well taken care of and returned immediately after the "Ball is over". If you have something you think will help will you please call 2424.

People in New Castle and we suppose in other towns and villages in these United States are somewhat too particular when it comes to some items. Take for instance the person who goes into a store to buy something . . . maybe it's a can of beans, maybe a pair of hose, maybe a pound or two of meat. Some will complain about the package not being wrapped the same as it was six months ago. Paper bags are getting to be something we used to have . . . we all are cooperating, we hope, in National Defense . . . let's keep consistent in our work. Over in England they go for their groceries and the like with kettles or large baskets. When you think this matter over we know you will look at it differently.

Say, how are you making out with defense stamps and bonds . . . Just by saving pennies you can help Uncle Sam and his nephews. The more stamps and bonds you buy, the quicker this war will be over with the United States the winner. We must all work together . . . let's forget our little differences until after this is all over . . . then we can let our hair down and tell each other off.

* * *

Don't forget . . . you can pick up extra cash by selling things you no longer need to people who need them. This extra cash can be used to buy stamps and bonds. Try the classified ad page today. 40c for 20 words.

Notice Of Application For Charter Of A Proposed Nonprofit Corporation

We, W. Walter Braham, Joseph H. McBride, W. C. Williams, Thomas J. Clark and Andrew M. Dodds, all of Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, hereby give notice of our intention to apply to the Court of Common Pleas of said county for a charter for a nonprofit corporation, and set forth:

(1) The name of the proposed corporation is: Lawrence Conservators.

(2) Said proposed corporation is to be organized under the provisions of Article II of the Nonprofit Corporation Law, approved the Fifth day of May, A. D. 1933, P. L. 289, as amended.

(3) The purpose for which said corporation is formed is to acquire title, by purchase, gift or in any other lawful way, to any natural or artificial resources within the County of Lawrence, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, including lands and buildings, but not excluding any other resource, and to own, possess, manage, control and convey the same in the interests of the County of Lawrence, the Lawrence County Institution District, and the municipal subdivision and School District of the County of Lawrence in which such resource is located, either by reforestration of the land; or by fostering, increasing, soliciting and securing industries to locate on any of the lands, by furnishing sites for such industries or otherwise in any lawful manner; by maintaining public parks, playgrounds, or either indoor or outdoor recreation centers, and that it is a corporation which does not contemplate pecuniary gain or profit, incidental or otherwise, to its members.

(4) The Articles of Incorporation have been filed in the office of the Prothonotary of Lawrence county, and the Application will be made to the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence county on Friday, January 23, 1942, at 9:00 o'clock A.M.

Welles Tells Pan-American Conference No Neutrality Possible In World Struggle

ARGENTINE MAY MAKE PROPOSAL

By PERCY FOSTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 16.—Delegates to the conference of Pan-American foreign ministers today lavishly praised the declaration of United States Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles that there can be no neutrality between forces supporting the rights and independence of free peoples and the "powers of evil."

At the same time a member of the Argentine delegation told International News Service that Argentine Foreign Minister Dr. Enrique Ruizguinazu may propose a motion of great importance before the time limit for such motions expires late today.

The informant declined to reveal the nature of the motion but said it probably would cause a sensation owing to its advanced nature. He hinted it might prove acceptable as a substitute or at least as a complementary move for the plan calling for rupture of diplomatic relations with the Axis.

It was expected that presentation of motions would prove the most important item on today's conference agenda. Today's plenary session was expected to be limited to appointment of committees to study methods of western hemisphere and economic cooperation.

The Bolivian delegate, Eduardo Anze Matienze, termed Welles' speech a "perfect synthesis of the situation" and remarked that "no one can remain indifferent."

Albert Guani of Uruguay predicted Welles' message "will have the greatest consequences in resolutions which we are going to adopt."

Chilean, Mexican and Cuban delegates likewise praised the speech and Alfredo Muro of Peru pronounced it "above all criticism." The Panamanian delegate said that "Welles spoke for all the Americas."

Welles himself, commenting on the conference, declared it "leaves no doubt of the loyal cooperation of the American nations and shows that a fighting spirit prevails."

All signs were that the address swept away the last hesitant opposition to united action by the American republics to rupture of diplomatic relations with all the Axis powers.

Later, in an unscheduled address, Uruguayan Foreign Minister Guani declared Uruguay is prepared to support a total break with the Axis and to cooperate by convoying United States shipping in the South Atlantic.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 16.—A motion calling upon all American nations to sever diplomatic relations with Germany, Italy and Japan was presented to the Inter-American conference today by the Republic of Colombia with endorsement of Mexico and Venezuela.

Money Reported Stolen, Is Found

Mysteriously Returned To Home After State Police Take Up Trail

There's a silver lining behind each dark cloud and in some houses there are bank notes behind closet doors. At least, in the clothes closet of a room occupied by John Krivyanick in a Hamilton Street extension boarding-house, the latter was found true.

In fact, the case of John's missing money and its mysterious return is one of the strangest cases in the annals of State Motor police stationed here.

In November, John put $575 in a coat pocket, hung up the coat in a clothes closet, then went to work at the C-I.

When he returned and searched for his $575 he found the window broken, his coat in the clothes closet but the $575 gone.

Naturally he had a head-ache.

State Motor police were called. They discovered that the window had been broken by pressure exerted apparently from the inside of the house.

They re-arranged the broken glass and were recently arranging to secure a comparison of finger-prints when John arrived home and made a strange but fruitful discovery.

His $575 was found on the floor of the clothes-closet in his room.

Possibility exists that the State Motor police investigation had become so hot that a quick return of the $575 was made.

It isn't likely Krivyanick will convert a coat in a clothes closet as a bank in the future.

Find Bodies Of Seven Airmen In Coast Mountains

Two Others Known To Have Been Aboard Missing Bomber Are Missing

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Seven army flyers were known dead and two more were listed as missing today by fourth air force headquarters as the wreckage of an ill-fated B-26 bomber was investigated near El Cajon Pass in central California.

The bomber disappeared during a storm December 30 and was not sighted from the air until Wednesday. Searching parties recovered all of the bomber's secret equipment, authorities disclosed. The plane had not burned.

Pending complete identification of the victims, the fourth air force did not name the fatalities nor the missing men as such. The complete crew, however, was listed as follows:

Second Lieut. Frank A. Kobal, pilot, Queens Village, N. Y.

Technical Sgt. Waldo C. Jensen, Langley Field, Va.

Sgt. Roger F. Organ, RFD No. 1, Springfield, O.

THIRD EYELID.

Most birds have a third eyelid, known as the nictitating membrane, which serves to cover and clean the surface of the eye, reports the Better Vision Institute. It also is well-developed in cats, cows and rabbits. In the human eye there is a vestigial bit of such a membrane under the red glandular swelling in the corner of the eye.

Food Stamp Plan May Operate Soon

"Revolving Fund" To Provide Start For Program Is Expected Shortly

Promise of quick approval by county commissioners of the necessary $12,000 "revolving fund" to start wheels turning today indicated that public assistance officials will soon place the long-awaited Federal Surplus Commodity "stamp plan" in operation here.

Executive Director John P. Brinton of the county public assistance board was without official word from the county, but at the court house County Commission Chairman William R. Walton said the fund soon would be approved.

Brinton said the stamp plan, which introduces the stamps-for-foodstuffs arrangements here, could not start without the revolving fund. It was understood the state now guarantees the fund when the county underwrites it.

Announced several weeks ago by Washington officials, the stamp plan has already been set up and is well in operation in many of the counties listed with Lawrence at that time.

State public assistance leaders, it is learned, have been making inquiry as to the local delay, and urged quick start of the system if the county expects to introduce the plan.

New Pronouncement May Soon Be Made

President Considers Results Of Long Conferences With Allies

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt secluded himself in the White House today and began to reduce to writing the results of the important military and economic staff meetings which have been in progress in Washington for nearly a month.

Dependent on his ability to finish his study of the results of these conferences which have already been placed on paper, the president tentatively planned to assemble members of the American and British high command for a conference later in the day—probably following this afternoon's cabinet meeting.

The White House had no comment to make in response to inquiries as to whether Mr. Roosevelt's "paper work" portended the early issuance of another joint pronouncement in behalf of the united nations.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early reported that the chief executive was devoting the entire morning to work on "staff papers."

"The meetings that have been going on for some time are now being reduced to paper," Early said. "The president is working on them now. Dependent on when he finishes his studies, a staff meeting will be called."

Yet even truthful people like the person who answers cheerfully, "Fine, thank you," when he feels half dead.

Air Hero Talks To His Parents From Far East

Lieut. Wagner Makes Long 'Phone Call To Johnstown Home

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 16.—The ears of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd M. Wagner, parents of America's first air hero in the battle of the Philippines, still were ringing today with radio-telephone words of greeting from their son, somewhere in the Pacific.

Secretive, thrilling, and "long-distance" call came from Lieut. Boyd D. Wagner, officially credited with downing five Jap planes, on Wednesday his mother disclosed. Lieutenant Wagner just wanted to know how the family was and to assure his folks he'd be home "after we lick the Japs".

The call was placed to Mrs. Wagner and lasted eight minutes.

"Dad" Wagner almost didn't get to talk to his son.

When the telephone operator at San Francisco, three hours and five minutes after advising Mrs. Wagner to "stand by," put through Lieutenant Wagner, his father was at the 'phone, too. Mrs. Wagner had called him from his work. She heard her son say:

"I will be here only temporarily, but you can expect some letters from me." He explained he could not disclose his location.

Mrs. Wagner then said:

"I've a surprise for you."

She put the young pilot's father on the wire.

The operator in San Francisco disconnected the circuit, explaining that the call was only for Mrs. Wagner.

"But I'm his father," Wagner, Sr., complained over the continent-spanning circuit, there was a momentary delay, then the operator said the elder Wagner might go ahead.

Father and son exchanged greetings. The call ended all too soon.

It was almost more than Mrs. Wagner, who is employed at a local women's dress store, and her husband, an electrician for the Bird Coal company, could have hoped for. Before this direct communication, they had last heard from Boyd on December 18.

"We feel lots better about Boyd now," said Mrs. Wagner.

Tide Of Battle Is Turned At Least Temporarily In Malaya Campaign

By S. A. WYKES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SINGAPORE, Jan. 16.—Hard-bitten Australian fighters, held in reserve until the crucial moment, turned the tide at least temporarily in the battle for Singapore today.

Under personal command of General Henry Gordon Bennett, whom the Japanese claimed to have killed a few days ago, Australian land troops in collaboration with units of the Royal Air forces scored a number of tactical victories which brought a surge of cheer to Singapore.

Jap barges were bombed and sunk off the Malayan coast, and on land the Australians treated the enemy to a string of setbacks.

Charges Japanese Looting And Pillaging Territory Occupied

By JOHN HENRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Charging the enemy with "systematically looting and devastating the entire country side," Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported to the war department today that the Japanese are now employing crack shock troops and dive bombers in an effort to wipe out the American-Philippine forces which he commands.

In a communique describing Nippon's offensive in the Bataan region, the department said that ground fighting continues all along the front line, but in addition attack planes and dive bombers are being used to blast American-Filipino artillery positions and troops.

Shock Troops Used

Shock troops especially trained for these operations are being used, the war department disclosed.

Text of the communique follows: "Philippine theater: Ground fighting of varying intensity continues all along the front line.

Soviet Troops Pursuing Germans On Kalinin Front Says Red Report

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—Death of another 14,00 Nazis on the central (Moscow) front was claimed in Moscow today as the Soviet high command announced recapture fo Selisharovo, 55 miles northwest of Rzhev and 90 miles west of Kalinin.

In addition, a supplementary bulletin stated, Soviet troops recaptured nine other inhabited localities on the western front last night.

The Russian radio said the 14,000 Germans, including an unidentified general, were killed on the central front between January 6 and 15.

Pursuing Germans

Latest front line advices said Soviet forces on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow were pursuing the Germans, who were trying desperately to stem the Red Army advance. The Nazis were declared to have mined defensive positions from which they withdrew.

The 37th and 58th German infantry regiments were reported to have sustained heavy casualties, losing two battalions each.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Smashed back in every attack against North Bataan, Japan is undertaking a campaign to "soften up" Philippine defense forces, Washington military observers believe today, before turning on the full might of a frontal offensive designed to crush Gen. MacArthur's troops.

While America's military arm gained ever-increasing strength at home and the navy chalked up new successes in the Pacific theater, MacArthur's army continued to hold the Stars and Stripes aloft over the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—The Navy today officially announced that a second allied merchant vessel has been attacked off Southampton, L. I., and that survivors are being brought into port.

A Navy spokesman said that they did not yet have details of the attack and were not sure that the ship had actually been sunk, but did have information that it was the victom of submarine action.

The name of the ship was not disclosed.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 16.—The full ruthlessness of the enemy submarine attack on the Tanker Norness stood revealed in detail today as U. S. navy surface vessels and aircraft sought to hunt out and destroy the "U-boat" acknowledged to be prowling the New England-New York coastal waters.

Navy ears were glued to sound detectors and navy aviators strained their vision for some indication on the surface of the sea that would disclose the presence of the enemy submersible.

Survivors Machine-Gunned

As the navy went into action, members of the crew of the Norness were in full agreement that the submarine had attacked without warning. In addition, one member of the crew, Harry Torkvssen, ship's cook, said flatly that the sub's crew had machine-gunned them as they struggled on a life raft.

NAVY IS ACTIVE IN FAR EAST ZONE

Brings Total Of Ships Sunk By Navy Since Pearl Harbor Attack To 24

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The navy announced today that the Asiatic fleet has sunk two large Japanese cargo ships and three transports in Far Eastern waters.

It makes the largest single victory by American naval forces in the present Pacific conflict.

Reported sunk were two large cargo ships, two large transports and one medium size transport.

Brings Total To 24

The latest sinkings brought to 24, the total number of Japanese warships and auxiliary vessels sunk by naval units and Marine forces since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Earlier sinkings were credited mostly to submarines attached to the Asiatic fleet. The navy's announcement today, however, stated that the latest action was carried out by "units of the U. S. Asiatic fleet."

The sinkings announced by the navy today indicated that the United States Asiatic fleet is definitely active in the Pacific conflict.

District Colleges To Have Summer Sessions

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—Liberal arts colleges of Western Pennsylvania, meeting at Westminster college Thursday, pledged full cooperation among themselves as they launched on an education program calling for summer-sessions ranging from nine to twelve weeks and a stepping up of the educational tempo to enable graduation in three years instead of the customary four.

Represented at the special-called session of college presidents and deans were Allegheny, Thiel, Grove City, Geneva and Westminster, with a total enrollment of between 3,500 and 4,000 students. The administrative heads agreed in general that the new measures were "wartime emergency" in character and did not indicate a permanent departure from past educational setups.

Shorten Regular Term

Westminster is the only college that will be a newcomer in the summer-school field. Allegheny will continue its 12-week summer session; Thiel will probably expand from the present six-week session to a new 12-week period; Grove City will jump from a six-week school to a nine-week session; and Geneva will probably adopt the 12-week summer idea.

All of the colleges will shorten the present semester approximately two weeks in order to begin sum-

War To Affect Budget Of State

Fear Loss Of Much Revenue

Restrictions On Autos Will Hit Some Of State's Revenue Sources

NO CHANCE NOW TO CUT STATE TAXES

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—The war has thrown the state's half-billion dollar budget out of kilter and fiscal officers were frankly in the dark today on what the final outcome would be.

"It looked very hopeful last year," commented a high fiscal officer. "We figured we'd end up the biennium on May 31, 1943 with some extra money in the treasury. Now we don't know whether we'll even break even."

Tire Rationing Cause

The changed situation, from a prospective tax reduction program to a possible deficit, resulted largely from the federal government's decision to ration automobiles and rubber tires. The state takes in an estimated $31,500,000 a biennium in gasoline taxes alone, and this income is expected to be reduced, perhaps drastically, by the curbs on automobiles.

"If we take in $444,000,000 in income by the end of the biennium—that's the amount estimated in the budget—then we'll probably run short on relief," explained the fiscal spokesman.

"However, if we take in $429,000,000, then we'll have enough money to enable the state to use the $15,000,000 fund designated for relief purposes, contingent on an increase in state revenue. Everything that comes in over that will be just gravy."

"We haven't felt the effects of the new conditions as yet," he continued. "Collections are running ahead of estimates now, but nothing startling."

Possible Effect

A pretty good indication of the possible effect of the automobile curbs on the state's liquid fuels tax will be had next April when new license plates must be purchased. "We'll see then just how many motorists have decided not to use their cars," he said.

"A pretty fair birdseye view of how the new conditions will affect the state's finances will probably not be available until next December, when the budget for the new administration is drawn up," he explained.

The tax collections which begin February 15 with the personal property tax returns and ends May 15 with the filing of the last installment on the corporate net income tax should be "up to par," he stated, for it is based on revenue of the preceding year.

A good barometer to watch, he added, was the relief load. If it went up, then the budget might fall short. At present, he said, the relief load was running according to expectations.

DISTRICT COLLEGE SUMMER SESSIONS

mer-sessions between June 8 and 10. It is expected that a considerable number of this year's high school graduates will begin their regular freshman college work in this year's summer classes.

No lowering of standards will be tolerated, the college administrative heads declared. Increased assignments, less social life, shorter vacations and shorter examination periods will feature the new "wartime educational emergency."

District colleges will maintain a constant exchange of information concerning summer-session courses, so that students not able to secure needed courses in one school may secure them in another. All colleges will keep their present two-semester per year plan except for a two-week telescoping of each term to speed up final graduation.

Chairman of the sessions was President Wier T. Kettler of Grove City college.

JAPANESE FAIL TO MAKE GAINS IN PHILIPPINES

Bataan front, it now appears probable that the Japs first will try to get their men through to the rear of General MacArthur's forces to "soften them up." They explained that this is the objective of infiltration. Enemy soldiers, working in small groups behind the American-Filipino frontal bulwarks, possibly can dynamite bridges, destroy communications and otherwise harass the defenders, observers explained.

Tacticians believed that the Japanese adopted this plan of attack after finding direct thrusts at MacArthur's previously prepared defense posts cost them excessive losses in men and materials.

U. S. Holding Positions

"Although greatly outnumbered," the war department asserted, "American and Philippine troops are holding well-prepared positions with courage and determination." The department said that nine heavy Nipponese bombers rained explosives on Corregidor in Manila bay. Damage to the fort was slight, but Japan lost two planes and more were believed hit by anti-aircraft guns.

Observers pointed out that losses suffered by the Japs in their attack upon the island fortifications have been inflicted consistenly by MacArthur's forces in executing their war of attrition. It is because they have lost so heavily in each move trat the Japs have adopted their plan to "soften up" the defenders, experts concluded.

Hospital Ship At Australia

The War Department, meanwhile, disclosed that the Army's Hospital Ship MacTan has traversed a 2,000-mile ocean path from the Philippines to Darwin in North Australia. The MacTan, bearing wounded American and Philippine soldiers, embarked from the Islands about December 27, several days before the seizure of Manila.

On sea, the conflict turned in favor of the United States with the sinking of a 17,000-ton Japanese ocean liner. The Navy announced that an American submarine sent the boat to the bottom. Except to say that the Jap ship belonged to the Yawata class, the Navy did not further identify its victim.

Observers drew the inference that the boat was being operated either as a troop transport or as an aircraft carrier. Lloyd's shows that the Yawata class boats are among the best in Japan's Merchant Marine. They were completed in 1939 and are modern throughout.

Military Strength Increasing

The fact that American military strength is increasing daily, and even beyond expectations, was made public by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, who said that the nation's army would include 3,600,000 men before the end of the current year. Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of the Selective Service Program, subsequently added the information that the United States can field a total of 10,000,000 fully-equipped fighting men.

Hershey explained that the man power to be supplied during 1942 can be obtained without tapping draft registrants now classified in 3-A as married or with dependants. But he said that the 7,500,000 men in this class will be re-examined for possible reclassification.

Stimson disclosed that the mobilization movement is 50 days ahead of schedule, and that by the end of the year the strength of the Army would be increased from 1,700,000 to 3,600,000.

Double Air Combat Units

Outlining the plan for enlargement of the Army, the Secretary disclosed that air combat units will be more than doubled within the year, that armored units also will be doubled, that 32 triangular divisions will be added along with 50 military police battalions and that special units such as anti-aircraft batteries and engineering outfits will be increased generally.

Stimson added that, in line with the expansion program, nine new camps to accommodate 30,000 men each, would be constructed, requirements for the air force would be revised so that 2,000,000 more men will become eligible to join, and a training program instituted to produce 75,000 officers.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt's regular Friday morning press conference was cancelled because "he has a very heavy job ahead of him," Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early, who made the announcement, said that Mr. Roosevelt had a series of military staff meetings before meeting with the cabinet in the afternoon.

How righteous we'd all be if we could buy character in short-cut capsules and pay for it on the instalment plan.

MOSCOW CLAIMS 14,000 MORE NAZIS HAVE BEEN KILLED destroyed 14 Nazi fortifications and killed 600 Nazis, according to latest reports.

The regular noon high command war bulletin said Soviet forces "continued active operations throughout the night."

Capture Salisharovo

Recapture of Selisharovo threatened the entire German position west of the capital and completely outflanked the Nazis in the Rzhev sector.

Rzhev is situated on the northern end of the Soviet pincers which are closing around 200,000 Germans in the pocket extending westward toward Smolensk from Mozhaisk.

The communique reporting this newest Red army victory on the central fighting zone stated:

"On January 15 our troops continued to advance westward and occupied a number of inhabited places, including Selisharovo. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy.

"On January 14 six German planes were destroyed and our losses were three. Our ships sank two enemy transports totalling 11,000 tons in the Barents sea."

Earlier it had been announced that the Russians were attacking with "intensified force" at four key points along the front extending south to the Crimea from Mozhaisk to hurl the Nazis back from the German so-called "winter defense line."

Hitler Will Pay

Meanwhile, the Russian radio, quoting an executive order said to have been issued by Hitler, asserted the Reichsfuehrer ordered his army to "exterminate" the Russian population in occupied territory last October 10.

The Hitler order also was said to have stated that it was "superfluous humanitarianism to nourish Russian prisoners and civilians," adding:

"No cultural or historical monument in occupied territory is worth keeping."

The Communist newspaper Pravda commented:

"Hitler and his band of murderous robbers will pay heavily. History has spoken judgment. The Russians will execute it."

tle as we pulled away," he said. "The waves were high, hiding our life raft, the bullets didn't reach us."

Secrecy, of course, covered movements of the navy in its hunt for the underseas marauder, but it was disclosed that in addition to surface fighting ships, big PBY flying boats and lesser craft, the navy had placed super-blimps from Lakehurst, N. J., into the case.

No possibility was being overlooked and shipping was notified that the attack on the Norness probably was not an isolated one but that it was possible that enemy submarines were operating in the vicinity of American shores in so-called "wolf packs."

(In Washington the navy department stood on the warning made earlier in a communique: "The menace of enemy submarines off the east coast of the United States remains substantial."

The complete, dramatic story of the torpedoing of the Norness was told at the Newport naval station by Captain Harold Hansen, master of the tanker and his crew.

No Warning Given

The submarine fired the first torpedo at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday when the tanker, which is Norwegian owned but registered under the flag of Panama, was 60 miles southeast of Montauk Point, L. I.

No warning was given and the crew had no time to unlimber a three-inch gun carried on its after deck. The first of the three torpedoes fired into the vessel destroyed the ship's radio shack so that no warning or call for help could be sent.

"It was misty and cold and the wind was southeast," Captain Hansen said. "When we launched the small boats there was no panic. Each man took his station.

"When we were in the lifeboats we first saw the sub. They did not stop to see whether we needed help. She just moved away. One of the lifeboats turned over but was righted.

"After twelve hours we saw a plane above us circling. We tried to signal her.

"Perhaps we could identify the submarine. We cannot talk about this. We cannot say whether we were running with or without lights or with other vessels. We cannot say what our course was, what our speed or where we were going."

AUSTRALIAN FORCES HOLD MOST ADVANCED POSITIONS IN JOHORE

forces farther north, the Australians have had time to develop a "defense in depth."

To Give Japs "Plenty"

With these defenses, the Australians hope to give the Japs "plenty to overcome."

The Australians have established strong anti-tank barriers which are supported by anti-tank guns.

They have taken such advantage of the natural jungle growth that it is difficult to discover these formidable weapons under their camouflage at a distance of only 10 yards.

One group of Australians encountered a few miles behind the line had come upon "two-tooth" Australian lambs which had been left behind, penned in a railroad truck, after a recent bombing attack.

"Fresh Australian mutton tonight, boys," they yelled as they gripped the sheep by the horns, straddled them and then "rode" them to their armored cars and trucks.

ried out by 26 Japanese bombers protected by ten fighters," the N. E. I. communique said.

Many Bombs Dropped

"A great number of bombs, including heavy ones, were dropped. Some damage was done to military buildings and other military objects. One Australian was killed and three wounded, while three Netherland Indies soldiers were wounded. Among the civilian population one person was killed and five were wounded.

"In beating off the attack two of our planes were lost. Their pilots were saved by parachutes.

"Anti-aircraft guns shot down one enemy aircraft while another was so seriously damaged that it has probably been unable to reach its base.

"Yesterday morning nine enemy bombers attacked Balik Papan—oil base on the east coast of Borneo. Only slight damage was done to native houses. Among the civil population one person was killed, while seven were seriously wounded and three were slightly wounded.

Two Jap Destroyers Sunk

"It was announced that one of our coastal batteries, during the fight at Tarakan, sank two Japanese destroyers after the center of the island had already been occupied by the Japanese. Furthermore, a landing sloop was sunk and a seaplane was shot down.

"Before the Battle of Tarakan came to an end all guns, searchlights, anti-aircraft batteries and other arms were destroyed.

"From later reports it is learned that the direct hit on a Japanese ship near Tarakan, which was mentioned in the fighting forces communique of Jan. 14, was scored either on a cruiser or a large destroyer."

Just before this communique was issued reports were received that this morning an air-raid was again carried out on Amoon, and also the airdrome of Medan was again bombed this morning by Japanese aircraft. Particulars about these two attacks will be given in the fighting forces communique tomorrow.

BIG RUSH TO BUY NEW AUTO STAMPS TODAY

to buy for scores of workers—workers who will immediately make reimbursement. Postal officials favored that plan for it expedites the distribution.

Sale of the stamps—at $2.10 each—will continue daily, helping to raise more money for America's defense drive. Postmaster Hanna said sales in some places was halted after doubt arose if the stamps were correctly gummed.

He said federal officials have suggested the instrument panel (inside) or windshield be the place for them, but he explained that that the windshield suggestion violates motor code regulations of certain states, hence, the confusion.

"We'll keep on selling them here, and we suggest the instrument panel be used," the postmaster said.

Nature balances things, and the poor girl with a million-dollar figure can spend $14.98 and get results that every rich woman envies.

Inexcusable non-defense spending includes the second million paid for a million dollar's worth of defense goods.

(WAR BULLETINS)

tank formations in Malaya are pursuing the enemy in the state of Johore and that they "attacked and dispersed 600 Scotch soldiers on a main road yesterday."

HAVANA, Jan. 16—Members of German and Italian legations in Cuba have left for New York, where they will take a Clipper Plane for Europe, it was announced today. There were 20 in the party, including Stephen Tauchnitz, German Charge D'Affairs and Giovanni Perisco, Italian Minister.

LONDON, Jan. 16—British authorities said today they had no confirmation of reports the Japanese have reached Malacca on the Malayan west coast or that the Japs used mustard gar earlier in the Malayan campaign at the Kota Bahru airdrome.

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 16—The newspaper Yeshihpao reported today that a second batch of Chinese troops has reached allotted sectors in Burma.

BASLE, Switzerland, Jan. 16—The Exchange of American and Axis diplomatic corps officials stranded abroad at the outbreak of war will take place at Lisbon in mid-February, according to reports reaching Basle today.

The Steamer "Nyassa" will leave Lisbon January 22 to pick up the Axis diplomats in New York, the reports said. The American officials now are being detained at Bad Nauheim, Germany.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Laura Ingalls, noted aviatrix, today pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging that she acted as a Nazi publicity agent without registering at the State Department.

The case was set for trial February 9 in District Court and bail of $7,500 continued.

SENIORS STAGE CLASS PROGRAM

trombones, Bill Blair, Bill McClelland, Louis DeLillo; trumpets, Henry Johns, Abert Pilifant, Raymond Melcer; bass, Edward Ballogh; drums, Ralph Armenio; piano, Rudy "Beethoven" Eagan. Bartender was Ben French.

One of the first guests to enter the lodge was Howard Love, who made a moving speech on how much he loved to ski.

At his next entrance he was in bandages, he next entrance he had acquired more bandages, then he has to get a crutch, and so on, until he has to be brought in on a stretcher. But at every entrance time he still loved to ski.

Jack Bailey, Bill Hufford, Louis Mallozzi and Paul Blair, a quartet, sang "Three Icicles and a Drip".

Next, June Taylor, Peggy Boughter, Pat Davenport, Verlee Mauerman, Charlotte Fehl and Dorothy Gibson sang "Winter Wonderland".

Jitterbugs Florence Scilla and Charles "Red" Ross jitterbugged to a fast swing piece, preceding "Alice Blue Gown" sung by Betty Snyder.

Mary Hopkins' vocal solo, "The White Cliffs of Dover," was followed by the reading of the class will by Jerry Potter.

An orchestral number featured Rudy Walters on the drums. Then "Elmer's Tune" was the duet sung by Dorothy Gibson and Ilene Scheidemantle. Following this the orchestra swung "There'll Be Some Changes Made."

Class Knocker

Class Knocker Ruth Porter handed out the traditional home truths with riotous effect.

In a burlesque skit, the "Three Stooges," Hirohito of Japan, Adolph of Germany and "Moosey" of Italy, well-mimicked by Ben French, Jack Bailey and Roland Crisci respectively, were quietly and effectively led off stage by Orville Flora, attired as a U. S. Marine.

Verlee Mauerman's vocal solo, "Tonight We Love," preceded a prophecy for 1950 by Class Prophet June Taylor.

There were other numbers by the boys' quartet and the orchestra. Roland Crisci played two piano solos, "Basin Street Blues" and "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You." Then Ruth Porter and Verlee Mauerman tried to sneak in a vocal duet but got chased out as crashers.

Ax Presented

Just before Senior A President Joe Holsinger presented the traditional ax to Senior B President Larry Attisano, Ilene Scheidemantle led the class in singing their song to the tune of "Time Was."

The "Woodchoppers Ball" by the orchestra was the finale to the class day program for the class of January '42.

During the program tribute was paid to Miss Dorothy Young, the class supervisor.

Faculty program supervisor was James R. Green.

Working on the decorations and props committee, with Roland Crisci as chairman, were Patti Barrett, Dorothy Dodds, Twila Keefer, Harrit Reynolds, Helen Hazen, Dorothey Gibson, Irene Gender, Orville close to the Japanese invasion base at Yochow, thus threatening the entire Japanese campaign in Hunan Province of Central China.

At Hwaiyang in Honan Province, 250 miles northwest of Nanking, Chinese troops had seized the outer walls of the city and were tightening their noose about the Japanese position.

Native Chinese were allowed to withdraw from the city, leaving the encircled Japanese without means of obtaining food supplies.

Northwest of Canton, Key seaport 100 miles from Hongkong, the Chinese continued military operations against defending Japs, who yesterday were said to have been reinforced by 10,000 new troops. Heavy fighting was said to be in progress at Lupao, on the North River 24 miles northeast of Canton.

gaged in private business in Ellwood City. He is an overseas veteran, serving with the 35th Engineers in France and since World War I has been active in veteran affairs. He is a member of the J. Wilbur Randolph Post No. 157, American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 252. Mr. Ross is 46 years of age, married and has two sons. He resides on Ninth street in Ellwood City.

Two years ago Mr. Ross was appointed chief clerk of the permanent registration bureau and has done a fine piece of work in that post. His records are currently up to date and the needs of the voters have been well cared for.

Mr. Ross is the second Ellwood City man to be appointed as county detective in the past 20 years, H. M. "Peck" Lee having served in the office for four years, 1930-34. In his new post Mr. Ross will merely move across the hall as his office is in the annex, the same building as the district attorney.

ASIATIC FLEET OF U. S. SINKS FIVE JAP SHIPS

the sinking of one of Japan's crack 17,000 ton liners of the Yawata class by American submarine action.

The navy's department's 29th communique based on reports received up until 9 a. m. EST read:

"Far East—units of the U. S. Asiatic fleet report the sinking of five enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters. They include two large cargo ships, two large transports and one medium sized transport. These sinkings are in addition to enemy casualties at sea previously reported.

"Atlantic area—the submarine situation along the northeast coast of the United States remains unchanged.

CHARGES JAPANESE ARE LOOTING AND PILLAGING TOWNS

Enemy shock troops with special training are attempting aggressive infiltration. Attack planes and dive bombers are being used incessantly by the Japanese against our front line troops and artillery positions.

"Many reports reaching General MacArthur's headquarters from the occupied areas indicate that the enemy is systematically looting and devastating the entire country side.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

The vitamin fad is typically American: cripple your body by self-indulgence, and repair it with pills.
